TENNIS COURTS AT SHEDD PARK

Park Commission Abandons Fort Hill Location Following Protests

United Sentiment Against Project at Hearing at City Hall

There will be no tennis courts established at the entrance to Fort Hill Park. Instead the park commission will attempt the experiment of placing courts at Shedd park near that part of the area used in the winter for a skating rink.

This action was taken by the park commission last evening after a hearing of protest against placing the courts at Fort Hill at which 36 people were present. The sentiment was unanimous against placing the courts at Fort Hill and practically every speaker gave as his or her reason the possible destruction of beauty from the beautiful park.

Most of those present favored placing the courts at Shedd park.

FINED FOR FAILING TO SEND BOY TO SCHOOL

Joseph Camacho, charged with having under his control Charles Camacho, under 18 years of age, and failing to send him to a public school of this city within the last six months, was found guilty and fined $20 in police court today. School Attendance Officers Thornton and Williams and Miss Mary H.
Downey and Dr. Slaughter were witnesses in the case. Miss Downey testified that the Camacho boy had been excluded from school because of an affliction which could have been cured within one week. She said that the father had been advised to what treatment to give the boy, but that nothing was done for him and that the boy did not return to school after being excluded. Dr. Slaughter testified that the case had been called to her attention when first notified, that she had advised in regard to treatment, but that the father had neglected such advice. The attendance officers declared that the boy had been kept out of school, that the father had done nothing to cure him until the summons to appear in court was served upon him one week ago. They also declared that the boy had been working on a baker's wagon while afflicted, thus possibly spreading the sickness.

Other Offenders.

Alfred A. Ahern of Hale street, arrested on suspicion for breaking, entering and larceny in the night time by Lieut. David Peirce and Officer C. J.
Sullivan, was ordered to furnish $500 bonds for continuance until next Tuesday. Defendant pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering the shop of James Addison and larceny therefrom of one revolver, several sockets, three flashlights and two batteries. Nathan W. Lowe has got into a lot of red tape with the state board and wants it all thrashed out. He was charged with non-support of three minor children and was put under $200 bonds for trial tomorrow. The state is now caring for his three children, while he is working, but he claims that it is not his fault that the state has not secured money from him for their support. He lays it to "red tape," while the state officer declared that the authorities nor the police could not find him.

Alexander Perreault, charged with operating an automobile without a license and so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, was defaulted for non-appearance.

WOBBURN AND LOWELL HIGH SCHOOLS CLASH

Coach Jim Conway sent his Lowell high school football charges into this afternoon's contest at Spaulding park with Woburn high confident that they would land what was expected to be one of the hardest games of the local schedule.

Woburn high has been going at ton-nead this year and came to Lowell full of confidence and fight and pep. A year ago Lowell and Woburn played a 7 to 1 tie at Spaulding park and this proved an added incentive for both teams to play their hardest this afternoon.

Woburn presented a husky line but Coach Conway's men were in excellent condition of the fray. Both schools were represented by large delegations of the student body and the weather proved ideal for the contest.

JAPAN READY TO MAKE PROTEST

Will Act Upon Confirmation of California's Vote on Land Law

Will Point Out That the Measure Conflicts With Treaty Rights

TOKIO, Nov. 4. (By Associated Press.)—When confirmation has been received that the people of California have voted in favor of the proposed land law in that state, Japan will lodge a protest in Washington, pointing out the measure conflicts with Japanese treaty rights, according to the Yomiuri Shimbun, an independent organ, which quotes a foreign office official to this effect. Formal negotiations, the newspaper says, will follow and an agreement permanently removing the cause of the trouble which breaks out every four years, may be expected to be reached.

The Hochi Shimbun reports that M.
Shidehara, Japanese ambassador at Washington and Secretary of State Colby have reached an agreement by which Japan will stop immigration to the United States, in return for which America will accord Japanese now in America the same treatment as other foreigners.

Marquis Okuma, former premier, interviewed by the Yomiuri Shimbun, declares that "only thoughtless people have talked of war between Japan and America over California."

"If Japan fights with arguments of dignity and impartiality," he is quoted as saying, "Americans will act justly."

The defeat of Gov. Cox is attributed by Marquis Okuma to the League of Nations, which he declares "even democrats dislike." He does not anticipate the republican administration will raise the tariff, owing to economic difficulties.

HONOR PRES. WILSON

Makes First Public Appearance in Year—Greeted by Serenaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Wilson made his first public appearance last night in more than a year when he was lifted in his wheel chair to the east portico of the White House while hundreds of Washington League of Nations adherents gathered on the White House lawn to do him honor.
The crowd of men, women and children bearing state banners and the national flag, under the leadership of John F.
Costello, democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia, assembled at democratic national headquarters at 8 p. m., and marched in the White House where the gates were open to the public for the first time since the beginning of the war.

As the president was lifted in his wheel chair up the steps from the interior of the White House leading to the east portico, the crowd on the terrace below broke into applause and joined in the singing of "America."

Family From Poland Tell Sad Story of Traveling Experiences

Paid $1200 to Come to This Country—Exhausted and Ill From Trials

One of the most impressive stories of suffering, misery and trickery that has come to Lowell out of the maelstrom of strife and uncertainty which now hangs over northern Europe came to light today from the lips of Joseph Ryck, a shoemaker at 121 Fletcher street, whose wife and four young children have just arrived in this country from Poland.

Because of the depreciation in currency values among the various countries of Europe through which they had to travel to reach their sailing port, together with the dishonesty of certain parties and alleged over-charge-ing on the part of steamship company officials, it cost Mr. Ryck more than $1200 to bring his family to this country and so wretchedly clothed were they upon their arrival here that he had to spend several hundred dollars more to give them proper outfits.

The oldest child is but 15 years of age and the youngest eight. All of them and their mother are pale and worn, looking as a result of months of starvation and cruelty in strife-infested Poland.

The Rycks lived in the state of Lublin, which was formerly a part of Russia Poland until recently when it became a part of Polish territory.

STOREKEEPER IS FINED

Man Charged With Carrying Revolver and Threatening is Fined $250

For carrying a revolver without a permit and for threatening to shoot
Fred Gillis of Pleasant street, Thomas Belocas, variety store proprietor of East Merrimack street, was ordered to pay fines of $250 and $500, respectively, on each count in police court this morning by Judge Enright and also ordered to furnish $500 bonds to keep the peace for six months. Through counsel, defendant appealed both decisions and was ordered to furnish $500 bonds for trial in superior court.

Belocas pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver. The trouble connected with the case occurred at the corner of Fayette and East Merrimack streets Thursday night of last week. Earlier in the day Fred Gillis had complained to Belocas that he had sold Jamaica ginger to his brother. The brother desired this, but Belocas said that he would sell all he wanted to him and Gillis answered that he would see that he wouldn't. That same evening after Belocas had closed his store he started homeward with his cash receipts. At Fayette street Fred Gillis stepped up to him again, saying that he had sold Harry Harris to his brother and, according to "joke," he told Belocas to the defendant, struck him and pushed him up against the wall, thus spilling a bagful of money into the street. Belocas, according to the testimony, then drew the revolver and shouted to Gillis "to mind his own business or he would shoot him and send him up Gorbam street." Gillis then ran away and when a police officer appeared he searched Belocas and found the gun. Defendant at that time admitted to the officer that he did say that he would "shoot Gillis and send him up Gorbam street." Defendant explained that he carried the gun that night because he saw Gillis and that other fellows standing at the corner morning when a huge oil sprinkling automobile truck owned by a road construction firm of Boston sideswiped an in-bound Westford street electric car, operated by Motorman-Conductor
Ed. Erickson. Only Motorman Erickson's quick action in putting his car into full speed ahead saved a broad-side crash and an every seat on the right hand side of the car was occupied, the consequences might easily have been most serious.

The auto truck almost made the swing into Westford street with out-rigger clearance, but the left front wheel struck the rear end of the electric a stunning blow, jarring the car passengers and doing considerable damage to the radiator of the truck.
The main radiator pipe burst and the entire hood was wrenched out of alignment. Passengers on the car had only words of praise for the motorman for, although it all happened in a few seconds, it was very plain to see that his quick action undoubtedly obviated a serious crash.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR MOTORMAN

The dangerous corner of Smith and Westford streets came very close to a serious accident at 9:15 o'clock this morning when a huge oil sprinkling

Ed. Erickson. Only Motorman Erick-

BUILDING TRUST INDICTMENTS

Bench Warrants for Arrest of at Least Three Persons Issued

Witness Says Brindell of Trades Council "Thinks He Is King"

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Bench warrants were issued today for the arrest of at least three persons indicted by a grand jury investigating the "building trust." Names of those indicted were not made public.

The legislative committee investigating the "building trust" was told today that Robert P. Brindell, president of the building trades council and central
king" and has been "riding on a high horse and browbeating" contractors and house wreckers.

Albert A. Volk, head of a large wrecking firm, gave this characterization of Brindell.

He told the committee Brindell had demanded $25,000 to guarantee no interruptions in the construction of the Gotham National bank's 22-story building on Broadway, and that when he told Brindell the tribute seemed high, the "king" asked if it wasn't a 22-story building and said he figured on about $1000 a floor.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST MEN ARRESTED HERE

Three men arrested in Lowell, have been indicted by the Middlesex county grand jury, which reported to Justice Cox the superior court sitting in East Cambridge, this morning.

The men indicted are Norman F.
Welch and John J. Moroney, against whom a true bill has been returned for robbery, and Philip London, indicated against whom true bills have been returned in nine indictments of breaking and entering and larceny.

Welch and Moroney, it is alleged, held up Willis H. Boon of this city on October 3, and relieved him of $60 in cash and a Liberty bond coupon.

The indictments against London are as follows: June 25, breaking and entering the home of Louise Daniels and the larceny therefrom of a watch chain and ring; September 24, breaking and entering the home of Louise Daniels and larceny therefrom of a dress and suit case; September 24, breaking and entering the home of Meador Rousseau and the larceny of a microphone, calliper and two tool chests; June 24, breaking and entering the home of Thomas T.

PHILIP LONDON

O'Rourke and the larceny of a gold watch, suit of clothes and bag; June 25, breaking and entering the home of Bessie Kenney and the larceny of a watch, bag and necktie; June 25, breaking and entering the home of Harry Harris and the larceny of a pair of field glasses; a pair of cuff links and $75 in cash; August 12,
breaking and entering the home of Donat Vincent and the larceny of a coat; August 12, breaking and entering the home of Alice Brindle and the larceny of two fur pieces, a coat and photograph; October 5, breaking and entering the home of Walter Deschamps and the larceny of a watch and a coat.

London pleaded not guilty in most of the cases, while in some of them he pleaded guilty of receiving stolen goods. He was held in the sum of $2500 for his appearance in superior court at East Cambridge, next Monday.

AUTOMOBILE HITS FARM WAGON

An automobile driven by Carl Eek-lund of Mammoth road going to Marden by way of High street this morning struck a farm wagon coming out of Sherman street, breaking the windshield of the automobile and damaging a mudguard and also smashing a shaft of the wagon. The wagon was being driven by Daniel Mace of Tewksbury.
No one was injured.

A motorcycle driven by Alfred Newell of South Portland, Me., and an auto truck owned by T. Campbell of Huxley street, Cambridge, but driven by John V. Noylan of Ziegler street, Rosbury, collided on Gorbam street. The cycle was slightly damaged, but the occupant of either vehicle were not injured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With the size of President-elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531 and the complexion of the new senate set down as 59 republicans and 37 democrats, republican leaders today awaited belated returns in eight states in six states to fix the exact size of the republican house majority.

Exclusive of the eight undetermined seats, the republicans had 258 members to 137 democrats and four of other designations, a plurality of 119—the greatest ever held by any party in the house. The nearest approach to it was in the 52d congress, when the democrats had a lead of 148.

Republicans appeared to be assured of better than an even break on the eight outstanding seats which would give them a record party margin in the house. The seats still in doubt,

LAJOIE COAL CASE IN SUPERIOR COURT

Prior to the opening of the superior court this morning Justice Bishop, Clerk Hurd, Stenographer Gilbert, the four officers and jurors assembled in the court yard for a group photograph.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the case of Charles Lajoie vs. James J. Storrow, Albert D. Milliken, John M. O'Donoghue, Herbert J. Ball, all connected with the state and local fuel committees, Edward Cawley, the Horne Coal Co. and D. T. Sullivan, an action, which was started yesterday and by which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages claiming he was put out of business by the action of defendants, as a coal dealer, was resumed. The first witness called was Albert J. Caron, a clerk for the Boston & Maine, who was asked to testify relative to a telephonic conversation between Mr.
O'Donoghue and Mr. Lajoie, but inasmuch as the witness had not seen Mr.
O'Donoghue, his testimony was excluded.

Mr. Lajoie was then called to the witness stand and examined at length by Mr. Wier. In the course of the cross-examination he stated that in April, 1919, he refused to buy coal from Mr. Clark, from whom he had been buying coal for a number of years, because he did not want to supply other dealers with the coal he purchased and paid for. Witness was questioned at length in reference to a fuel system, which members of the fuel committee wanted installed in his office for the purpose of knowing just where his coal was going, but he denied any knowledge of the system.
He stated, however, that Mr. O'Donoghue made all kinds of suggestions.

GOMPERS TALKS ON THE ELECTION

Says All Forward Looking Men and Women Regret Plunge Towards Reaction

Pleased With Result in House
—50 "Hostile to Labor"
Defeated—Policy Justified

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (By Associated Press.)—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared today in his first statement on the outcome of Tuesday's elections that "every forward looking man and woman must feel some deep regret because of the great plunge towards reaction."

"But democracy will right itself at the proper time," he continued, "and meanwhile the actual tabulation of results in congress, the law-making body, shows a definite and specified gain for all that makes for progress and responds to the needs of our time."

He asserted that every man in the house, whose record of service was perfect, had been re-elected and added that the new congress would show an increased number of men holding union cards.

The non-partisan political policy of the labor federation, he continued, "is more completely justified than ever and the utility of separate party action more convincingly demonstrated."

Referring to the congressional elections, he said incomplete checking already showed that 50 congressmen who were "inconsiderate and hostile" had been defeated.

"This is one of the most impressive features of the entire election," he said. "Fifty time servers have been beaten. Against these 50 the working people have elected from 65 to 60 men whose records show fair and considerate service."

HONOR FOR LOWELL BOY

Harold White Gets Letter of Congratulation and Commendation From President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—One Massachusetts boy, Harold White, of Lowell —is among the 53 Boy Scouts scattered throughout the United States and its possessions to whom President Wilson today sent personally signed letters congratulating and commending them for their records in selling War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps. The leaders in the states and territories were selected for this honor and the praise is bestowed for work in the 1918 savings campaign. White sold $19,550 worth of the War Savings Stamps.

The president had intended to write to the Boy Scouts before he sailed for France but business pressed him too hard, then came delays caused by the campaign for the League of Nations, followed by Mr. Wilson's illness. As despite these delays, when the affairs of the entire world were involved in his work, President Wilson never forgot his agreement with the boys of America to bestow these prizes for their untiring efforts on behalf of their country. At the earliest possible moment when his health permitted, Mr. Wilson dictated and signed the letters.

The letters from President Wilson should give added impetus to the effort.

DEATHS

BAGLEY—Mr. William Henry Bagley, a former mill man of this city, passed away early this morning at his home, 115 Westworth ave., after a long illness at the age of 63 years, 2 months and 4 days. Mr. Bagley was for 18 years connected with the Mid-Mex woolen mills of this city as superintendent. After leaving this city he went to the Peabody mills at Rochester, N. H., holding a responsible position for 15 years and due to poor health retired from active work a short time ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. J. Bagley; two sons, William D. Bagley of this city, and C. Harold Bagley of East Rochester, N. H.; one brother, Charles N. Bagley, of Providence, R. I.; and a sister, Mrs. H. N. Fuller of Ossining, N. Y.; also three grandchildren, Alfred, Martin, and Leila M. Bagley and Martha A. Bagley. Mr. Bagley was a member of the Elks of Woodstock, R. I. His body was removed to Springfield funeral home, 217 Appleton street. Funeral notice later.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Lajoie Coal Case

and that he also suggested that his clerical force be increased to 10 or 12 clerks. Mr. Wier then questioned witnesses relative to "peddlers" who purchased coal from him and were later arrested for selling at short weights. Mr. Lajoie admitted two men bought coal from him and were later arrested, but he said he did not know they were peddlers, for he thought they had taken orders for the coal they purchased. He also admitted on another occasion a man bought coal from him and was fined later in police court for having sold at short weight, and again he denied knowing this man as a peddler. He said he received his information concerning these three men from the city weigher.

Questioned about the amount of coal he had on hand in January, 1918, witnesses said his equipment at that time was sufficiently large to deliver all he had on hand and in a case of emergency, he said, he could have hired extra men and wagons as he had done in previous years. He said because of his inability to fill orders from regular customers on account of the action of the fuel committee, he lost a great many customers and that was one of the reasons why he went out of business. When asked the exact number of customers lost through the action of the committee and the names of some of the customers, Mr.

Lajoie said he could not give the desired information without consulting his books.

In indirect examination Mr. Lajoie said his equipment in January, which consisted of two horses and three automobile trucks had a capacity of 50 tons a day and in some cases when the men in the yard were not bothered by the public the equipment could have put out over 100 tons a day. The witness referred to two carloads of coal delivered by the committee, one to the Livingston Coal company and the other to the Columbia Fuel company, which he claimed were paid for in Boston, so that he was cut out of his 10 cents profit for each ton. At 1 o'clock when court took a recess for luncheon it was announced that the examination of Mr. Lajoie had been completed and counsel for the defendants said they had no questions to ask.

YESTERDAY'S LATE SESSION

At yesterday afternoon's session Mr. Lajoie testified that his coal yard was safe from the early part of March, 1918, to the latter part of May of the same year and that for some time prior to the closing of his business there was a police officer stationed in his office. He also stated that all the coal he had on hand in February, 1918, was taken away by other dealers and that shipments of coal consigned to him were diverted to other dealers.

Mr. Charbonneau asked Mr. Lajoie what he thought the fair market value of his land was in 1918 and this question was objected to by counsel for the defendants. The objection led to a lengthy conference between counsel and Justice Bishop, during which the jurors were taken to their room. When Mr. Lajoie resumed his testimony he said the value of his business on the first of January, 1918, was between $70,000 and $80,000. He also stated that the bulk of his orders for coal was placed in the early spring. He then described the nature of his property in Gorham street and said the yearly capacity of his elevators was 35,000 tons, while daily capacity of his equipment was about 75 tons.

Inasmuch as it was after 3:30 o'clock when Mr. Lajoie completed his direct testimony, the cross-examination was put over until this morning and Edward W. Abbott, general freight agent for the Boston & Maine was called to the stand, and his testimony was relative to letters he had received pertaining to coal shipments consigned to Mr. Lajoie. Patrolman Wilson testified to being sent to Mr. Lajoie's premises by Mr. O'Donoghue for the purpose of finding out how many poorly coal carts were being received at the Lajoie office and to return said cards to Mr. O'Donoghue. Witness also stated that he had been sent by other coal offices by Mr. O'Donoghue.

Allege Abuse and Robbery

Eight years ago the father left his home to seek the opportunities of America and eventually settled in Lowell. Here he has conducted a small shoe repair shop and succeeded in acquiring enough funds to enable his family to come here.

Early last spring, long before Easter, he made arrangements with a ticket agency in Boston to have his wife and children come to Boston from Rotterdam. He bought three full tickets and two half tickets at the rate of $98 apiece. This was to include eating and sleeping accommodations both on the vessel and at Rotterdam should there be any delay in the date of sailing. He sent the tickets to his wife, explaining just what they entitled her and the children to, and then returned to Lowell to await news of their arrival.

Within a short time he received a cablegram from the American consul at Warsaw saying that his wife and children must have $200 at once. He called the money and later came word from the steamship company at Rotterdam that his family could not sail unless he forwarded $46 more. He sent $100, and his wife received the difference. Later came word that head taxes on each of the members of his family must be paid before passports could be issued. His wife finally started on the trip from her home in Poland to Rotterdam and the little money she had soon dwindled to nothing.

On every side, the little family of emigrants was taken advantage of because of their Jewish ancestry, Ryck claims. For the slightest service they were charged exorbitant prices. A pound of bread cost 14 marks and it was not the white nourishing food that is obtained in this country, but black coarse stuff. When the travelers crossed the line from Poland into adjacent countries on their way to Rotterdam the value of the currency which they carried depreciated to such an extent that 14 marks in Polish currency would be worth only one mark in Germany.

As a result Ryck was constantly appealed to by his wife to send more money. At times they were threatened with death if they didn't buy off government officials in the various countries through which they passed. The head of the 10-year-old daughter of the family, Esther, was shaved bare, because her hair could be sold and net those who had robbed her of it, handsome profits.

In her father's shop this morning she wore a large hat in an endeavor to hide the naked appearance of her head.

What little food there is in Poland is doled out to the Polish-Jews there only at exorbitant prices, Mr. Ryck says. On every side there is suffering and misery for those of Jewish extraction. At the pier at Rotterdam he says his family was subjected to treatment that was no better than that given to the animals there. Unaccustomed to the customs and ways of the countries through which she traveled, his wife was duped, deceived and cheated on every side. Her clothing consisted of horrid bags crudely formed into garments. Neither she nor her children were shoes. If they or any of their race showed the slightest sign of prosperity their persecutors immediately found some reason to take what money they had away from them.

The Rycks sailed from Rotterdam early in October, having left their home two months ago. They arrived in New York last Saturday and Mr. Ryck had to pay all their expenses from that city to Lowell despite the agreement that their passage entitled them to come from Rotterdam to Boston with all expenses paid.

They arrived in Lowell Wednesday morning and are now living at 152 Howard street. Mrs. Ryck shudders every time she attempts to describe the atrocities which are being suffered in Poland, especially among those of the Jewish race. All she looks forward to now is complete rest and relaxation from the nerve-straining tension, suffering and privation which has been her lot and that of her children.

Since their arrival in America they have been well fed and clothed and when the children become rested and well again, Mr. Ryck said this morning, looking at them with pride, they will go to school. But never will they or their mother return to Poland.

Mr. Ryck is to protect the exorbitant cost of bringing his family here to steamship officials in Boston and unless a refund is made he plans to bring the matter to the attention of governmental agencies in Boston.

HOME MADE HAT HAS PARISIAN SMARTNESS

BY CORA MOORE
New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Almost every woman is trying to figure out how she can beat the high cost of being well-dressed, and Ruth Shapley, who is appearing in "Wild Cherry," has made one step toward that goal. She has manufactured a hat.

She procured a crinoline frame and dyed it a soft wood shade, because the shapes come only in black and white. Then she sewed chenille cord that was shaded from dark brown to the lightest of buff tones around and around on it till she had covered it, including upper and under brim.

For trimming she simply dyed some pretty silk lace she happened to have on hand, a medium tone of brown, one of the soft, shadowy tints among those in the chenille cording and sewed it around the edge of the brim. The result is very effective.

Two crown, being soft and pliable, she draped a bit to precisely the lines suited to her.

Perhaps this will give you an idea for a hat. But let me sound this word of warning: It is all right to wear a home-made hat, but if it looks home-made it isn't a success.

RIGID RESTRICTIONS ON U. S. PASSPORTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Americans with passports authorizing them to travel in countries adjacent to Poland who try to enter that country will find themselves summarily deported, said an announcement yesterday at the state department.

Because of the unsettled conditions still prevailing in Poland the department has decided to maintain rigid restrictions on the issuance of passports for travel in that country. Documentary evidence of the merit of the necessity for such travel must be presented by applicants for passports.

Passports issued for countries adjacent to Poland and used in Poland without the authorization of the state department, said the announcement, will be taken up by the American legation at Warsaw. The legation will then issue an emergency passport, valid only for immediate return to the United States. The issuance of this emergency passport will result in the Polish authorities requiring the immediate departure of the person to whom it is issued.

DROPPING PRICES

On Drug Store Goods

We have selected the greater portion of the best known Patent Medicines and Toilet Preparations, and have arbitrarily reduced our regular cut prices. Based upon our costs we would not be justified in making any reductions. Advanced costs to us from manufacturers continue to be many times greater than reductions. These reductions mean a lowering of our profits, but we hope to make up for this loss by stimulating sales and increasing our business.

MUTTON SMOKED AT HOME AS GOOD AS PORK

More mutton would be consumed, the United States Department of Agriculture believes, if farmers realized generally that cured and smoked mutton is as delicious as pork. At present, only 3.0 per cent of the meat used in the United States is lamb or mutton. This is partly due to the fact that there is a popular impression among farmers that after a sheep is slaughtered, the only domestic use for the flesh is eating it while it is fresh. As a consequence, the farmer's family grows very tired of mutton before the carcass is consumed.

For the purpose of finding some way of obviating this difficulty, experimental work in the curing and smoking of mutton has been done recently by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Those who have been doing this work give the following directions for curing mutton:

The first essential in curing is to be sure that the mutton is thoroughly cooled. The meat should never be frozen, either prior to or during the curing. The time to begin curing is when the meat is cooled and still fresh; the proper time is from 24 to 36 hours after killing. Because of the high shrinkage incident to curing, only large pieces, such as the legs and shoulders, are suitable for treatment.

Mutton may be cured by using any good brine formula, but dry-cured meat is better for future use than brine cured and requires less work. However, danger from rats and other vermin is less in the case of brine-cured meat. Both methods of curing are very successful if care is taken to see that each operation is executed properly.

Following is the method of dry-curing mutton advocated by the United States Department of Agriculture: For each 150 pounds of meat use 7 pounds salt, 3 pounds sugar or strap, 2 ounces saltpeter, 2 ounces red pepper, and 3 ounces black pepper.

Mix all ingredients thoroughly, then rub the mixture well over the meat and pack it away in a box or on a table. Allow one and one-half days' cure for each pound of meat the pieces average. After the meat is cured hang it in the smokehouse.

The United States recently realized $53,481,725.65 on sales of surplus war supplies that originally cost $1,024,515,555.20.

ing the courts at Shedd park, even though Chairman Clarence M. Weed of the park commission said that if the terms of the deed by which the city acquired Shedd park were followed out to the letter, the courts would have to be placed in a secluded, swampy section of the tract and would prove most expensive and undesirable. It was the largest gathering which has attended a park commission hearing in years and was most gratifying to the commissioners who saw in the presence of so many citizens an awakening of public interest in the city's recreational system.

Chairman Clarence M. Weed called to order at 8 o'clock, stating the purpose of the hearing. He said that for a long time the park commission had been considering the establishment of tennis courts as part of the city's recreational system. This year it was found that $600 was available for the purpose.

To put the courts in Shedd park, it would be necessary to establish the courts in a swamp, in accordance with the terms of the agreement by which the city was to have the park, he explained.

To establish the courts there would mean an expense of $6800 and would be most undesirable for young people because of its location. The city solicitor had given an opinion, Mr. Weed said, to the effect that the park department must follow out the plan accepted by the city when it took over Shedd park.

For that reason it would not be feasible to establish the courts there. Therefore, Fort Hill park had been chosen. He then asked for expressions of opinion from those present.

Judge John J. Pickman asked just

where it was proposed to locate the courts on Fort Hill park. Chairman Weed replied that the courts would be 40 feet from High street and 800 feet from Rogers street.

Dr. Leonard Huntress said that he opposed placing the courts at Fort Hill merely from civic pride. He said that the park was an ornament and a credit to the city. He said the argument advanced by Mr. Weed that Shedd park was too far away did not hold good because in the winter thousands of young people from all parts of the city visited the park to enjoy skating.

He said that he did not believe that the children of the city had any great interest in tennis. There was at one time a court at Longmeadow, but it has gone to seed from disuse. Dr. Huntress said that the maintenance of courts would prove expensive.

Chairman Weed said that it wasn't fair to say that because children were not interested in tennis, that situation should be used as an argument against tennis, because the greater part of the children of the city have never had an opportunity to become interested in the game.

Mr. Weed also said that there were tennis courts at the State Normal school and that the upkeep was practically nothing.

Judge Pickman said he was heartily in favor of tennis courts but did not believe Fort Hill park was the place for them. The game can easily become one of the most popular sports in the city. It would afford ideal recreation for young people between 16 and 25, he believed.

Miss Olive S. Parsons, principal of the Rogers Hall school, said that she certainly did not oppose the game of tennis. Rogers Hall had thrown open its tennis court, its gymnasium and swimming pool to the girls of the city in the summer of 1919 and all were taken advantage of. Swimming proved most popular, she said, and she believed that one of the greatest needs of the city of Lowell was a swimming pool for girls that could be used the year round.

Her chief opposition to placing the courts at the entrance to Fort Hill park was the fact that it would mean spoiling the appearance of the park and would also deprive many mothers and their children of a favorite resting and recreational place. She thought that some other place might be found so that the beauty of the park might not be decreased.

W. McCullough, of 134 Crosby street, said that the heavy drainage of water coming from Fort Hill would seriously interfere with the upkeep of tennis courts at the entrance to the park.

He said that he had seen tennis courts in many cities but had never found one located at the entrance to a park. He hoped that the beauty of the park would not be spoiled.

Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman of the parks and playgrounds committee of the chamber of commerce, said that she feared that the young people of Lowell were in the grip of commercialized recreation, chiefly the licensed dance hall. She favored a great many tennis courts scattered in all parts of the city, but was opposed to having courts at Fort Hill.

Mrs. Heath said that she hoped the campaign to give the children of the city added recreational facilities would not be given up even though the park commission does not see fit to use Fort Hill park.

Mrs. Huntress opposed locating the courts at the park. She suggested using the upper part of the South common along the Highland street side. Mr. Weed said that that section of the common was used for baseball by the younger boys.

Miss Emily Skilton, policeman of the local department, said that the thousands of young people out at night should have adequate recreational facilities. She favored lighting up all the city's parks. More interest should be taken in the welfare of the city's young people, she said.

William N. Goodell said that he appeared in the dual capacity of a trustee of Rogers Hall and as a citizen of Lowell. He opposed placing the tennis court at Fort Hill because he believed it would mean spoiling a finished product while an unfinished product nearby was allowed to remain in that state. The distance between Fort Hill and Shedd park 1500 feet, was not prohibitive, he said.

He suggested establishing an experimental court at Shedd park even though in violation of the terms by which the city acquired the tract. P. F. Sullivan said he was not opposed to the location of tennis courts in all parts of the city, but he did not believe Fort Hill a desirable place. He had followed its development for years. It was really a beauty spot. Placing a tennis court there would mar its beauty, he believed. He said that it was unfair to the people of Lowell to have Mr. Shedd's beautiful gift neglected as it has been. He said the park commission has never had money enough to do its work properly. He sincerely hoped that some other location besides Fort Hill should be chosen by the commission.

Miss Rawlita Lawler, recreational director of the Girls' Community club, said that if there is no other place for the courts except at Fort Hill, she believed the artistic side of the question should be made secondary to the physical and moral results which would come from placing the courts there.

Harvey B. Greene, a member of the park commission, said that the impression that the park department had done nothing to develop Shedd park was incorrect, because much has already been done. The city council has appropriated $20,000 for the work and not a year has passed that the department itself has not spent from $1000 to $1500 a year on the tract of land.

The only place available for tennis at Shedd park is too secluded for young people. Courts could be placed at Fort Hill, he said, with very little blemish to the park. The proper placing of shrubbery would do much to reduce any blemish that might occur.

Mr. Goodell asked if the deed of gift by which the city acquired Shedd park provided for a skating rink. Mr. Weed replied that the deed provided for a pond in the summer and naturally when the water froze there was a skating rink in the winter.

Edward J. Gallagher asked if the plan of development formed any part of the deed of gift of Shedd park. Chairman Weed replied in the affirmative. At 9:15 Chairman Weed declared the hearing closed and the park commission then went into executive session. It was voted to abandon the Fort Hill park location as a site for tennis courts and try the experiment at Shedd park.

It was voted to grant the petition of Jean B. Morin for the removal of three trees in Pawtucket street and that of Mrs. Ivy M. Nichols for the removal of two trees at 35 Hampstead street. Both petitioners are to hear the expense of the work. The petition of Onesime Dumas for the removal of a tree at 31 Coburn street was referred to the tree committee.

The commission voted to sell the Fayette street school building now in the hands of the park department and have the area cleared for an open playground.

It was also voted to urge the city council to close Anne street and add it to Lucy Larcom park, leaving a proper walk for the use of high school pupils.

Ever since Saturday, when he first smelled it at the picnic, Chip's mouth had been watering for it, for Chip loves buckwheat about as well as you love candy. If you'd see a whole field of caramels and lollipops and marshmallows and other delicious things waving at you and seeming to call out, "Come and taste me, little boy, or little girl," do you think you'd say, "No, no, kind sugar plums, I can't. up honey.

Chip didn't lose a wing of time. He got busy at once snipping off the grain and stuffing out his pouchy little cheeks with the goodies. Soon his sleek little sides were stuffed pretty tight, and his tummy was as solid as a baseball, but he kept saying to himself, "Just one more nibble. Just one more nibble!" And he waded deeper and deeper into the field.

Suddenly he heard a loud buzzing, a very loud one, and he looked up quickly at the waving grain tops high over his head. But he couldn't see anything but blossoms.

"My, that's a loud bee!" he thought. (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

Y. M. C. A. DORMITORY CLUB MEETING

Members of the Dormitory club of the Y.M.C.A. held their third meeting in the Y.M.C.A. building last evening, the session being followed by supper served by Mrs. H. K. AMENDMENTS ARE BEATEN IN N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 5.—All of the seven proposed amendments to the state constitution offered to the voters for a referendum Tuesday were defeated by pluralities ranging from 3020 to 20,000.

The amendments, summarized, were as follows:

Authorization of state income tax. Authorize legislation power to classify taxes on property passing by will or inheritance.

Authorize the governor to veto items in appropriation bills without vetoing the bill itself.

Authorize the house of representatives to be reduced by 100 members.

Authorize the removal from the constitution of the clause granting exemption from military service of those of conscientious scruples.

Authorize removal from the bill of rights of a provision discriminating in favor of Protestants and members of evangelistic churches.

Authorize legislation to grant pensions to policemen, firemen and school teachers for a period of more than one year at a time.

IMPORTANT QUESTION FOR LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—One of the important questions to be considered by the assembly of the League of Nations at its first meeting, beginning Nov. 16, at Geneva, will be the preparations required to enable the league to use, if necessary, the weapon of international economic and financial blockade contemplated in article XVI of the covenant.

A memorandum of Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general, now being distributed to the members of the league, and received here by the League to Enforce Peace shows that this question will come before the assembly on the recommendation of the league council in the form of a proposal to appoint a body to be known as the international blockade commission. The secretary-general suggests that this commission consist of representatives nominated by the countries entitled to permanent membership in the council, with the addition of representatives of four other members of the league selected by the assembly, for the purpose of studying the problem and settling the general plan of action, the organization of the more permanent machinery required and the principles on which it should work.

Article XVI provides that, should any member of the league resort to war in disregard of its covenants, all the other members shall "undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations." and the prohibition of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state. Whether a member of the league or not, and that the members shall mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures taken under this article.

"Situations might well arise in which the knowledge that the weapon is ready for use would have a very salutary effect. Many people think that the league is founded more upon good intentions than upon a full consideration of the stern realities of international trouble. It is, therefore, desirable on general grounds that while the first meetings of the council, and the

WAS Alarmed Over Condition.
She Says Mrs. Harris Suffered Constantly For Four Years—Tanlac Restores Health.

"I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac, but it has relieved me entirely of a dreadful case of stomach trouble," said Mrs. Mary Harris, who resides at 725 Rogers street, Lowell, Mass., a few days ago.

"I had been a constant sufferer from indigestion for more than four years and at times had had such severe attacks I could hardly stand it. I didn't relish a thing I ate and, to tell the truth, I almost dreaded to eat, for I always had to suffer for hours afterwards. There was an awful burning in my stomach and sometimes I felt it in my chest and even on up in my throat. I would bloat up dreadfully and become so short of breath that I was alarmed for fear I had heart trouble."

"I suffered a lot from constipation and every morning there was always a bad taste in my mouth. My complexion became pale and sallid and I was weak and thin and didn't have the energy to do my housework. It just seemed that there was no use trying to get any sleep for I rolled and tossed so bad that many nights I got out of bed and sat up the rest of the night."

"But my suffering is over with now, for Tanlac seemed to suit my case exactly and I feel perfectly well once more. I never cause me a particle of trouble. My breathing is as free and easy as ever and I am no longer troubled with constipation. I sleep soundly, have gained several pounds in weight and just feel that I have unusual strength and energy. I am grateful for my good health and am only too glad to speak a good word for Tanlac."

assembly should give the world the positive hope of removing misgovernment and promoting international co-operation, they should also show quite clearly that the members of the league as a whole are determined, if necessary, to enforce their will by effective action on any particular country which in the circumstances contemplated by the covenant defies the general verdict of the world."

The memorandum calls attention to one important difference between the two forms of pressure (economic and military) which the league may use, as follows: "Where a member of the league resorts to war in disregard of specified covenants, all other members of the league are by the covenant itself specifically obliged to apply the economic weapon. They are not similarly obliged to use their military or naval forces. In the latter case, the Article (XVI) only provides that it shall be the duty of the council in such cases to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military or naval forces they shall severally contribute."

The secretary-general is of the opinion that the article clearly contemplates that, so far as possible, "the responsibility for enforcing economic pressure shall be decentralized, i. e., a primary responsibility rests upon each government to take action so far as its own nationals and own national machinery are concerned, arrangements being made by each of them separately and not by a single international authority."

At the same time, he concludes that a central co-ordinating authority will be required if the weapon of economic pressure is to be efficiently used.

LATE EMPEROR'S ESTATE FOR PENSION FUND

VIENNA, Nov. 4.—The vast estates of the Emperor Francis Joseph will be devoted to the pension fund of invalid soldiers under a decision just taken by the cabinet council. Certain castles and dwellings in this city and the nearby suburb of Baden will either be occupied by them or the fund will receive the rentals and other accretions.

Included in the arrangements are the splendid estates of Orth, Voessendorf, Maltzshofen, Peegstall, Augenton, Laxenburg, Hetzendorf and many others. The decision also, covering the Laxenburg, near Vienna, on which a group of some hundreds of former soldiers recently squatted. The Emperor's Prater, Vienna's most famous suburban park with its numerous restaurants and amusement places, is also included. Many of the estates contain model farms and others are under rentals of much value.

The late Emperor Francis Joseph, who died in 1916, bequeathed 60,000,000 crowns from his private fortune to a fund for wounded soldiers, invalids and relatives of men killed in the war. To two daughters and one granddaughter he bequeathed 20,000,000 crowns each, the remaining 20,000,000 crowns of his estate to be divided among several other legatees.

It has since been reported that an American-Dutch company has bought the emperor's summer palace at Ischl in the Tyrol for hotel purposes. The hunting estates and lodges of the late emperor in the Tyrol were advertised for sale in January last. Francis considered these the finest in Europe.

"ENJOYMENT TAX"
TOKIO, Nov. 5.—An "enjoyment tax" will be a feature next year of taxes to be levied by the city of Tokio. The duty is to be levied upon any expenditure exceeding three yen for enjoyment, whether it be spent on a garden party, gelsa entertainment or any similar amusement.

Every household should have a jar of Resinol to heal skin troubles

Minor skin troubles—itching patches, bits of rash or redness—so easily develop into serious, stubborn affections, that every home-maker should have Resinol Ointment on hand to check them before they get the upper hand. We recommend Resinol for this with the utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients and its success in healing eczema and similar serious skin diseases.

Resinol Ointment is an excellent healing dressing, too, for chafes, burns and sunburn. Little more.

WHEN HENS START EGG EATING

Egg eating sometimes becomes a serious vice in a flock, the fowls becoming very fond of eggs when they have learned to eat them. The habit spreads from fowl to fowl and unless checked will often spread through the whole flock. Egg eating usually begins through accident by eggs being broken or frozen. See that the nests are properly supplied with straw or other nesting material and have them darkened so that if an egg is accidentally broken the fowls will not be likely to discover it. Supply plenty of lime in the form of oyster shells, bone, or similar substances to insure a firm shell. As soon as it is discovered that a fowl has formed the habit, the fowl should be removed to prevent the spread of the vice. Once formed, it is difficult to eradicate, and the safest remedy is the death penalty. See poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

Fowls sometimes pluck feathers from themselves and from each other. This is often caused by too close confinement, by the presence of insect pests, or by improper feeding. When some of the fowls of a flock have formed the habit slightly, a wide range with a change of diet, including a plentiful supply of animal feed, and freedom from insect pests, will usually correct the evil. Above all, see that the fowls have plenty of inducement to exercise. If the habit becomes well formed it is very troublesome and may necessitate the killing of some of the fowls in order to stop it.

Only by continuous selection for health and vigor is it possible to build up a flock that will produce fertile eggs, strong chicks capable of making quick growth, and pullets with sufficient stamina to withstand the strain of heavy egg production. The appearance of a bird is not always a sure indication of its vigor, but appearance and action taken together are a fairly reliable guide for picking out vigorous birds, say poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

FOR STATE MEMORIAL

Hearing Before Special Commission on Question of Memorial to Veterans

An interesting public hearing was held last night in the chamber of commerce at city hall by the special commission appointed to consider the expediency of erecting a suitable memorial to Massachusetts veterans of the various wars. For some unaccountable reason the attendance was quite small and the commissioners present were particularly disappointed in the fact that no representative of the American Legion or any other organization representing veterans of the world war was present. Representatives of the Grand Army, the Sons of Veterans, the Chairman John H. Harrington of the auditorium commission and Representative Henry Achin were the principal speakers to voice the public sentiment of Lowell on the subject under discussion.

Resolved, That a commission shall be appointed by the governor to consider the matter of the construction by the commonwealth of a memorial to those soldiers and sailors from this commonwealth who served the country in time of war. The commission shall consist of five persons, of whom one shall be a veteran of the Civil war, one a veteran of the Spanish war, and one a veteran of the world war. The commission shall consider and determine what form of memorial, in its judgment, should be undertaken, in what situation it should be placed, and what sum of money it should cost. The commission may give public hearings, if it deems such hearings expedient, and shall serve without compensation, but any expense such as for its necessary expenses as shall be approved by the governor and council. The commission shall report to the next general court not later than Jan. 15th.

Commissioner J. Payson Bradley, chairman, and Charles R. Greco, assisted by Secretary Grover C. Hoyt, conducted the hearing. Chairman Bradley, in opening the meeting, explained the purpose of the hearing. He said that the commission was appointed by the governor to tour the principal cities of the state to judge of the attitude of the people in regard to the erection of a memorial and as to where it should be situated. He explained that the commission had held several hearings in Boston and had visited the western part of the state and leading cities. Some of the proposals in regard to a memorial, he said, were for parks, bridges, arches, an auditorium, and so on. The state memorial, he said, would be for the soldiers and sailors of the commonwealth who served the country in time of war at any time since its foundation.

Franklin S. Pevey, commander Post 55, G.A.R., was the first speaker. He said he attended the hearing not as representative of his post, but as a citizen, and that his expressions were simply his own opinions.

He thought this matter had met with the opposition and that if the memorial would be placed in Boston, it would not be of much benefit to the people of the western part of the state. He thought that as long as most cities and towns in the state have memorials of their own and that Lowell is building an auditorium which will be equal to any in the state or country, he did not think that Lowell citizens should be asked to bear additional taxes for another large memorial.

Asked by the secretary as to whether he thought the state should have some kind of a war memorial, Commander Pevey stated that he thought it should, but that he did not believe it should be a building. He thought that Faneuil hall, Boston, was large enough at present to meet the needs of the various war organizations for conventions or encampment purposes.

The chairman then explained that throughout the state opinion has crystallized in favor of a memorial auditorium which could be utilized for patriotic and educational purposes, for conventions and encampments. He said one proposal was for a huge arch on Tremont street which would bear the names of all war organizations since the founding of the state.

Dudley L. Page, commander Post 42, G.A.R., said he believed that there was no suitable place in Boston for it except the common or public gardens. He said that Mrs. Page was a member of a woman's war organization and that she was in favor of the idea.

Richard Gibbons, commander of the Spanish War Veterans, was heartily in favor of the plan of a memorial building, and believed that it should be in Boston. He questioned, however, the right of the Sons of Veterans and other such organizations to be represented in the memorial, because, he said, many of the members never were in a war.

The chairman then explained that the Sons of Veterans stood in the same relation to the war veterans as the Sons of the American Revolution to the Revolutionary Fathers.

John H. Harrington, chairman of the auditorium commission, was introduced by Commissioner Bradley to take the place of Mayor Thompson, who was unable to present.

Mr. Harrington said he did not feel that he could speak for his honor, the mayor, on the various questions involved and, therefore, he would offer merely his own personal views.

Mr. Harrington gave an interesting account of the deliberations which resulted in the decision to erect a memorial building in this city. The subject was discussed at length by a committee of the board of trade, he said, and while some felt that a soldiers' and sailors' monument presenting a heroic group with tablet would be appropriate as a memorial, yet such a memorial would serve no useful purpose. Other forms of memorial were considered such as the triumphal arch seen in Paris and other cities of Europe, and the public square named to commemorate some great patriot or hero, but these ideas lacked the element of public utility and so the committee finally decided upon a memorial building that would combine in a high degree beauty of design and public utility.

He said that he would not advise the erection of any memorial that did not have a utilitarian purpose. He said the state should erect a memorial building, that it should be a good one, that it should be in Boston and should have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 5000 or 6000 provided that the acoustic properties could be cared for.

He explained the plan and accommodations to be provided in the Lowell memorial auditorium and favored something similar on a larger scale for Boston. He said the hall of trophies feature of the Lowell building, offering facility for adding new memorials at any time, should be incorporated in the state auditorium. The French-American people of this city, he said, have already accumulated a sum to be used as a nucleus for the establishing of a memorial in the auditorium to the French American veterans of the wars and such illustrious men as Lafayette and Rochambeau, and that another organization has already mentioned the donation of an organ as a memorial to their members. If this donation were forthcoming, the commission would have money enough left to grade the grounds about the building.

He then explained the arrangement of the auditorium showing that the Legion and Spanish War Veterans will be given the upper floor, the Red Cross and other women's organizations the middle floor, and the G.A.R. men the lower or first floor. As time goes on the World War Veterans will take the hall reached without climbing stairs.

In closing, Mr. Harrington said that as a citizen and a taxpayer, he favored the erection of a state memorial building and said that it should be in Boston. He said he would never be among those to tighten up the purse strings of the state to prevent the erection of a memorial to those soldiers and sailors who stood by the state that he and the children who come after him might live in peace.

In reply to questions, Mr. Harrington said that the state auditorium should contain good dancing floors. He also favored the removal of all war relics and trophies from the state house to such a memorial auditorium.

He said that $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 should not be considered extravagant for the building of a memorial auditorium. On a question by the secretary, Mr. Harrington said the memorial could be rented to cover expenses for convention purposes to other than war organizations, but that it was against the law to derive profit from such a memorial.

William L. Dickey of the G.A.R. and sons of Veterans favored an auditorium which would be suitable for all purposes of war organizations and would perpetuate the memories of the protectors of our country. He defended the Sons of Veterans against the criticism offered by Mr. Gibbons.

Rep. Henry Achin believed that the people would balk at the direct expense connected with the building of a state memorial. He said that if payment for the memorial would extend over a period of years and should be obtained indirectly from the people, then it would most likely receive concurrence from the legislature. He believed that everything possible should be done for war veterans, and that the state would not back out of any conservative or feasible proposal.

On a question by the commissioner, Representative Achin said he did not believe that the people would be willing to pay for the memorial by paying a higher poll tax of $3 for five or six years longer. The secretary explained that if the $5 poll tax were reduced to $3 instead of $2, then that would give the state $1,000,000 each year to pay for the memorial.

After the meeting Secretary Hoyt stated that the site proposed for such a memorial auditorium in Boston was the old technology site on Boylston street. In the event of the legislature favoring the report of the commission for an auditorium, then it is likely that this place would be selected for the purpose.

HEALTHY THEATRE:

"Blackbirds" a Reelart production with Miss Ethel Johnson starring in the principal roles, opened its third day of performance at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon. It will continue for the 10th and 11th days. The picture deals with the story of a clique of picture thieves who use a beautiful girl as the medium between them and society. A delightful love plot is interwoven in the story. In addition to "Blackbirds" the Rialto is showing Buck Jones in "The Square Shooter," a Chester Connolly "The Big Show" and the Fox news.

20,000,000 SUFFERING FROM FAMINE IN CHINA

PEKING, Nov. 5.—Relief work for the 20,000,000 estimated sufferers from famine in the four Chinese provinces where the crops failed this year has been undertaken energetically by both Chinese and foreign organizations. One of the latter is an American committee to raise and distribute famine funds which was organized on the initiative of the American minister, Charles R. Crane, and is headed by H. C. Faxon, of the American chamber of commerce in Peking. H. C. Emery, a banker, recently of New York, and Washington, was appointed treasurer of the American committee. The British and French communities will appoint similar committees.

The Chinese ministries of finance, agriculture, and interior have appointed a commission to disburse $1,000,000 fund to be raised by means of a short term loan. From Shanghai comes news of another fund of $1,500,000 undertaken by seven provinces at the instigation of Tang Shao-yi, the chief southern peace delegate.

Comprehensive reports submitted to the American relief committee indicate that the early reports of distress have not been exaggerated. Dr. F. P. Tucker, writing from Tcheow, Shantung, says: "Today an old man with a keen memory was describing conditions 12 years ago (when a memorable famine occurred) and he is quite sure that conditions are worse, for then, he said, there was a wheat crop just before the drought, which crop we have not had except in very limited areas."

Mrs. Faith C. Tallman, missionary, says portions of Shantung and Chihli provinces are practically without any harvest. Even the trees had been stripped of their leaves for use as food. "From Tcheow to Linling (100 miles along the Grand canal in Shangung) not half the planted fields will give back the grain used to plant them," she writes.

"One well-to-do farmer has already used all the produce from his ten acres and has sold the wadded garments that his family need for the winter. Another farmer near Linling has torn down some of his buildings in order to use the sorghum stalks of the thick roof for fuel."

Selling Children—Child Sold For $2

"The selling of children is common," continues Mrs. Tallman. "A fine little lad a year old was offered for $2 and none wanted him. A boy of five, whose mother had died of cholera and whose father was sick, was led by an old beggar woman. She has four boys of her own, but she said: 'I couldn't leave him; his father is trying to give him away and says if nobody will feed him he will have to throw him in the river.' Little children are found deserted in the streets and some have been rescued from the river. People are trying to make marriages for their daughters, even very young girls."

Another writer from the district southwest of Paoingfu, says: "As far as one can see in any direction there is nothing growing in the fields that can keep the people alive this winter. No one was working in the fields and almost no one travelling on the roads. The people have either left or are sitting in the villages conserving energy as much as possible."

FIGHT HOARDERS AND SPECULATORS

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 5.—The Argentine senate has undertaken to fight the hoarders and speculators in food, clothing, fuel and other necessities by placing the trade in such articles under the control of a government board with broad powers. A measure adopted by the senate would charge the proposed board with the duties of assuring an adequate supply, facilitating distribution and preventing hoarding.

RICHNESS IS KEYNOTE OF FALL WRAPS

New York's Fashion Authority

character of the wraps fashion has designed for the new fall and winter season.

It is of suede velvet. Added to it is the gorgeous embroidery of silk and jewels all done in an applique design and in such a carefully calculated color scheme that the whole thing is like the exquisite changeableness of light, and shade playing in a bit of fine crystal.

Of course, it is priceless, this wrap, but any wise dressmaker will see in it infinite possibilities for working it out in less expensive materials. The wrap itself is semi-circular.

The bill provides for the appointment of sectional boards throughout the country, empowered to buy and sell, provide warehousing facilities and means of distribution and to proceed against persons storing supplies in order to cause increased prices. If prices are too high, the board may recommend expropriation, which measure can then be taken by decree by the executive power of the nation.

In cases of food hoarding or destruction for the purpose of increasing prices, the law provides fines and imprisonment up to $50,000 and two years respectively.

FREE SERVICE SCHOOL

Further plans in connection with the K. of C. free service school were considered at a meeting of the committee in charge last evening. The number of students registered at present totals 365 with prospects of many more signing up. Real work and study will begin in earnest on Monday.

LAWS TO PROTECT NEWS WRITERS

VIENNA, Nov. 5.—By an act of the national assembly, the newspaper fraternity of Austria is given a special standing in its relation to employers. Members of the news departments of papers always have enjoyed the customary legal protection as regards notice of discharge, vacations and similar matters, but the new law sets them apart with unusual safeguards.

The act covers editors, editorial writers, artists and reporters engaged on a fixed salary, but not persons to whom newspaper work is a secondary employment. Under its provisions the employee must be given a written agreement describing the nature of the work for which he is employed, amount of salary, allowance for special work and stipulations for repayment of expenses. It also provides for increased pay at intervals of five years up to the 40th year of age.

One month's annual leave is guaranteed with pay and after 10 years, six weeks with pay. Three months' notice must be given of discharge and, after five years' continuous employment, one month addition for each year, with a maximum notice of one year.

The employer is compelled to pay into a pension fund a minimum of 500 crowns a year for each employee. The details of the pension system are to be promulgated in the form of ordinances by the departments of education and interior.

The provisions as applying to the sale of a newspaper are interesting. A new proprietor may within one month give notice to an editorial employee that he will not continue his employment, whereupon the latter is entitled not only to the pay of the period as above provided for, but, if he has served the former owner less than five years, also to one year's full pay and, if his service was for a period of between five and ten years, to pay for a year and a half.

Should a new proprietor fail to give notice of discharge within 30 days the employees are entitled to one year's notice.

Both the seller and buyer of a property are bound to guarantee the claims of editorial employees.

In event of the suspension of a paper, six months' notice or an equivalent of salary are required. Should a paper after the political policy the employee can claim the same privileges as if the paper had been sold. In case of dispute an arbitration court is provided for, two members being chosen by the parties affected, the fifth to be a member of the national assembly.

WILL LOSE THEIR JOBS

Introduction of One-Man Cars Will Throw Men Out of Work

About 20 men employed on the cars of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway in Lowell district will lose their jobs tomorrow night. They will be discharged as a result of the introduction of additional one-man cars. Already 20 men have lost their places within a short time for the same reason.

Under the new arrangement all of the lines in the district, except that on Chelmsford street running to the city farm, and the line to Lawrence will have one-man cars placed on them.

As a result of the new program not only will a number of men be forced out of work altogether, but some of the older employees will have been operating on day runs, will have to accept transfer to night work, and some of those who have had regular runs will be placed on the "spare" list and be obliged to be content with such employment as they can get. The steady jobs will be parcelled out among the men who remain in the company's employ on the basis of seniority.

President Thomas J. Powers of the Lowell branch of the Street Carriers' union states that on the North Chelmsford, Chelmsford Centre, Billerica and Reading lines 11 crews are now operating and that, taking both day and night work into account, this now furnishes work for 44 men. This number should be added to, he says, to include men employed on combination runs. A large part of these men, Mr. Powers claims, will be affected by the new arrangement.

Mr. Powers expressed doubt as to whether the schedules can be maintained over the Reading route, that covers 16 miles, with the one-man cars.

President Powers and Secretary Joseph Shea of the local union were present at a meeting of the state legislative conference board in Fay hall in Boston Wednesday.

A report was received at the meeting from William B. Fitzgerald and P. J. O'Brien, vice presidents of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, and James H. Vahley, general counsel of the union, of the results of a conference with members of the Massachusetts public service commission.

The lack of safety appliances on the larger cars had been made the subject of a protest and threat of a strike on the Fall River lines of the Eastern Massachusetts. It is stated that the Western street line and the Lakeview avenue line are the only ones in Lowell on which the double-track, one-man cars are now in use.

At the Boston conference it was reported that the public service commission has agreed to promulgate within a few days an order requiring the company to equip all of its cars with satisfactory safety devices.

It was voted at the meeting to endorse a bill submitted by the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor, to be presented to the next general court, opposing the operation of one-man cars.

The delegates at the meeting voted to levy an assessment on the members of 25 cents to be used in paying for legislative work in behalf of the union.

Registration for Lowell men and women who wish to vote at the city primaries on November 23, but whose names have not yet been placed on the city's voting list, continued today at the office of the election commissioners at city hall. This afternoon's session continued from 2 to 4 and there will be another this evening from 7 to 9.

GERMANY'S TREASURY FACES HUGE DEFICIT

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—Germany's treasury faces a deficit of approximately 70,000,000,000 marks, Dr. Karl Helfferich, former vice chancellor, declared in the reichstag today. He said that in the face of expenditures amounting to 100,000,000,000 marks the receipts would total 30,000,000,000. He declared it was impossible to vote the credits demanded for the inter-allied high commission in the Rhine territory and reproached the minister of finance, Dr. Wirth, for not having done anything to remedy the situation.

Dr. Wirth stated the cabinet had decided to introduce a bill providing for a "sacrifice tax," adding that the government would ask a credit of one billion marks to buy cereals abroad. He declared the financial difficulties of the German people could be solved "only if they could live."

ELIOT DECLARES LEAGUE WAS NOT REJECTED

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—That the result of the presidential election cannot be taken as a rejection of the League of Nations, and that a successful operation of the league would be beneficial to Ireland, was stated last evening by Charles V. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, in an address to the members of the Cleveland club of East Boston, in Forum hall. President John J. Kearney presided.

Dr. Eliot said that the very men who have been discussing the League of Nations have never really read it and digested the covenant, nor have they ever properly procured a real comprehensive view of the covenant. During the last 50 years, said Mr. Eliot, an era of great prosperity has been going on in our country and everybody has been exceedingly busy. So only paper headlines have been read, and this, he said, accounts for the lack of knowledge of the covenant.

"The American people will not read a long magazine or newspaper article. We have lost the habit of reading and learning and of listening and holding what we have heard. The election cannot be taken as a rejection of the League of Nations. But it is highly probable that such an assumption may be accepted. However, I believe that the only decisive conclusion is a great desire for a change. It is not possible to learn the real reasoning of the people regarding the League of Nations."

Asked by Mr. Kearney what is Ireland's position without the league, Mr. Eliot said:

"Ireland, although a few hours from the English coast, with the possibility of submarine nests and air attacks, would never be given up by Great Britain. Ireland would be too dangerous from a military standpoint to be cut adrift by Great Britain; but with the League of Nations working successfully, carrying with it disarmament and abolishment of military power and prevention of war, would be removed the greatest objection to Ireland's independence to Great Britain. Therefore, a successful operation of the League of Nations would be beneficial to Ireland."

INTERESTING NEWS for those who believe as we do, that to successfully bring about a lower living cost level, the mutual co-operation of public and dealer is necessary. That the public is with us is well proven by the thousands of pleased patrons who crowd our popular stores, and the many letters that reach us congratulating our efforts and generous profit sacrifices for public benefit.

THE BROADWAY WHOLESALE MILLINERY CO.

Believes that this high cost of living period is so vitally affecting the private life of the community—as well as business, and as the comfort of a community depends largely upon the general economic conditions, it is the concern of the merchant to assist as much as possible in a readjustment, that is why we are reducing the purchasing costs to the public in the stores throughout New England bearing our name.

Our lowering of prices to the public to bring about a lower price level is Not Philanthropy, on the contrary the BROADWAY WHOLESALE MILLINERY CO. believes that it is to the advantage of every business to maintain public stability, and when such conditions arise as at present the business man should absorb the shock and leave the public normal. That is why we cancel our own profits until normal economic living prices reassert themselves, something which will soon be in evidence now that election is over—

GEORGE CREEL

U. S. GOVERNMENT READY TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Villa is now a peaceful citizen—here you see him at home in Durango, Mexico, with his two children. And when Villa's at peace, Mexico is generally peaceful. The United States government is greatly impressed with the success and policies of the new Obregon government, and recognition was virtually promised by the state department in a statement. This statement was issued shortly after George Creel, head of the U. S. committee on public information, during the war, returned from a mission to Mexico and reported to President Wilson.

The photo of Creel on the left was snapped as he was leaving the White House.

ADVISES CROPS TO IMPROVE FARMS

Farm conditions in the south can be improved by the use of a greater variety of crops and definite systems of crop rotation and by the keeping of a greater number of live stock, according to specialists of the United States department of agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1119 recently issued and now available for distribution. A rational crop rotation in the south is one which occupies the land practically the entire year, protecting the soil from washing during the winter by the use of a growing crop, such as crimson clover, vetch, or grain. Increasing the number of live stock requires the production of more grain for feeding. Fall-sown grains combine the two essential features, grain production and soil cover, in one crop. To some extent they also supply a third desirable feature, winter pasturage.

ter, the fall-sown oats mature earlier, the land can usually be prepared in better shape in the fall than in the spring, fall seeding interferes less with other work than does spring seeding, poorer land and less fertilizer can be used for the fall-sown crop, and the fall-sown crop furnishes a cover for the soil during the winter and prevents washing.

Fall oats almost invariably yield more than spring oats, owing to their earlier maturity, stronger growth, and greater freedom from disease. If a part of the stand is lost from winter-killing, the plants which are left stand vigorously, so that the stand at harvest is often much better than was apparent in early spring. Fall-sown oats usually grow more vigorously and mature from 10 days to 2 weeks earlier than those sown in the spring. This earlier maturity often marks the difference between success and failure, as the later maturing grain is more likely to be injured by storms or drought and by rust and other plant diseases. Oats require comparatively cool weather for their best growth, so that those which mature earliest usually yield best, as the conditions are better suited to their development. The early maturity incident to fall seeding also allows the crop to be removed from the land earlier than spring seeding, giving more time for the preparation of the soil, seeding, and the growth of the following crop.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—Former Boy Scouts in Spain have decided to inaugurate a campaign throughout the country to combat the prevalent illiteracy. The resolution founding a society just formed for that purpose says: "We consider the existence in Spain of 60 per cent. of the population who can neither read nor write constitutes a veritable scandal for the nation. After carefully analyzing the problem, we have reached the conclusion that a modicum of goodwill on the part of the governing classes would be sufficient to solve it."

The society resolved to form free classes in every big city where boys will be given instruction in the elements of reading, writing and arithmetic. Later similar classes are to be started for adults of both sexes. The teachers will be chosen from volunteers among educated people and the society hopes to enlist the services also of professional teachers from the national schools to give instruction in the evening.

PARDON FOR GRAHAM

Vermont Ex-Governor Freed
Two Hours After Being
Sentenced

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 5.—Two hours after the Vermont supreme court yesterday sentenced Horace B. Graham, former state auditor and governor, to serve not less than five years and not more than eight years at hard labor in the state prison at Windsor for embezzlement and larceny of state funds, the court granted him an unconditional pardon and restored to him full citizenship.

The court also sentenced the ex-governor to pay the costs of prosecution, which may amount to several thousand dollars, but a question arises whether the full sentence does not vitiate the imposition of costs and the respondent may not be called on to pay even these.

Immediately after issuing the pardon Gov. Clement issued this statement: "On account of the distinguished service of Gov. Graham to the state of Vermont and the suffering which he has endured, I feel that he has been punished enough, and have issued to him a full pardon."

Mr. Graham had no statement to make beyond expressing satisfaction at the course of events last night. He had more cheerfulness in his smile than he has evidenced for two years.

Events Moved Quickly

Events transpired with such rapidity yesterday that one of the most famous cases in the state's history was closed in a period of four hours. Gov. Clement, who exercised his constitutional right of clemency, was Mr. Graham's successor in office and will himself retire from the governorship two months from now. The full bench of the supreme court, all personal friends and most admirers of Mr. Graham, passed sentence and this term is the last before January, by which time Gov. Clement would be out of office. Gov. Clement's sympathies have been with Graham from the start and when early proceedings were in progress, it was reported that he had asked the attorney general why he did not drop the case.

Withdrew Plea For New Trial

Mr. Graham was accompanied by his counsel, Hale K. Darling, when he entered the supreme court room at 9 yesterday morning, and a half hour later his counsel gave notice that the respondent waived his exceptions and withdrew his petition for a new trial.

In his argument on the question of sentence, Mr. Darling said his client made no appeal for sympathy, but thought his service to the state should be given consideration. Mr. Darling said the defense, on reviewing the exceptions taken, was satisfied it had only one of value and that perhaps doubtful.

Atty. Gen. Archibald made no recommendations on sentence beyond saying that punishment should fit such a crime committed by a person who filled a position of trust.

A half-hour after his sentence Mr. Graham was closeted with Gov. Clement and left his room with the pardon.

Reviews Graham's Services

Gov. Clement, in a letter to Mr. Graham, reviewed the latter's services to the state, quoting reports of auditors which praised Graham's conduct of the office of state auditor and the many new and improved methods he introduced. The letter called attention to the fact that the balance due from Mr. Graham had been paid, all of which it said had a bearing on the intent.

"Your services to the state during the two years of your governorship were second to those of no other governor since the days of Thomas Chittenden," read the communication.

Indicted Two Years Ago

Gov. Graham was indicted two years ago by the grand jury for Washington county for larceny and embezzlement of state funds while auditor of accounts for 12 years, totalling more than $20,000. He was convicted on Feb. 3 last and the case passed to the supreme court on exceptions.

Since the case was tried Rufus G. Brown, one of his attorneys, has died, and other, W. B. C. Stickney, has been called to Africa, leaving only the junior counsel, Mr. Darling, to handle the case yesterday. The pardon was signed before the mittimus was issued, and while the court turned the respondent over to the custody of the sheriff, he was technically under restraint less than two hours and at no time in jail.

Stevens and Mrs. M. McKinnon.

The membership committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Royal K. Dexter. The city has been divided into six districts, each to be looked after by a committee of five or more members.

There is also one suburban district. Mrs. C. Marshall Forrest is the chairman of the upper Highlands district; Mrs. W. Wilder of the lower Highlands; Mrs. William Robinson of Melville; Mrs. Samuel B. Slack of Contralville; Mrs. Lorenzo Ayer of Paw-tucketville; Mrs. Robert Montford of the Central district, and Mrs. M. McKinnon of the suburban district.

Miss Laura E. Cragin of Boston university is to give a demonstration of the art of story-telling at the Sunday afternoon meeting of the association.

Miss Cragin was an instructor last year in the Lowell School of Religious Education. There will be singing during the afternoon by Miss Marion Lane and tea will be served.

FOR NEW MEMBERS
New Y.M.C.A. Members to be Entertained at Supper By the Directors of the Association

All new members who have joined the Y.M.C.A. since October 20 will be entertained at supper in the association by the directors of the organization. The first supper will be served this evening to the boys of the high school division and the supper for the employed boys and members of the junior division will be held on Saturday and Tuesday, evenings respectively. The speaker this evening will be Industrial Secretary Hoekman while Dormitory Secretary Frederick Hopkins will entertain with character readings.

At the employed boys' supper, Rev. Karl F. Meister will be the speaker and for the juniors' supper the speaker has yet to be chosen. The boys who will attend the supper tonight and the members who got them to join the Y.M.C.A. are: Walter Twareg, brought in by Garabed Mandigian; Ivan P. Ras by Ralph Wilson and Osborne Simmons. SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS

In view of the vast number of auto accidents, the legislature of next year will probably have to enact measures to offer the public greater protection on the highways.

Already this paper has suggested that before any applicant is licensed to operate a car, he should have the endorsement of the chief of police of his city or town as a guarantee of good character. That would at least prevent drunkards and convicted criminals from securing licenses.

Another matter that is bound to come up for consideration sooner or later is the financial responsibility of the driver or owner of a car for any injury to person or property resulting from its operation on the highways.

Hundreds of people who have been run down and injured by reckless drivers found on investigation that the parties to blame for the accidents were wholly irresponsible financially. In a recent collision of automobiles in this city, a valuable car was damaged to the extent of $1500 and when the owner sought compensation from the party who owned the other auto, he found him not worth a dollar and that even the car was heavily mortgaged.

It thus appears that a man who has no property and who carries no liability insurance can go out on the streets and highways and drive about in the most reckless manner, conscious that if he crashes into another car, nobody can recover damages from him.

The time may come when the use of the highways may be denied to the autist who does not either own a certain amount of property or else carry a reasonable amount of liability insurance.

If a responsible party accidentally damages a car belonging to an impetuous individual he will be compelled to pay. It is only fair to hold all parties responsible financially and otherwise for whatever harm they may cause to others in using motor vehicles on the public highways.

THE G.O.P. VICTORY

The republican sweep seems to grow as the days pass. Even Champ Clark of Missouri, ex-speaker of the national house, went down with the general landslide.

This defeat is the most complete ever sustained by the democratic party, but since it was brought about mainly by democratic votes, that party is not likely to go into mourning for any great length of time.

The republicans will have such absolute control of the government that there will be no divided responsibility and no excuse for any failure to carry out the party's pledges.

Already Senator Lodge has outlined a program of legislation included in which are several important features that were urged by the democratic administration and sternly opposed by a republican congress.

After assuming control of the government, the republicans can no longer turn such great problems aside. They will have to grapple with them as best they can to promote the progress and prosperity of the nation.

Somewhat, the nation expects great achievement from the party selected to manage the nation's business for the next four years. There will be railroad, labor, commercial taxation and other economic questions to settle, many of them growing out of the war, and all closely connected with the progress of the country.

At present the system of taxation is bearing heavily upon the industries of the nation and must be revised in the interests of justice and enterprise.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

Better feeling between the United States and Mexico grows apace daily.

The visit of President-elect Obregon of Mexico, and a large party of his fellow countrymen to the Texas state fair at Dallas recently did wonders to promote mutual friendship between the two great North American republics.

It also helped to promote mutually profitable trade.

This achievement is noteworthy, because Texans and Mexicans have not always loved each other.

Now leading business men of Dallas, the commercial capital of the great southwest, are planning to return the courtesy of Obregon by going in a special train to Mexico City for his inauguration, Dec. 1.

Texas is sure to send a splendid delegation.

But Texas isn't selfish in its sincere effort to pave the way for renewed confidence, peace and prosperity below the silvery Rio Grande. Sponsors of this return visit to Mexico have invited other states and business groups to help swell the ranks of ambassadors of good-will who will soon be Mexico bound.

This invitation should be, and no doubt will be, accepted in fine spirit by citizens from all border states and by Chicago and Minneapolis Valley business interests who did so much through trips to Mexico in the spring of 1919 to lay the foundation for better feeling and constantly increasing trade with our sister republic.

It is not unlikely that our state department will soon decide to recognize Mexico as there is no good excuse for withholding that courtesy any longer. It will do this country perhaps more harm than Mexico to be too fastidious in resuming diplomatic relations with our sister republic.

BRANCH LIBRARIES

It should not require any argument to convince reasonable men and women that the Lowell city library is one of the most important adjuncts of our educational system. In any large view of the purpose of the schools, that includes something more than the training of boys and girls to earn a livelihood, familiarity with literature must form a prominent part.

In the city library is a collection of volumes of the greatest value. With these books in their homes the young people of the city can spend hours in the company of the greatest minds of the ages.

It is unfortunate, though, that the library is located at such a distance from many homes, that it is impossible for residents to make as large use of it as they probably would like to. To visit the library and secure a book requires the best part of an evening for many people, and the trip is not always one that looks pleasant in prospect at the end of a long day's work. For children, the journey on foot is almost out of the question, and many parents, having in mind the dangers of the vehicle-filled streets, very properly refuse to permit the youngsters to journey to the library.

It is realized, of course, that the city is faced with many demands for the expenditure of money. It would seem, though, that the library trustees and members of the municipal council might wisely take under consideration the question whether or not an appropriation could not be spared for carrying out the establishment of branch libraries in parts of the city where the books could be more readily available. Failing in this, it might be possible to arrange for some system by which card holders could hand in their cards at district agencies and then have these gathered up and the books called for delivered by the library agents.

The city library is of value to the city only to the extent that its books are used. The volumes lying year in and year out untouched in the stacks might as well be sunk in the Merrimack river as far as any practical worth is concerned. It is only by getting the books into the hands of readers that the expense of maintaining the city library can be justified at all.

The defeat of Governor Smith in New York, together with the greater part of the democratic state ticket, has emphasized the republican victory in one of the leading strongholds of democracy. Although the vote was close, the defeat of Smith came as a surprise as the early returns seemed to indicate his election.

The daylight saving has proved so beneficial to the people of those states in which it was adopted that it should be made a national law for seven months of the year. In New England it is especially useful in causing people to get about their business earlier and thus avoiding work by artificial light.

The election of Governor Coolidge as vice-president has brought him congratulations from his friends in every part of the country. If there had been no police strike in Boston, the governor's name would probably never have been mentioned as a candidate either for president or vice-president.

The city of Boston is not easily induced to favor new schemes submitted on a referendum. The voters have just rejected the two platform system for firemen and the proposition to extend the membership of the city council from nine to fifteen. Under other conditions both might have been adopted.

Eight people were killed in Cuba on election day. Up here we only stay pro-election hopes when we ballot, which shows that we have progressed a little farther in the school of self-government than has our southern neighbor.

The Boston Globe incidentally sheds some light on what happens to the fames of men elected to the vice presidency by telling us that Calvin is the fourth Massachusetts man to fill the office. Can anyone tell who the others were?

Even the G.O.P. leaders are beginning to show evidence of conversion to the belief that the dynamic lines of succession to the governorship should be smoothed. So much Mr. Alvan T. Fuller has accomplished.

We can be sure of one thing and that is that the Friday hoodoo will prove potent for either the Lowell high or Woburn high pigskin warriors as they meet on the gridiron today.

A Lowell parent-teachers' association has been listening to an address "The Diet of the School Child." Wonder if any reference was made to chewing gum?

The western professor of psychology who says that men and women do not differ much in ability, probably never saw a woman undertake to throw a stone.

Now Mr. Harding faces the task of trying to multiply the leaves and fishes to appease the hunger of a multitude of ravenous patriots seeking for jobs.

When all is said and done, it is the proper management of municipal affairs that concerns us most intimately—register for the city election.

Victor Berger says it was the women who defeated him for congress. That ought to reconcile even the last warring opponent to suffrage.

The double platform system for Boston firemen seems to have collided with the voters' double cross.

It seems to be a long, long way to a share in deposits of county treasury funds for Lowell banks.

"Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith," but failed in New York.

Meanshine is said to be quite good for removing stains from clothing.

The saddest blow of all—the defeat of the old Roman, Champ Clark.

"Truth deposited to earth shall rise again."

SEEN AND HEARD

One woman voter in precinct three of ward five blew out the candle in the polling booth after marking her ballot.

It may be an argument for or against, but free verse is harder to memorize than rhymes.

If overhead makes shoes high may be hats are costly because of the underfoot.

Esperanto as a language may not amount to much, but as a hoax—some hoax.

President Wilson joins the great army of house-hunters.

Lucky a certain Chicago policeman isn't bald. A pocket-comb deflected a bullet and saved his life.

Day Dreaming

Idle thoughts as one stands on a street corner and watches the passing throng. I wonder what the dreamers that fellow is smiling about. Gee, it must be tough to have to walk with a pair of crutches. And yet that fellow doesn't seem to think so. Else why does he look so cheerful? But that newsmen knows more business than the average business man. Gee, but that is a cute little youngster. Wish I had a couple of my own. You'd never think so many people bowed down to the common drinking fountain. I wonder if that old bird is married. And is that his daughter or somebody else's? Well, it's a wonder to me how people aren't killed by autos and street cars the way they absent-mindedly cross the streets.

Such Is Life

Wonder what has, or what will become of the fancy glasses which used to contain the beverages which sizzled and bubbled. When you stop to consider the number of fancy drinks folks used to sip and the various sorts of glasses we used—one for each variety of sip—there must be a lot of them stored away somewhere. Why not again put them into play something like this. When you serve lemonade use one of the long-stemmed champagne goblets. Then the little lemon seed will get stuck down in the slender portion and it will be much harder to wash. And who knows, maybe you'll have to break the glass to get the seed out. In serving tea apply the old-time beer mug. Then your neighbors won't be passing their cups back so often. When you serve soda and warm water to the stomachachy youngster, use a pure wine glass. That he'll only have to take about half of the dose. The rest will run over on your tablecloth. Horses Neck glasses would make nice moulds for cornstarch pudding. And how about cocktail mugs for pin trays. Blown glass is correct—these glasses have "blown for keeps."

First Frost

(Copyright 1920, N.E.A.)
When Summer surrenders
And autumn's last disorders
Are fanning the winds in the haste
Of retreat,
When Winter advances
His keen-pointed lance,
And summons the world to his conquering reel.

O, then as I haunt him
And shiver him and taunt him,
And laugh at his bluster and welcome
His warm spirit brightens
The air which it whistles,
As my brown and Winter's breath
Battle together.

O, sing me on number
Of yabbering slumber
Of soft-scented case at its languorous Own flood,
But send me that tingle
When fire and frost mingle
And the far tang of Winter sinks
Into my blood.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I note with pleasure the return of the long absent sugar bowl to the tables in a number of our downtown restaurants. This is one of the most substantial indications that sugar has once more become plentiful and the price within reason of the ordinary pocketbook. No longer will the quick-luncher have to depend on the generosity of the man behind the counter who pours out his coffee; he can go straight to the bowl himself now and make sure that his beverage is sweetened to suit his own taste. No longer is the one-spoonful rule in effect. Many of the patrons of the local lunch-rooms are not aware that the sugar receptacles have been replaced on the tables, thinking that the sweetening is still being doled out by the man behind the counter. The result is that many of them make very faces when they first sip their cup of coffee or tea and find it insipid. First they look puzzled, then they "stare" at the blushing sugar bowl and in a few seconds the deficiency has been remedied.

I was walking along Middlesex street a day or two ago when I came upon a ladder with one end resting in the middle of the sidewalk and the other against a building. A painter was at work at the top. Almost unconsciously I dodged out toward the edgeline to avoid passing under the obstruction. The old superstition regarding the bad luck that falls to the lot of people who walk under ladders had popped into my mind, and I involuntarily I had been led to side-step the taking of any chances with fate. Then I thought I would like to find out how many other people there might be who are also swayed by the ancient ladder superstition. Of about twenty persons that passed, only three had the courage to walk straight ahead under the ladder as though it were not there. For some it was not directly in their paths and they would have had to make a deliberate detour to pass under it. At least half a dozen, though, evidently had the old superstition in mind and carefully avoided taking any chances with the hoodoo. It is curious how these ancient superstitions survive and we are swayed by them even while we profess to be absolutely without faith in their potency. The other day I saw one of the discarded and sold-ladders of Lowell walking along Merrimack street with a painter in his hand. He had picked it up in the street. He grinned rather sheepishly and replied that he did not know what he intended to do with it when asked regarding the disposition that he intended to make of his acquisition. How many of us are there who would pass by a horsehoe lying in the street? When you find one, though, be sure to hang it up with the toe pointing down, otherwise the luck charm will not work.

SATURDAY IS CHRYSANTHEMUM DAY AT MCCANNON'S, THE PRESCOTT ST. FLORIST.

We have thousands of them, nice specimen flowers 25 cents each; also a fine lot of varieties of all kinds. Why not grow your own chrysanthemums. In order to make room we are offering some fine potted plants for $1 and $1.50 each for Saturday.

Mother Reports

Baby's Recovery

From Incipient Tubercular Cough

The Following Letter Tells Its Own Story That Will Be Read by Many an Anxious Mother:

Dear Sir:—I cannot praise too highly your wonderful Sister Mary's Compound; my little boy for almost a year had a racking, very painful cough. Physicians were stated that it was an incipient tubercular cough. Behind his ear he had what was diagnosed as a tubercular sore. The poor child wasted away to almost a thread. Since giving him your Compound he has gained rapidly; the cough is entirely gone and the sore has healed all up. To your Compound, I owe his life; it is wonderful. I cannot praise it too highly. Mrs. Joseph Hannon, 9 Decatur St., Charlestown, Mass.

This Preparation is an ETHICAL combination representing the THERAPEUTIC VALUE of the MEDICINAL PROPERTIES of Charcoal, Sulphur and Cream of Tartar, associated with Honey, Syrup, Glycerine and Vegetable Anti-septic Aromatics.

For Coughs, Colds and all symptoms like loss of weight, tired feeling, constant headaches and anything indicating loss of strength and decreased vitality, start taking SISTER MARY'S Compound AT ONCE. NOTHING should ever be accepted in its place. ALL drug stores carry SISTER MARY'S Compound.—Adv.

LOUISE I. GUINEY DEAD

Noted Writer, Niece of Late William Guiney, Died in London.

Louise Imogen Guiney, well known as a poet and essayist, died on Tuesday at Chipping Campden, London.

Miss Louise Imogen Guiney, daughter of a distinguished lawyer as well as a soldier of the Union army in the Civil war, Gen. P. R. Guiney, once commander of the 9th Massachusetts, was born in Boston, Jan. 17, 1861, of Irish and French ancestry. She was a niece of the late William Guiney, whose place of business was at the corner of Broadway and Willie street. While residing in Boston and Cambridge she was a frequent visitor in Lowell and on several occasions she read selections from her writings to select gatherings of her friends.

She was educated at public and private schools and at the convent of the Sacred Heart, Providence, and made a special study of English literature. She began to write poetry that was highly commended while still a girl and some of it was published in leading magazines. When she was 23 her first volume, entitled "Songs at the Start," was published in Boston. For several years thereafter she published annually a volume either of poems or of prose. One of them was "Brookings and Bojangles," a book of fairy lore.

In 1889 with her mother she visited Europe and soon afterward published an account of her observations and impressions in various countries.

In 1894, the fact of her being the daughter of a Civil war veteran gained her the appointment from President Cleveland as postmistress at Auburn-dale, where she and her mother were then living. During the early months of her occupancy of the office she was elected a member of the A.P.A. on account of her ancestry. The news spreading broadcast resulted in such a flood of orders for stamps from all over the country that the office receipts were very heavily increased.

She gave up the postoffice in 1897 and visited Great Britain and her lectures on Irish subjects which she gave in Ireland were liberally patronized and highly praised by the press of that country. During the last 20 years she had lived much in England, carrying on research work at Oxford and in the British Museum in connection with her essays and other literary productions.

She was a very voluminous writer and her works embrace a great variety of subjects in prose and poetry, fiction, essays, travel, literary criticism and research. She was a frequent contributor to the Atlantic and other magazines.

Among her best known works are "Goosequill Papers," "Robert Emmet," "A Life of English Gallies," and an edition of the selected poems of James Clarence Mangan with critical estimate of her worth.

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'"—Mrs. Wm. Strzins, 580 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. MONUMENT TO CHILDREN'S POET

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Announcement was made today that funds had been raised for a monument in Lincoln park to Eugene Field, the children's poet. Ever since his death, 25 years ago, Chicago children have been adding their pennies to the slowly growing fund of $35,000. It was completed when the Art Institute trustees voted to supplement the $920.25 children's collection.

Johannes S. Cole and Eugene McCormick, New York sculptors have submitted two models for the memorial.

Eugene Field for 12 years conducted a column for the Chicago Daily News, the famous "Sharps and Flats." One of his best known poems is "Little Boy Blue."

His "Healing Honey" Stops the Tickles, Heals the Throat and Cures the Cough. Price 35c. A free box of GROVER'S O-PEN-TR-EE SALVE for Chest Colds, Head Colds and Croup is enclosed with every bottle.

WANTED: ONE GOOD KING!

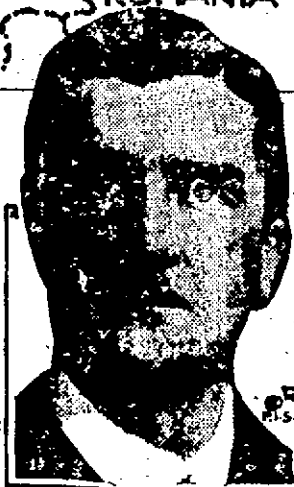

BUDAPEST—Wanted: A good king for Hungary!

Don't push! You have to have royal blood to fill all the requirements.

(Americans who imagine that everybody hates the king business, attention!)

The Hungarian peasants, the Americans here have found, want to be ruled by a king. Admiral Horthy (below), who now occupies the royal palace as regent, is recognized as a strong man but he hasn't the royal blood. Even so, he is a possible future king.

The British Prince Albert (above), second son of King George, has many supporters. So has Archduke Joseph, the Hapsburg general, shown on the right with the whiskers he wore at the front in the late war.

WILL CONTESTED

The will of Mrs. Julia Beattie of Lawrence, which is now being contested in the superior court in that city by her sister, made bequests as follows: To her brother, Daniel Cronin, all the money standing in his name and her name in the Essex Savings bank and property on Valley street, Lawrence, with the stipulation that if he should die that it be sold and that the money received from the sale be divided among the following: Katherine Wholley, daughter of her nephew, Michael Wholley, $500; John Wholley, nephew, $500; Dennis and Timothy O'Leary of Portsmouth, $250 each, and Dennis O'Leary of Cambridge, $100, and Michael O'Leary of Cambridge, $500. The rest and residue of the estate, it was willed, should go to Hannah Hayes of this city. Mrs. Nora Wholley, sister of the deceased, who was left nothing by the will, is now contesting it, alleging that the late Mrs. Beattie was of unsound mind and that the will was not properly executed. The hearing opened Wednesday morning.

Chester Suits Everybody

Chester blazes the trail to LOWER prices!

Men's clothing NOW at next season's prices
One-third less than 2 months ago.

THE chain of CHESTER CLOTHES Shops throughout the United States have long been famous for their high quality men's clothing at low prices.

War conditions forced us to constantly increase our prices, in order to keep the quality up to the Chester standard. And this Fall, instead of lowering this standard to procure lower prices, we have actually insisted on higher grade fabrics and workmanship.

Woolen mills and clothing manufacturers have announced reductions to take effect NEXT SPRING. We say not next Spring, but NOW! NOW!

Our Prices YESTERDAY were $30 to $75

Our Revised Prices TO-DAY are $21⁷⁵ to $52⁷⁵

Note the difference — and save the difference!
Every Suit and Overcoat in the store REDUCED without any exceptions!
We have smashed prices to rock-bottom levels!

We don't resort to half-measures — the Chester Clothes Shops never did anything in a half-hearted fashion.

We're not going to "bunch" values and let the best judge get the best values—we're not going to advertise "values up to—" and then quote the former price $20 higher than the reduced sale price.

Our Plan is STARTLING and ORIGINAL

We have marked with RED INK on the original sleeve tickets the EXACT COST of manufacture of every garment in the store without one penny of profit attached! We will sacrifice any thought of profit this season, in order to retain our large clientele of men and young men, as well as add new satisfied customers.

Now is the time to buy your Fall Suit and Overcoat AT COST!
A small deposit will hold any garment until you are ready to take it

MICHIGAN APPROVES PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

(From New York World)
DETROIT, Nov. 5.—The constitutional amendment to abolish parochial schools in Michigan met with a crushing defeat. From first to last the returns maintained a vote of nearly two to one against the measure.
In 2,016 of the 2,781 precincts of the state, the vote stands: For the amendment, 255,621; against, amendment, 862,919.
The Thumb district developed strongly for the amendment, due to the fact that this district is a stronghold of Orange lodges. In probably a dozen counties the amendment carried. In Wayne county, the vote against the amendment fell far below the expectations of the opponents of the amendment.
The vote stood in round numbers, complete, 179,000 to 94,000 against. "We are very grateful for the overwhelming defeat of the anti-parochial school amendment," said the Right Rev. M. J. Gallagher, Bishop of Detroit. Bishop Gallagher referred to the proposed amendment as evidence of the basest kind of despotism. He asserted that to defeat it between $300,000 and $500,000 had been spent.
"The Lutherans must have spent at least $70,000," said the Bishop, "and the Catholics $150,000 in their educational campaigns; this at a time when the money is needed so much for other purposes."
It took Magellan 38 days to sail through the 325-mile length of the strait bearing his name.
The Medaille Militaire, the highest military distinction in France, was created in 1852.

SILENT AT WHITE HOUSE

Wilson Calls in Creel—Much Speculation on Harding's Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Washington is still in a lull today after the republican landslide of Tuesday to permit any serious discussion of what is in store for the United States after March 4. There is much speculation as to the probable composition of the cabinet, but no definite word has been given. A cabinet meeting is expected to be held today, but no definite word has been given. A cabinet meeting is expected to be held today, but no definite word has been given.

Cabinet members in refusing to discuss the election apparently are taking their cue from the White House. President Wilson, so far as can be ascertained, has not uttered a word concerning the defeat of Gov. Cox, and the possible effect on the league covenant. It is believed, however, that he did discuss the political situation with George Creel when the latter called at the executive offices and was invited to luncheon by the president.
Washingtonians are intensely interested in the makeup of the republican cabinet and at least 100 names have been advanced to fill the nine cabinet offices. The only new name mentioned yesterday was that of Frederick Coudert for secretary of state on the supposition that neither Senator Lodge nor Elihu Root will accept the portfolio.
The republican organization in the senate and house has been left intact by the election. Complications and a renewal of an old fight may follow if friends of James H. Mann attempt to have him named for speaker instead of Representative Gillett. Mr. Mann has many supporters among the republicans who are re-elected. Congressman Mondell of Wyoming, republican house leader, will be back.
Two important committee chairmanships in the house must be filled. Under the seniority rule, by which the ranking member gets the plum, there will be no trouble on this score. Congressman Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania will succeed Edmund Platt of New York, who resigned to accept an appointment to the federal reserve board, as chairman of the banking and currency committee.
Mr. Winslow of Massachusetts will succeed Chairman John C. Spooner of Wisconsin, defeated in the primaries, on the interstate and foreign commerce committee.

forts of the Boy Scouts generally in the campaign to promote saving and investment in government savings securities, now in progress throughout the United States and which Secretary of the Treasury Houston says will continue through the next year.
The president in his letters expresses his deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious way in which the Scouts aided the savings campaign and praises their courage, courtesy, thought and untiring effort which he says will prove an example for the growth of valuable qualities of mind and heart in America. He concludes with a tribute to the Scout organization and its training for the development of loyal citizenship.
The national organization of the Boy Scouts of America is planning for appropriate ceremonies when the letters are delivered and presented to the winners in each of the states.
The text of the president's letter follows:
"My Dear Young Friend:
"It gives me pleasure to tell you of my deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious manner in which you, as a member of the Boy Scouts of America, have secured subscriptions for Thrift and War Savings Stamps.
"You have won the distinction of having secured more such subscriptions during the 1918 War Savings campaign than any other scout in your state.
"You have exercised courage, courtesy, thought and untiring effort and in so doing have set an example for all boys—an example which will surely aid in the growth of valuable qualities of mind and heart.
"I thank you in the name of the whole country, and I wish to convey to your parents, your community and your Boy Scout organization, my appreciation of the training that has developed in you such a fine spirit of wholesome and loyal citizenship.
"Cordially and sincerely yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

Harding's Vote Settled at 404

were the fourth Maryland district: eighth Minnesota; fifth Missouri; 15th, 21st and 25th New York; first North Dakota and fifth West Virginia.
A further possible democratic upset appeared possible in the fourth Tennessee district, where W. F. Couse, republican, was reported to have forced slightly ahead of Cordell Hull, earlier reported elected.
The senate majority was settled when belated returns from the mountain regions of Kentucky gave the republican candidate, Richard P. Ernst, victory over Senator Beckham, democrat.
Montana's four electoral votes fell definitely into the Harding column when a return from 1257 precincts out of the total 1452, gave the republican candidates a lead of 44,530. With North Dakota's five electoral votes counted last night when democratic leaders admitted they had given up hope of carrying the state, the addition of Montana brought the Harding total up to the 404 mark.
The count in Oklahoma assured the nation's new women voters one representative in the lower house—Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, a farmer and restaurant owner. She was an anti-suffragist prior to the adoption of the 19th amendment, and made the congressional race "to see if the men meant it" when they "thrust the vote on us."

Republican Takes Lead

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 5.—After trailing behind in the vote since election night Governor Lynn J. Frasier, republican candidate, endorsed by the Non-Partisan League, swung into the lead early today in the gubernatorial race, being more than 800 votes ahead of his democratic opponent, J. F. T. O'Connor.

G.O.P. Continue to Gain

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—With Tennessee definitely in the republican electoral column, returns gathered by newspapers indicated early today that the republicans had captured five of the state's 10 seats in the lower house of congress. Two members of Tennessee's present congressional delegation are republicans.

Democratic Opponent, J. F. T. O'Connor

of returns, still incomplete. W. F. Couse, republican, was leading Representative Cordell Hull, democratic-national committee man from Tennessee, by less than 200 votes. Republican leaders in the district claimed complete returns would show Couse a winner by at least 1000 votes. Incomplete tabulation of the vote in the eighth district, gives Lon A. Scott, republican, a slight lead over Gordon Browning, democrat. Early returns had indicated the election of both Hull and Browning.

The election in the third district of Joseph Brown, republican, over John A. Moon, democratic incumbent, has been conceded by the democrat, while in the first and second districts, republicans were elected. Both districts at present are represented in congress by republicans.

With returns in from practically the entire state

Senator Harding continued today to lead Governor Cox by approximately 16,000 votes, while the majority of Alf Taylor, republican candidate for governor, over Governor Roberts, democrat, was nearly 40,000.

Figures compiled by the Commercial Appeal from all but 40 scattering precincts in the state gave Harding a majority of 39,542. The vote was: Hardings 202,579; Cox 133,179. Taylor 211,143; Roberts 171,601.

WILSON LEAGUE "DEAD"

Harding Makes First Speech
Since Election at Big
Marion Celebration

MARION, O., Nov. 5.—Making his first speech as president-elect, Warren G. Harding declared at an election celebration of home folks here last night that the Versailles League of Nations was "now deceased," although the new administration intended to see that the nation played its part in a new international association founded on peace and justice.

Mr. Harding also told his friends and neighbors who gathered around the front porch in a cheering concourse rivaling the greatest crowd of the campaign, that he had come through the night "without an apology or a regret" and that he would rather not have the presidency than to win it "by speaking ill or uttering a lie."

The celebration, in which many from other Ohio cities joined, was characterized by all the carnival features of an old-time political rally. So great was the gathering that the streets were jammed for a block away and only a small part of those present could hear the speech. In a parade past the Harding residence there were many special features, one man leading a donkey on whose sides was painted "Jimie didn't treat me right," while another group carried a dummy corpse shrouded against a red-fire background and labelled "The League of Nations."

Gave President-elect His Cue
It was from the latter tableau that the president-elect took the cue for the leading thought of his speech. His reference to it started a laugh, and then he said:

"I don't see as much sorrow in your faces as I had apprehended. It's not that you or I question the desire of America to play its part; it's not that we question the high ideals of those who were responsible for the Versailles covenant. You just didn't want surrender of the United States of America; you wanted America to go under American ideals. That's why you didn't care for the league which is now deceased."

"America is playing a great part now. America is healing the heart of the old world tonight as no other nation. But there is more to do; there is a new world relationship, and when the next administration comes into power we're going to play our part. We're going to be nations associated together in justice; but it shall be an association which surrenders nothing of American freedom."

In his short talk the president-elect touched on no other issues of the campaign, but thanked the crowd for its tribute and asked that he go to Washington "with your good wishes, your confidence and your prayers."

Due to Civic Association
The Marion Civic association was the moving spirit in the jollification, but there were many present from other Ohio cities, including large delegations from Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati. D. R. Crissinger, a former democratic nominee for congress, but a supporter of Mr. Harding through the campaign, is president of the Civic association and acted as the spokesman of the second.

A dozen girl stenographers and clerks attached to Harding headquarters headed the parade, which formed in the business section and marched to the Harding residence along the white-paved pathway of the front porch.

of the Marion Steam Shovel Company, the Harding Railway club and many other organizations of this and other cities were in line.

The president-elect and Mrs. Harding first reviewed the parade as it passed the front porch and then greeted the marchers as they broke ranks and assembled on the lawn.

With virtually no appointments on his program, Mr. Harding devoted yesterday to cleaning up his affairs here in preparation for his vacation trip. He pushed through a mass of correspondence, replied to many telegrams of congratulation and late in the afternoon visited his bank for the first time in several weeks.

Sen. Hale to be in Party
Detailed arrangements for the vacation trip, announced yesterday, show that those who will go along with the president-elect and his wife, include Senators Fitchinghousen of New Jersey, Hale of Maine, Elkins of West Virginia, Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher; Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's pre-convention manager; George B. Christian, Jr., Mr. Harding's secretary; Dr. C. E. Sawyer, his family physician; Judson C. Welliver, publicity director at Harding headquarters; also Malcolm Jennings, attached to the headquarters.

The wives of several of these men will accompany them, and two stenographers, a secret service guard and a dozen newspaper men will complete the party.

The trip will be made on a special train, which will leave here Saturday morning and will go to Point Isabel, Tex., by way of St. Louis and San Antonio. There will be a short layover at San Antonio Sunday night where the senator will be joined by F. E. Scohey and R. B. Creager, Texas republicans, whose guest he will be during the 12-day stay at Point Isabel. The train will reach Brownsville Monday morning and the party will travel the remaining 20 miles by motor.

Some difficulty has been met in arranging a suitable schedule for the proposed trip to the canal zone. It was said last night that details of the voyage were being awaited pending advices from steamship companies.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

Kenneth Fleming, one of the popular members of the Lowell players, is making a decided hit this week, in company with the entire engaging cast, in the great comedy drama, "The Price of Redemption." Mr. Fleming appears in the role of a young soldier who treats it particularly well. Milton Byron, the leading man stars in character work as the father, and Maxwell Driscoll, Miss Knowles and Miss Fields are also most commendable. It's a great play and it's wonderfully well presented. See it and be delighted. Next week the offering will be "The Wonderful Thing" in which Miss Fields will be starred. It's said to be the equal of "The Price of Redemption." Order your tickets well in advance. Tel. 261.

THE STRAND

"The Price of Redemption," with Bert Lytell in the leading role, which is being given at The Strand tells the gripping story of a man who became a hero, and then after a wealthy, though unhappy marriage, sinks to the depths of degradation in darkest India. His redemption through the love of his little child provides the picture with its tremendous heart appeal.

"The Adorable Savage" with Edith Roberts in the stellar part, is another of those delightful picture stories that has all of the best elements used in the making of a film offering. See both.

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Nothing can stop the onslaught on the D. F. Keith theatre, this week, where one of the best shows of the current season is on revue. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The mysticism and romance of South Africa, its diamond mines and the witchcraft still practiced by some of the natives form the background of "Sins of Rosanne," starring Ethel Clayton, which is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre today. The action takes place among the European and native colonies at Kimberly, near the famous diamond mines. The other big feature for the week-end is "The Hidden Valley," stirring romance of the Kentucky hills. Comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture round out the bill. Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "The Master's Breath," the big New York sensation, will be shown at this theatre.

PRES-ELECT HARDING TO TAKE MONTH'S REST

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 6.—In final preparation for his vacation, President-elect Harding today disposed of the last remaining business at his campaign headquarters here and virtually abandoned the headquarters building which has housed his office and campaign assistants since July. With Mrs. Harding and a variety of friends he leaves tomorrow morning for a month's vacation trip that will take him to southern Texas and probably to Panama.

As he began his last day's work in campaign headquarters, workmen were cleaning from the Harding lawn near door, demolished standards and burned out red fire torches of last night's celebration, in which several thousand of his neighbors in Marion and nearby cities paid him a tumultuous tribute. Soon after his vacation trip which is to end early in December, Senator Harding is expected to take preliminary steps toward a consultation of statesmen, which he has promised throughout the campaign, for formulation of America's program toward a world peace association. Whether he actually will assemble such a council before his inauguration, however, is considered as doubtful.

REPRISALS DENOUNCED

T. P. O'Connor Attacks "Policy of Frightfulness in Ireland"—Devlin Speaks

LONDON, Nov. 5.—In the house of commons yesterday T. P. O'Connor raised a debate by attacking what he described as the authorities "policy of frightfulness in Ireland, which he declared was adding new battalions to the Sinn Fein army and hamstringing England's good name."

Joseph Devlin, Belfast, and other members strongly denounced the reprisals in Ireland.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, replying, gave statistics showing that the military and police were not faltering in their endeavors to maintain the strictest discipline. Nine constables were under arrest, two of them charged with murder. Gen. Sir Nevill Macready, commander of the forces, had inquired into every charge against the troops, and disciplinary action had been taken in 10 cases. Trials had been ordered in other cases, including seven men for complicity in the destruction of property at Malton.

The secretary denied emphatically that there was any government imprimatur on the reprisals. He said it was the government's duty to defeat the organized and armed attempts to intimidate the government into granting the independence of Ireland. If the government failed in this policy of assassination would spread to England. The best way to put a stop to what were called reprisals said the secretary was to stop the campaign of murder against police and military. Mr. O'Connor's motion of adjournment was defeated, 125 to 51.

WOULD MAKE HARDING PRESIDENT AT ONCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—William Jennings Bryan gave out a statement

here suggesting that "President Wilson should resign at once."

"Now that American people have decisively declared against the League of Nations as written by the president, it would seem desirable to carry out the verdict immediately. This can be easily done."

"The president should resign at once and turn over his office to Mr. Marshall on the condition that on the convening of congress, in December, Mr. Marshall appoint Senator Harding secretary of state, and himself resign."

"The law then would make Mr. Harding president and with the republican support in congress, he could at once put into operation the plan for the United States to enter into an association of nations for peace."

"As world peace is a thing nearest the president's heart, he can hardly refuse to hasten the coming of peace by so small a sacrifice—if it would be called a sacrifice—to escape from a three-month combat with a hostile congress, supported as it is by the recent vote."

EVIDENCE OF GRAFT IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 5.—Argentina has been having a graft investigation as a result of which it has been found that 5,500,000 pesos have been "unduly" disbursed by former government officials who directed payments to contractors for building the capitol here.

The present government has announced its intention of bringing suits to recover the money improperly paid.

The building, a magnificent structure of classic architecture, marble facings and broad sweeps of marble steps, not unlike the capitol at Washington, is justly called in the newspapers "El Palacio de Oro." It was begun in 1897 and was originally to have cost 10,000,000 pesos. It is not yet entirely finished and has cost 27,000,000.

Recently a committee of the national treasury department completed an investigation of the expenditure of the money paid for construction of the building and reported that 5,500,000 pesos had been "unduly" disbursed.

Buenos Aires news says that years ago of wagon loads of building material that went in the front door of the structure, soon after came out the back door and then disappeared. Charges were made that marble was paid for but concrete used for part of the construction, and other accusations of graft were aired. It was then that the newspapers began to call it "The Palace of Gold."

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES

Burned and Itched. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"My face was disfigured with pimples which were big, red and festered and came to a head. They burned and itched so I scratched and made them bleed, and I couldn't sleep sometimes. I thought I would be disfigured for life."

"Then I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a free sample. It helped and I used two large cakes of Soap and one fifty-cent box of Ointment and I was healed." (Signed) Miss Johanna Szczak, 32 Prospect St., Hartford, Conn.

Try to prevent further trouble by using Cuticura for all toilet purposes. Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. R, Malden 48, Mass. Sold everywhere. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c. Talcum 25c. Cuticura Soap above without soap.

Eczema Caused Years of Intense Agony

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of eczema or itching. You can refer to me."—Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I've got a hundred testimonials," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 35 cents, and I am still doing it as every druggist in the country knows."

"I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is really guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, old sores, blind, bleeding and itching piles, ulcers, skin diseases, chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn, and if not satisfactory, any druggist will return your money. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

FUNERALS

LINDQUIST—The funeral of Frank E. Lindquist, who died at the Swedish Lutheran church, Meadowcroft street yesterday afternoon. There was a very large attendance of friends and associates. Mr. Lindquist had been a deacon of the church for many years, and also one of its foremost workers. Rev. P. E. Nordgren, pastor, and

Rev. John Feert, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church in Manchester, N. H., officiated, and there was singing by the church choir under the direction of Mr. George Glines. A eulogy was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Nordgren. There were many flowers. The bearers were: Messrs. J. August, Ludwig, Henry, Charles and George Lindquist, all brothers of the deceased, and Conrad Lindquist, a nephew. With the exception of George Lindquist, who lives in this city, they are residents of Manchester, N. H. Burial was in Westlawn cemetery, under the direction of William H. Sanders.

VENGE—The funeral of Peter Venge took place this morning from his home, 221 High street, at 8:15 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. James B. McCartin. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Charles Smith and Mr. John Flynn sustaining the solos. Mr. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Charles Pelky, John Leblond, Henry Robinson, Sr. and Henry Robinson, Jr. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. James B. McCartin, O.M.I., read the committal prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

DOVELLAS—The funeral of Beatrice Dovellos took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the home of her parents, Augustine and Maria Ponte Dornellas, 131 Gorham street. Owing to cause of death the funeral was private, and burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

"BALDY" ROSE WILL SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

With the electric chair staring him in the face, Jack Rose turned state's evidence in the Rosenthal murder

mystery and sent Lieut. Becker to the chair and his friends, Lefty Louis and Gyp the Blood to the pen. After spending a number of weeks in the pen himself Rose decided that the life he was leading was not the life he was cut out for. He has been accused of being yellow, that he played a dirty game on his friends and of other misdeeds but no one has the courage to say that Rose's mind is not now made up to serve his fellow men and that he is willing to sacrifice time and money for his misdeeds to save others from a like experience. He will tell his story at the Lowell Opera House Sunday afternoon to the men of Lowell. He will tell of his transient school experience, of his learning to become an excellent gambler, and of his life in the underworld of New York. No man knows the game better than Jack Rose and no one can tell the story any better.

There will be a great demand for seats Sunday and as there are none reserved, and there are no tickets of admission, the men to come first will get the best seats. The meeting will begin at 3:30 and the doors will open at 4:00.

Arrangements have been made to have a band concert early in the program and this will begin at 3:30. There will also be mass singing by the men present led by H. B. Hockman of the Y.M.C.A.

AT PUBLIC AUCTION

NEXT SATURDAY, NOV. 6, AT 3 O'CLOCK SHARP

I will sell at public auction on the premises at 22 Ross avenue, (Ross avenue being between Sixth and Seventh avenues, off Mammoth road), the following described property:

The house has four rooms upstairs, bath and two toilets, good hot room and a small piazza. The first floor has four rooms, two parlors, hall and cold water connections, a good front hall, entrance with two back doors, throughout and is now in good condition.

Now, then, here is a good opportunity for some one to own a good house at their own price, situated near good neighbors, near car line, with a nice high elevation and a fine view, overlooking the city.

The lot contains 247 square feet of land, a small space for a garden. There is also a poultry house.

Terms of sale: $500 required as soon as struck off. In all probability, at least 80 per cent. of the purchase money can remain upon mortgage. All inquiries must be made at the office of the auctioneer.

E. GASTON CAMPBELL, Auctioneer.

DEATHS

MAGLEY—Mr. William Henry Bagley, a former mill man of this city, passed away early this morning at his home, 118 Westworth ave., after a long illness at the age of 63 years, 2 months and 4 days. Mr. Bagley was for 18 years connected with the Middlesex woolen mills at this city as superintendent. After leaving this city he went to the Cocheco mills at Rochester, N. H. holding a responsible position for 15 years and due to poor health retired from active work a short time ago. He is survived by his wife, Laura J. Bagley, two sons, William D. Bagley of this city and C. Harold Bagley, of East Rochester, N. H.; one brother, Charles N. Bagley, of Providence, R. I., and a sister, Mrs. Mary N. Fuller of Ossining, N. Y.; also by three grandchildren, Alfred H. Pollock, Lella M. Bagley and Martha A. Bagley. Mr. Bagley was a member of the Elks of Woonsocket, R. I. His body was removed to Saunders' Funeral Home, 217 Appleton street. Funeral notice later.

FUNERAL NOTICES

TATE—Died in this city, Nov. 4, at the home of his daughter, 141 Humphrey street, Mr. Thomas Tate. Funeral services will be held at the W. M. C. Lajoie Coal Case and that he also suggested that his clerical force be increased 10 or 12 clerks. Mr. Wier then questioned witness relative to "peddlers" who purchased coal from him and were later arrested for selling at short weights. Mr. Lajoie admitted two men bought coal from him and were later arrested, but he said he did not know they were peddlers for he thought they had taken orders for the coal they purchased. He also admitted on another occasion a man bought coal from him and was fined later in police court for having sold at short weight, and again he denied knowing this man was a peddler. He said he received his information concerning these three men from the city weigher.

Questioned about the amount of coal he had on hand in January, 1918, witness said his equipment at that time was sufficiently large to deliver all he had on hand and in a case of emergency, he said, he could have hired extra men and wagons as he had done in previous years. He said because of his inability to fill orders from regular customers on account of the action of the fuel committee, he lost a great many customers and that was one of the reasons why he went out of business. When asked the exact number of customers lost through the action of the committee and the names of some of the customers, Mr.

Lajoie said he could not give the desired information without consulting his books.

In redirect examination Mr. Lajoie said his equipment in January, which consisted of two horses and three automobile trucks had a capacity of 88 tons a day and in some cases when the men in the yard were not bothered by the public the equipment could have put out over 100 tons a day. The witness referred to two carloads of coal diverted by the committee, one to the Livingston Coal company and the other to the Columbia Fuel company, which he claimed were paid for in Boston, so that he was out of his 10 cents profit for each ton. At 1 o'clock when court took a recess for luncheon it was announced that the examination of Mr. Lajoie had been completed and counsel for the defendants said they had no questions to ask.

YESTERDAY'S LATE SESSION

At yesterday afternoon's session Mr. Lajoie testified that his coal yard was idle from the early part of March, 1918, to the latter part of May of the same year and that for some time prior to the closing of his business there was a police officer stationed in his office. He also stated that all the coal he had on hand in February, 1918, was taken away by other dealers and that shipments of coal consigned to him were diverted to other dealers.

Mr. Charbonneau asked Mr. Lajoie what he thought the fair market value of his land was in 1918 and this question was objected to by counsel for the defendants. The objection led to a lengthy conference between counsel and Justice Bishop, during which the jurors were taken to their room. When Mr. Lajoie resumed his testimony he said the value of his business on the first of January, 1918, was between $70,000 and $80,000. He also stated that the bulk of his orders for coal was placed in the early spring. He then described the nature of his property in Garham street and said the yearly capacity of his elevators was 35,000 tons, while daily capacity of his equipment was about 75 tons.

Inasmuch as it was after 3:30 o'clock when Mr. Lajoie completed his direct testimony, the cross-examination was put over until this morning and Edward W. Abbott, general freight agent for the Boston & Maine, was called to the stand, and his testimony was relative to letters he had received pertaining to coal shipments consigned to Mr. Lajoie. Patrolman Wilson testified to being sent to Mr. Lajoie's premises by Mr. O'Donoghue for the purpose of finding out how many primarily coal cards were being received at the Lajoie office and to return said cards to Mr. O'Donoghue. Witness also stated that he had been sent to other coal offices by Mr. O'Donoghue.

Eight years ago the father left his home to seek the opportunities of America and eventually settled in Lowell. Here he has conducted a small shoe repair shop and succeeded in acquiring enough funds to enable his family to come here.

Early last spring, long before Easter, he made arrangements with a ticket agency in Boston to have his wife and four children come to Boston from Rotterdam. He bought three full tickets and two half tickets at the rate of $33 apiece. This was to include eating and sleeping accommodations both on the vessel and at Rotterdam should there be any delay in the date of sailing. He sent the tickets to his wife, explaining just what they entitled her and the children to, and then returned to Lowell to await news of their arrival.

Within a short time he received a cablegram from the American consul at Warsaw saying that his wife and children must have $200 at once. He cabled the money and later came word from the steamship company at Rotterdam that his family could not sail unless he forwarded $46 more. He sent $100, and his wife received the difference. Later came word that head

WRANGEL WITHDRAWS BAN JOHNSON AGAINST STOREKEEPER IS FINED HIS TROOPS TO CRIMEA JOINT SESSION

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 4. (By Associated Press.)—General Baron Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik government of South Russia, has successfully withdrawn his troops to Crimea before the advance of Soviet armies south of the Dnieper river. He is master of Perekop and also Sakova.

At Sakova, he has captured thousands of men belonging to Gen. Budenny's soviet cavalry. The spirit of his troops is good, but they are worn out by their long fight, which has lasted for five months, and are glad to be assured of a rest in Crimea.

Soviet forces are besieging the anti-Bolshevik trench system on the narrow neck of land leading from the Crimean peninsula to the mainland, but it is asserted only 10,000 of General Wrangel's troops will be required to hold Perekop and Sakova.

The number of Soviet cavalrymen captured by General Wrangel's forces at Sakova is placed at 10,000.

Sends Message to Wife

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4.—General Baron Wrangel, whose forces have been driven back into the Crimean peninsula from Russia proper by Bolshevik armies, has broken a silence of four days with a characteristically laconic telegram to Baroness Wrangel. It said: "We are fighting hard, in full hope."

The baroness, who has spent many sleepless nights since the Bolshevik offensive began, said today: "All I want is the truth, no matter how bad it is, I can stand it."

Coughing and sneezing in the presence of King George III of England was strictly prohibited.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—President Ban Johnson of the American league today intimated that there would be no joint session of the major league club owners in Chicago Monday afternoon.

His stand was taken by fans to be his reply to the reports from New York that President Heydler of the National league had issued a second invitation to the American league executive and to the "loyal five" club owners supporting Johnson to join with the National league and the Chicago, New York and Boston American league clubs in session here Monday afternoon.

Johnson yesterday issued a call for a special meeting of all the club owners of the American league to discuss league matters. The session was set for Monday morning in Chicago and it is expected plans to reorganize the national commission will be discussed.

Johnson's forces, consisting of the Cleveland, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington and Philadelphia clubs, while agreed that a change in baseball laws is necessary in the light of the recent scandal exposed by the feature of the Lasker play which calls for a governing body of disinterested parties to succeed the present national commission.

A special meeting of the National league club owners has been called for Monday by President Heydler. The joint meeting Monday afternoon of National and American league club owners has been expected for some time. Many minor league club owners and managers will spend Monday in Chicago and Tuesday the storm center will move to Kansas City, where the National association meets.

Man Charged With Carrying Revolver and Threatening is Fined $250

For carrying a revolver without a permit and for threatening to shoot Fred Gillis of Pleasant street, Thomas Belocis, variety store proprietor of East Merrimack street, was ordered to pay fines of $200 and $50, respectively, on each complaint in police court this morning by Judge Enright and also ordered to furnish $300 bonds to keep the peace for six months. Through counsel, defendant appealed both decisions and was ordered to furnish $500 bonds for trial in superior court.

Belocis pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver. The trouble connected with the case occurred at the corner of Fayette and East Merrimack streets Thursday night of last week. Earlier in the day Fred Gillis had complained to Belocis that he had sold Jamaica ginger to his brother. The brother denied this, but Belocis said that he would sell all he wanted to him and Gillis answered that he would see that he wouldn't. That same evening after Belocis had closed his store he started home with his cash receipts. At Fayette street Fred Gillis stepped up to him again, saying that he had sold "jakey" to his brother and, according to the defendant, struck him and pushed him up against the mail box, thus spilling a bagful of money into the street. Belocis, according to the testimony, then drew the revolver and shouted to Gillis "to mind his own business or he would shoot him and send him up Gorham street." Gillis then ran away and when a police officer appeared he searched Belocis and found the gun. Defendant at that time admitted to the officer that he did say that he would "shoot Gillis and send him up Gorham street." Defendant explained that he carried the gun that night because he saw Gillis and two other fellows standing at the corner and thought that they intended to "get him." Complainant denied that he struck Belocis when he spoke to him, and said that he was talking at the corner with his companions after returning from a theatre.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5.—American, British and French mining companies in the state of Coahuila have protested to the Mexican government against the latter's decision to operate many mines in the state, owing to the inability of employers and striking workmen to reach an agreement ending the present strike. It is denied in official circles that the government has intended to expropriate the mines, but it is asserted drastic measures are necessary to supply railroads and factories with fuel. The constitution, it is pointed out, authorizes the government to act in such an emergency.

ing the courts at Shedd park, even though Chairman Clarence M. Weed of the park commission said that if the terms of the deed by which the city acquired Shedd park were followed out to the letter, the courts would have to be placed in a secluded, swampy section of the tract and would prove most expensive and undesirable. It was the largest gathering which has attended a park commission hearing in years and was most gratifying to the commissioners who saw in the presence of so many citizens an awakening of public interest in the city's recreational system.

Chairman Clarence M. Weed called to order at 8 o'clock, stating the purpose of the hearing.

He said that for a long time the park commission had been considering the establishment of tennis courts as part of the city's recreational system. This year it was found that $600 was available for the purpose.

To put the courts in Shedd park, it would be necessary to establish the courts in a swamp, in accordance with the terms of the agreement by which the city was to have the park, he explained.

To establish the courts there would mean an expense of $600 and would be most undesirable for young people because of its location. The city solicitor had given an opinion, Mr. Weed said, to the effect that the park department must follow out the plan accepted by the city when it took over Shedd park.

For that reason it would not be feasible to establish the courts there. Therefore, Fort Hill park had been chosen. He then asked for expressions of opinion from those present.

Judge John J. Pickman asked just

where it was proposed to locate the courts on Fort Hill park. Chairman Weed replied that the courts would be 40 feet from High street and 600 feet from Rogers street.

Dr. Leonard Huntress said that he opposed placing the courts at Fort Hill merely from civic pride. He said that the park was an ornament and a credit to the city. He said the argument advanced by Mr. Weed that Shedd park was too far away did not hold good because in the winter thousands of young people from all parts of the city visited the park to enjoy skating.

He said that he did not believe that the children of the city had any great interest in tennis. There was at one time a court at Louisa street, but it has gone to seed from disuse. Dr. Huntress said that the maintenance of courts would prove expensive.

Chairman Weed said that it wasn't fair to say that because children were not interested in tennis, that situation should be used as an argument against tennis, because the greater part of the children of the city have never had an opportunity to become interested in the game.

Mr. Weed also said that there were tennis courts at the State Normal school and that the upkeep was practically nothing.

Judge Pickman said he was heartily in favor of tennis courts but did not believe Fort Hill park was the place for them. The game can easily become one of the most popular sports in the city. It would afford ideal recreation for young people between 16 and 25, he believed.

Miss Olive S. Parsons, principal of the Rogers Hall school, said that she certainly did not oppose the plans of tennis. Rogers Hall had then open its tennis court, its gymnasium and swimming pool to the girls of the city in the summer of 1919 and all were taken advantage of. Swimming proved most popular, she said, and she believed that one of the greatest needs of the city of Lowell was a swimming pool for girls that could be used the year around.

Her chief opposition to placing the courts at the entrance to Fort Hill park was the fact that it would mean spoiling the appearance of the park and would also deprive many mothers and their children of a favorite resting and recreational place. She thought that some other place might be found, so that the beauty of the park might not be decreased.

W. McCullough, of 134 Crosby street, said that the heavy drainage of water coming from Fort Hill would seriously interfere with the upkeep of tennis courts at the entrance to the park.

He said that he had seen tennis courts in many cities but had never found one located at the entrance to a park. He hoped that the beauty of the park would not be spoiled.

Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman of the parks and playgrounds committee of the chamber of commerce, said that she feared that the young people of Lowell were in the grip of commercialized recreation, chiefly the licensed dance hall. She favored a great many tennis courts scattered in all parts of the city, but was opposed to having courts at Fort Hill.

Mrs. Heath said that she hoped the campaign to give the children of the city added recreational facilities would not be given up even though the park commission does not see fit to use Fort Hill park.

Mrs. Huntress opposed locating the courts at the park. She suggested using the upper part of the South com-

READY-TO-WEAR OVERCOATS

I have reserved one whole window for a display of ready-to-wear Overcoats. Most of these garments are strictly hand-tailored, some are silk lined throughout, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts, with patch and vertical pockets, Ulsterette styles and the English Raglan effects. From what I have seen in store windows the lowest grade of these coats would retail around $40 to $45.

If I have your size, I have a number of styles as low as

OF RHODE ISLAND

This is an all-wool grade worsted and wool. The fabrics they weave are sold throughout the entire country by dealers and jobbers as Scotch worsted fabrics. Personally, I didn't buy the yarns that went into these fabrics, but I am assured that they are all long staple wool. They are all medium and heavy weights that can be worn twelve months in the year. No foolish or loud patterns—just staples, including a 16 oz. all-wool Blue Serge.

mon along the Highland street side. Mr. Weed said that that section of the common was used for baseball by the younger boys.

Miss Emily Skilton, policewoman of the local department, said that the thousands of young people out at night should have adequate recreational facilities. She favored lighting up all the city's parks. More interest should be taken in the welfare of the city's young people, she said.

William N. Goodell said that he appeared in the dual capacity of a trustee of Rogers Hall and as a citizen of Lowell. He opposed placing the tennis court at Fort Hill because he believed it would mean spoiling a finished product while an unfinished product nearby was allowed to remain in that state. The distance between Fort Hill and Shedd park 1500 feet was prohibitive, he said.

He suggested establishing an experimental court at Shedd park even though in violation of the terms by which the city acquired the tract.

P. F. Sullivan said he was not opposed to the location of tennis courts in all parts of the city, but he did not believe Fort Hill a desirable place. He had followed its development for years. It was really a beauty spot. Placing a tennis court there would mar its beauty, he believed. He said that it was unfair to the people of Lowell to have Mr. Shedd's beautiful gift neglected as it has been. He said the park commission has never had money enough to do its work properly. He sincerely hoped that some other location besides Fort Hill should be chosen by the commission.

Miss Bawita Lawler, recreational director of the Girls' Community club, said that if there is no other place for the courts except at Fort Hill, she believed the artistic side of the question should be made secondary to the physical and moral results which would come from placing the courts there.

Harvey B. Greene, a member of the park commission, said that the impression that the park department had was incorrect, because much has already been done. The city council has appropriated $20,000 for the work and not a year has passed that the department itself has not spent from $1000 to $1500 a year on the tract of land.

The only place available for tennis at Shedd park is too secluded for young people. Courts could be placed at Fort Hill, he said, with very little blight to the park. The proper placing of shrubbery would do much to reduce any blight that might occur.

Mr. Goodell asked if the deed of gift by which the city acquired Shedd park provided for a skating rink. Mr. Weed replied that the deed provided for a pond in the summer and naturally when the water froze there was a skating rink in the winter.

Edward J. Gallagher asked if the plan of development formed any part of the deed of gift of Shedd park. Chairman Weed replied in the affirmative.

At 8:15 Chairman Weed declared the hearing closed and the park commission then went into executive session. It was voted to abandon the Fort Hill park location as a site for tennis courts and try the experiment at Shedd park.

It was voted to grant the petition of Jean B. Morin for the removal of three trees in Pawtucket street and that of Mrs. Ivy M. Nichols for the removal of two trees at 25 Hampshire street. Both petitioners are to bear the expense of the work. The commission voted to sell the portion of Onezimo Dumas for the removal of a tree at 51 Coburn street. The commission was referred to the tree committee.

The commission voted to sell the Fayette street school building now in the hands of the park department and have the area cleared for an open playground.

It was also voted to urge the city council to close Anne street and add it to Lucy Laron park, leaving a proper walk for the use of high school pupils.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

CHIP HAS A FEAST

Monday morning, instead of going to the Meadow Grove school where Mr. Scribble Scratch was putting lessons on the blackboard, where Nancy was making a new supply of dance caps, and where Nick was ringing the bell, what should Chip Chipmunk do but patter over to the beautiful buck-

He climbed over rocks and scrambled through gullies, and waded through little creeks, and, by and by, there he stood, right beside his beautiful buckwheat field, where the brown, white blossom heads were nodding with heavy sweet grain, and a few late buzzy-bees were droning about sucking

wheat field he had seen waving in the wind on the other side of Lily pond. Ever since Saturday, when he first smelled it at the picnic, Chip's mouth had been watering for it, for Chip loves buckwheat about as well as you love candy. If you'd see a whole field of caramels and lollipops and marshmallows and other delicious things waving at you and seeming to call out, "Come and taste me, little boy, or little girl," do you think you'd say, "No, no, kind sugar plums, I can't. I must go to school!"

Perhaps you might say it, but I do hope you'll never have to decide between a field of temptation and school, as Chip did.

Chip didn't lose a wing of time. He got busy at once snipping off the grains and stuffing out his pouchy little cheeks with the goodies. Soon his sleek little sides were stuffed pretty tight, and his tummy was as solid as a baseball, but he kept saying to himself, "Just one more nibble. Just one more nibble!" And he waded deeper and deeper into the field. Suddenly he heard a loud buzzing, a very loud one, and he looked up quickly at the waving grain tops high over his head. But he couldn't see anything but blossoms.

"My, that's a loud bee!" he thought. (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

Y. M. C. A. DORMITORY CLUB MEETING

Members of the Dormitory club of the Y.M.C.A. held their third meeting in the Y.M.C.A. building last evening, the session being followed by supper served by Mrs. H. K. During the business session routine business was transacted. Among those present were the following:

Messrs. Moberg, Rhodes, Garnet, Andromeda, Williams, Dumont, Peterson, Lovell, Dubois, Reddy, Buck, Wood, Livingston, Simard, MacGregor, Assistant Physical Director Sawyer, Dormitory Secretary Hopkins, Thompson, Hawthorne, Hall, Goodwin, Hoffman, Cobb, Industrial Secretary Hockman, Milburn, Chappee, Blodgett, Nicol, Conley, Calodikes, Pendleton, Telgas and General Secretary Howe.

AMENDMENTS ARE BEATEN IN N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—All of the seven proposed amendments to the state constitution offered to the voters for a referendum Tuesday were defeated by pluralities ranging from 3,000 to 20,000.

The amendments, summarized, were as follows:

Authorization of state income tax. Authorize legislation power to classify taxes on property passing by will or inheritance.

Authorize the governor to veto items in appropriation bills without vetoing the bill itself.

Authorize the house of representatives to be reduced by 100 members.

Authorize the removal from the constitution of the clause granting exemption from military service of those of conscientious scruples.

Authorize removal from the bill of rights of a provision discriminating in favor of Protestants and members of evangelistic churches.

THREE OF FAMILY PERISH IN FIRE

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 6.—Three members of a family lost their lives yesterday when a farmhouse in Smithville, near here, was destroyed by fire of mysterious origin. The dead are Mrs. William Jennings, Sr., 80 years old; her daughter, Miss Gladys Jennings, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Jennings, Jr. Two other members of the family escaped.

IMPORTANT QUESTION FOR LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—One of the important questions to be considered by the assembly of the League of Nations at its first meeting, beginning Nov. 15, at Geneva, will be the preparations required to enable the league to use, if necessary, the weapon of international economic and financial blockade contemplated in article XVI of the covenant.

A memorandum of Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general, now being distributed to the members of the league, and received here by the League to Enforce Peace shows that this question will come before the assembly on the recommendation of the league council in the form of a proposal to appoint a body to be known as the international blockade commission. The secretary-general suggests that this commission consist of representatives nominated by the countries entitled to permanent membership in the council, with the addition of representatives of four other members of the league selected by the assembly for the purpose of studying the problem and settling the general plan of action, the organization of the more permanent machinery required and the principles on which it should work.

This question is of peculiar interest to the United States, because one of the first problems such a commission would consider promises to be the method of rendering a blockade effective against states which are not members of the league. In a report adopted by the council of the league at the San Sebastian meeting in August, M. Tittoni, the Italian representative, stated: "It should be clear that the states members of the League of Nations who declare the blockade have the right to render it effective against all states, including those who are not members of the league, but they have not the right to force the states who do not form part of the league to declare the blockade themselves."

Article XVI provides that, should any member of the league resort to war in disregard of its covenants, all the other members shall "undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations," and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not; and that the members shall mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures taken under this article.

"Situations might well arise in which the knowledge that the weapon is ready for use would have a very salutary effect. Many people think that the league is founded more upon good intentions than upon a cool consideration of the stern realities of international trouble. It is, therefore, desirable on general grounds that while the first meetings of the council and the

WAS Alarmed Over Condition.
She Says, Mrs. Harris Suffered Constantly For Four Years—
Tanlac Restores Health.

"I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac, but it has relieved me entirely of a dreadful case of stomach trouble," said Mrs. Mary Harris, who resides at 736 Rogers street, Lowell, Mass., a few days ago.

"I had been a constant sufferer from indigestion for more than four years and at times had had such severe attacks I could hardly stand it. I didn't relish a thing I ate and, to tell the truth, I almost dreaded to eat, for I always had to suffer for it afterwards. There was an awful burning in my stomach and sometimes I felt it in my chest and even on up in my throat. I would bloat up dreadfully and become so short of breath that I was alarmed for fear I had heart trouble."

"I suffered a lot from constipation and every morning there was always a bad taste in my mouth. My complexion became pale and sallow and I was weak and thin and didn't have the energy to do my housework. It just seemed that there was no use trying to get any sleep for I rolled and tossed so bad that many nights I got out of bed and sat up the rest of the night."

"But my suffering is over with now, for Tanlac seemed to suit my case exactly and I feel perfectly well once now ever causes me a particle of trouble. My breathing is as free and easy as ever and I am no longer troubled with constipation. I sleep soundly, have gained several pounds in weight and just feel that I have unusual strength and energy. I am grateful for my good health and am only too glad to speak a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store, Merrimack square, under the personal direction of a special representative, and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

assembly should give the world the positive hope of removing misunderstanding and promoting international co-operation, they should also show quite clearly that the members of the league as a whole are determined, if necessary, to enforce their will by effective action on any particular country which in the circumstances contemplated by the covenant defies the general verdict of the world."

The memorandum calls attention to one important difference between the two forms of pressure (economic and military) which the league may use, as follows: "Where a member of the league resorts to war in disregard of specified covenants, all other members of the league are by the covenant itself specifically obliged to apply the economic weapon. They are not similarly obliged to use their military or naval forces. In the latter case, the Article (XVI) only provides that it shall be the duty of the council in such cases to recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military or naval forces they shall severally contribute."

The secretary-general is of the opinion that the article clearly contemplates that, so far as possible, "the responsibility for enforcing economic pressure shall be decentralized, i. e., a primary responsibility rests upon each government to take action so far as its own nationals and own national machinery are concerned, arrangements being made by each of them separately and not by a single international authority."

At the same time, he concludes that a central co-ordinating authority will be required if the weapon of economic pressure is to be efficiently used.

LATE EMPEROR'S ESTATE FOR PENSION FUND

VIENNA, Nov. 4.—The vast estates of the late Emperor Francis Joseph will be devoted to the pension fund of invalid soldiers under a decision just taken by the emperor's council. Certain castles and dwellings in this city and the nearby suburb of Baden will either be occupied by them or the fund will receive the rentals and other accretions.

Included in the arrangements are the splendid estates of Orth, Voessendorf, Miltenehofen, Fuggelsdorf, Augsdorf, Laxendorf, Ritzendorf and others. The decision also covering the Lainz Tiergarten, near Vienna, on which a group of some hundreds of former soldiers recently squatted.

The income of the Prater, Vienna's most famous suburban park with its numerous restaurants and amusement places is also included. Many of the estates contain model farms and others are under rentals of much value.

The late Emperor Francis Joseph, who died in 1916, bequeathed 60,000,000 crowns from his private fortune to a fund for wounded soldiers, invalids and relatives of men killed in the war. To two daughters and one grand-daughter he bequeathed 20,000,000 crowns each, the remaining 10,000,000 crowns of his estate to be divided among several other legatees.

It has since been reported that an American-Dutch company has bought the emperor's summer palace at Ischl, in the Tyrol, for hotel purposes. The hunting estates and lodges of the late emperor in the Tyrol were valued for sale in January last. Francis considered these the finest in Europe.

"ENJOYMENT TAX"

TOKIO, Nov. 5.—An "enjoyment tax" will be a feature next year of taxes to be levied by the city of Tokio. The duty is to be levied upon any expenditure exceeding three yen for enjoyment, whether it be spent on a garden party, peisha entertainment or any similar amusement.

Every household should have a jar of Resinol to heal skin troubles

Minor skin troubles—itching patches, bits of rash or redness—so easily develop into serious, stubborn affections, that every home-maker should have Resinol Ointment on hand to check them before they get the upper hand. We recommend Resinol for this with the utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients and its success in healing eczema and similar serious skin diseases.

Resinol Ointment is an excellent healing dressing, too, for chafes, burns and children's little sores. Doctors prescribe it. Sold by all druggists.

ENGLISHMAN WINS 1920 COIFFURE CONTEST

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Girls! Here's the latest in hair-dressing. Hair, under the deft fingers of Ernest Burr becomes the stuff that dreams are made of. Burr won an international contest among hair-dressers here for the most beautiful creation of 1920. Spanish comb play an important part in Burr's coiffure and his winning makes it sure that "hair will be worn high this season." He describes his creation as a modification of the style of 1890. The coil is placed high on the coiffure and light curls blended at the side. Picture shows Burr and his model with the winning coiffure, in his studio.

WHEN HENS START EGG EATING

Egg eating sometimes becomes a serious vice in a flock, the fowls becoming very fond of eggs when they have learned to eat them. The habit spreads from fowl to fowl and unless checked will often spread through the whole flock. Egg eating usually begins through accident by eggs being broken or frozen. See that the nests are properly supplied with straw or other nesting material and have them darkened, so that if an egg is accidentally broken the fowls will not be likely to discover it. Supply plenty of lime in the form of oyster shells, bone, or similar substances to insure a firm shell. As soon as it is discovered that a fowl has formed the habit, the fowl should be removed to prevent the spread of the vice. Once formed, it is difficult to eradicate, and the safest remedy is the death penalty, say poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

Fowls sometimes pluck feathers from themselves and from each other. This is often caused by too close confinement, by the presence of insect pests, or by improper feeding. When some of the fowls of a flock have formed the habit slightly, a wide range with a change of diet, including a plentiful supply of animal feed, and freedom from insect pests, will usually correct the evil. Above all, see that the fowls have plenty of inducement to exercise. If the habit becomes well formed it is very troublesome and may necessitate the killing of some of the fowls in order to stop it.

Only by continuous selection for health and vigor is it possible to build up a flock that will produce fertile eggs, strong chicks capable of making quick growth, and pullets with sufficient stamina to withstand the strain of heavy egg production. The appearance of a bird is not always a sure indication of its vigor, but appearance and action taken together are a fairly reliable guide for picking out vigorous birds, say poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

The comb, face and wattles should have a good, bright color; the eyes should be bright and fairly prominent, and the head should be fairly short, well curved beak and showing no tendency to be long, "snaky," or "crow-headed."

The bird should be alert and have a strong, vigorous carriage; the legs should be set well apart and strongly support the body, giving no indication of weakness or knock-kneed condition. The bone, as seen in the shank, should be strong and not too fine for the breed, while the toes should be strong, straight, and not too long. The plumage should be clean and smooth, as a lack of condition often accompanies soiled, ruffled plumage. The condition of flesh should be good, as a very thin bird is usually in poor health. Sick fowls, or fowls that have apparently recovered from sickness, should never be used for breeding if it can be avoided.

RESTAURANT MEN UNITE TO REDUCE PRICES OF FOOD

Hope to Save Public 15 Per Cent. in Costs by Eliminating Middlemen

New Yorkers who sit at restaurants often look forward—and not in a very far future—to the day when the price of food will be reduced. It is a long time since the price of food has been reduced. It is a long time since the price of food has been reduced. It is a long time since the price of food has been reduced.

This news item appeared recently in the "New York World"

"It tells what the restaurant men of New York HOPE to do, by eliminating the middleman."

Here's What the President of the P&Q Clothes Shops Has To Say ---

"WHAT they hope to do now, we have accomplished years ago, and are carrying it out successfully in our 40 stores to this day."

"SQUEEZING out the middleman, by making and selling direct to the wearer, has enabled us for years, to maintain the lowest known prices for a high standard of clothing quality."

Now We Go Further Than That!

"WE have reduced every Suit and Overcoat $10, sacrificing all profit, and in many cases sustaining a loss."

"WE are always the first to co-operate with any movement that tends to restore normal living conditions no matter how great our sacrifice, financially."

"THE public demands lower prices—very well! P&Q prices are now so low, that they will stand as an example of economy even at next years anticipated low prices!"

Hearing Before Special Commission on Question of Memorial to Veterans

An interesting public hearing was held last night in the Aldermanic chamber at city hall by the special commission appointed to consider the expediency of erecting a suitable memorial to Massachusetts veterans of the various wars. For some unaccountable reason the attendance was quite small and the commissioners present were particularly disappointed in the fact that no representative of the American Legion or any other organization representing veterans of the world war was present. Representatives of the Grand Army, the Sons of Veterans, Chairman John H. Harrington of the auditorium commission and Representative Henry Achin were the principal speakers to voice the public sentiment of Lowell on the subject under discussion.

Resolved, That a commission shall be appointed by the governor to consider the matter of the construction by the commonwealth of a memorial to those soldiers and sailors from this commonwealth who served the country in time of war. The commission shall consist of five persons, of whom one shall be a veteran of the Civil war, one a veteran of the Spanish war, and one a veteran of the world war. The commission shall consider and determine what form of memorial, in its judgment, should be undertaken, in what situation it should be placed, and what sum of money it should cost. The commission may give public hearings, if it deems such hearings expedient, and shall serve without compensation, but may expend such sums for its necessary expenses as shall be approved by the governor and council. The commission shall report to the next general court not later than Jan. 15th.

Commissioner J. Payson Bradley, chairman, and Charles R. Greco, assisted by Secretary Grover C. Hoyt, conducted the hearing. Chairman Bradley, in opening the meeting, explained the purpose of the hearing. He said that the commission was appointed by the governor to tour the principal cities of the state in regard to the erection of such a memorial and as to where it should be situated. He explained that the commission had held several hearings in Boston and had visited the western part of the state and leading cities. Some of the proposals in regard to the memorial, he said, were for parks, bridges, arches, an auditorium, and so on. The state memorial, he said, would be for the soldiers and sailors of the commonwealth who served the country in time of war at any time since its foundation.

Franklin S. Pevey

Franklin S. Pevey, commander Post 55, G.A.R., was the first speaker. He said he attended the hearing not as a representative of his post, but as a citizen, and that his expressions were simply his own opinions. He thought this matter had not with the opposition and that if the memorial would be placed in Boston, it would not be of much benefit to the people of the western part of the state. He thought that as long as most cities and towns in the state have memorials of their own and that Lowell is building an auditorium which will be equal to any in the state or country, he did not think that Lowell citizens should be asked to bear additional taxes for another large memorial.

Asked by the secretary as to whether he thought the state should have some kind of a war memorial, Commander Pevey stated that he thought it should, but that he did not believe it should be a building. He thought that Faneuil hall, Boston, was large enough at present to meet the needs of the various war organizations for conventions or encampment purposes. The chairman then explained that throughout the state opinion has crystallized in favor of a memorial auditorium which could be utilized for patriotic and educational purposes, for conventions and encampments. He said one proposal was for a huge arch over Tremont street which would bear the names of all war organizations since the founding of the state.

Dudley L. Page

D. L. Page, commander Post 42, G.A.R., favored the idea of a memorial building but believed that there was no suitable place in Boston for it except the common or public gardens. He said that Mrs. Page was a member of a woman's war organization and that she was in favor of the idea.

Richard Gibbons

Richard Gibbons, commander of the Spanish War Veterans, was heartily in favor of the plan of a memorial building, and believed that it should be in Boston. He questioned, however, the right of the Sons of Veterans and other such organizations to be represented in the memorial, because, he said, many of the members never were in a war. The chairman then explained that the Sons of Veterans stood for the same relation to the war veterans as the Sons of the American Revolution to the Revolutionary Fathers.

John H. Harrington

John H. Harrington, chairman of the auditorium commission, was introduced by Commissioner Bradley to take the place of Mayor Thompson, who was unable to be present.

Mr. Harrington said he did not feel that he could speak for His Honor, the mayor, on the various questions involved and, therefore, he would offer merely his own personal views.

Mr. Harrington gave an interesting account of the deliberations which resulted in the decision to erect a memorial building in this city. The subject was discussed at length by a committee of the board of trade, he said, and while some felt that a soldiers' and sailors' monument presenting a heroic group with a later would be appropriate as combining beauty of design and patriotic sentiment, yet such a memorial would serve no useful purpose. Other forms of memorial were considered such as the triumphal arch seen in Paris and other cities of Europe, and the public square named to commemorate some great patriot or hero, but these also lacked the element of public utility and so the committee finally decided upon a memorial building that would combine in a high degree beauty of design and public utility.

He said that he would not advise the erection of any memorial that did not have a utilitarian purpose. He said the state should erect a memorial building, that it should be a good one, that it should be in Boston and should have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 5000 or 6000 provided that the acoustic properties could be cared for.

He explained the plan and accommodations to be provided in the Lowell memorial auditorium and favored something similar on a larger scale for Boston. He said the hall of trophies feature of the Lowell building, offering facility for adding new memorials at any time, should be incorporated in the state auditorium. The French-American people of this city, he said, have already accumulated a sum to be used as a nucleus for the establishing of a memorial in the auditorium to the French American veterans of the wars and such illustrious men as Lafayette and Rochambeau, and that another organization has already mentioned the donation of an organ as a memorial to their members. If this donation were forthcoming, the commission would have money enough left to grade the grounds about the building.

He then explained the arrangement of the auditorium, showing that the region and Spanish War Veterans will be given the upper floor, the Red Cross and other women's organizations the middle floor, and the G.A.R. men the lower or first floor. As time goes on the World War Veterans will take the hall reached without climbing stairs. In closing, Mr. Harrington said that as a citizen and a taxpayer, he favored the erection of a state memorial building and said that it should be in Boston. He said he would never be satisfied until those to tighten up the purse strings of the state to prevent the erection of a memorial to those soldiers and sailors who stood up to be shot that he and the children who come after him might live in peace.

In reply to questions, Mr. Harrington said that the state auditorium should contain good dancing floors. He also favored the removal of all war relics and trophies from the state house to such a memorial auditorium. He said that $3,000,000 or $5,000,000 should not be considered extravagant for the building of a memorial auditorium. On a question by the secretary, Mr. Harrington said the memorial could be rented to cover expenses for convention purposes to other than war organizations, but that it was against the law to derive profit from such a memorial.

William L. Hickey of the G.A.R. and Sons of Veterans favored an auditorium which would be suitable for all purposes of war organizations and would perpetuate the memories of the protectors of our country. He defended the Sons of Veterans against the criticism offered by Mr. Gibbons.

Rep. Henry Achin

Rep. Henry Achin believed that the people would balk at the additional expense connected with the building of a state memorial. He said that if payment for the memorial would extend over a period of years and should be obtained in part from the people, then it would most likely receive concurrence from the legislature. He believed that everything possible should be done for war veterans, and that the state would not back out of any conservative or feasible proposal.

On a question by the commissioner, Representative Achin said he did not believe that the people would be willing to pay for the memorial by paying a higher poll tax of $3 for five or six years longer. The secretary explained that if the $3 poll tax were reduced to $2 instead of $3, then that would give the state $1,000,000 each year to pay for the memorial.

After the meeting Secretary Hoyt stated that the site proposed for such a memorial auditorium in Boston was the old Technology site on Boylston street. In the event of the legislature favoring the report of the commission for an auditorium, then it is likely that this place would be seized for the purpose.

HILARIO THEATRE

"Blackbirds," a Realist production with Miss Justice Johnson starring in the principal role, opened its three day engagement at the Hilario theatre yesterday afternoon. It will continue for today and tomorrow. The picture deals with the story of a clique of picture thieves who use a beautiful girl as the medium between them and society. A delightful love plot is interwoven in the story. In addition to "Blackbirds" the Hilario is showing Buck Jones in "The Square Shooter," a Chester comedy, "The Big Show," and the Fox news.

20,000,000 SUFFERING FROM FAMINE IN CHINA

PEKING, Nov. 5.—Relief work for the 20,000,000 estimated sufferers from famine in the four Chinese provinces where the crops failed this year has been undertaken energetically by both Chinese and foreign organizations. One of the latter is an American committee to raise and distribute famine funds which was organized on the initiative of the American minister, Charles H. Crane, and is headed by H. C. Faxon, of the American chamber of commerce in Peking. H. C. Faxon, a banker, recently of New York and Washington, was appointed treasurer of the American committee. The British and French committees will appoint similar committees. The Chinese minister of finance, agriculture, and interior, have appointed a commission to disburse $1,000,000 fund to be raised by means of a short term loan. From Shanghai comes news of another fund of $1,000,000 undertaken by seven provinces at the instigation of Tang Shao-yi, the chief southern peace delegate. Comprehensive reports submitted to the American relief committee indicate that the early reports of distress have not been exaggerated. Dr. P. F. Tucker, writing from Tientsin, Shantung, says: "Today an old man with a keen memory was describing conditions 42 years ago (when a memorable famine occurred) and he is quite sure that conditions are worse, for then, he said, there was a wheat crop just before the drought, which crop we have not had except in very limited areas."

Mrs. Edith C. Tallmon, missionary, says portions of Shantung and Chihli provinces are practically without any harvest. Even the trees had been stripped of their leaves for use as food. "From Tientsin to Lintsing (100 miles along the Grand canal in Shantung) not half the planted fields will give back the grain used to plant them," she writes. "One well-to-do farmer has already used all the produce from his ten acres and has sold the wadded garments that his family need for the winter. Another farmer near Lintsing has torn down some of his buildings in order to use the sorghum stalks of the thick roof for fuel."

"The selling of children is common," continues Mrs. Tallmon. "A fine little lad a year old was offered for $2 and none wanted him. A boy of five, whose mother had died of cholera and whose father was sick, was led by an old beggar woman. She has four boys of her own, but she said: 'I couldn't leave him; his father is trying to give him away and says if nobody will feed him he will have to throw him in the river.' Little children are found deserted in the streets and some have been rescued from the river. People are trying to make marriages for their daughters, even very young girls."

Another writer from the district southwest of Paochingfu, says: "As far as one can see in any direction there is nothing growing in the fields that can keep the people alive this winter. No one was working in the fields and almost no one travelling on the roads. The people have either left or are sitting in the villages conserving energy as much as possible."

FIGHT HOARDERS AND SPECULATORS

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 5.—The Argentine senate has undertaken to fight the hoarders and speculators in food, clothing, fuel and other necessities by placing the trade in such articles under the control of a government board with broad powers. A measure adopted by the senate would charge the proposed board with the duties of assuring an adequate supply, facilitating distribution and preventing hoarding.

RICHNESS IS KEYNOTE OF FALL WRAPS

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—May Thompson of the Century Promenade posed in this wrap which illustrates the sumptuous character of the wraps fashion has designed for the new fall and winter season. It is of suede velvet. Added to it is the gorgeous embroidery of silk and jewels all done in an applique design and in such a carefully calculated color scheme that the whole thing is like the exquisite changeableness of light and shadow playing in a bit of fine crystal. Of course, it is priceless, this wrap, but any wise dressmaker will see in it infinite possibilities for working it out in less expensive materials. The wrap itself is semi-circular.

ing and speculating against the common interest of the nation. The bill provides for the appointment of sectional boards throughout the country, empowered to buy and sell, provide warehousing facilities and means of distribution and to proceed against persons storing supplies in order to cause increased prices. If prices are too high, the board may recommend expropriation, which measure can then be taken by decree by the executive power of the nation. In cases of food hoarding or destruction for the purpose of increasing prices, the law provides fines and imprisonment up to $50,000 and two years respectively.

Further plans in connection with the K. of C. free service school were considered at a meeting of the committee in charge last evening. The number of students registered at present totals 365 with prospects of many more signing up. Real work and study will begin in earnest on Monday.

LAWS TO PROTECT NEWS WRITERS
VIENNA, Nov. 5.—By an act of the national assembly, the newspaper fraternity of Austria is given a special standing in its relation to employers. Members of the news departments of papers always have enjoyed the customary legal protection as regards notice of discharge, vacations and similar matters, but the new law sets them apart with unusual safeguards. The act covers editors, editorial writers, artists and reporters engaged on a fixed salary, but not persons to whom newspaper work is a secondary employment. Under its provisions the employer must be given a written agreement describing the nature of the work for which he is employed, amount of salary, allowance for special work and stipulations for repayment of expenses. It also provides for increased pay at intervals of five years up to the 60th year of age. One month's annual leave is guaranteed with pay and after 10 years, six weeks with pay. Three months' notice must be given of discharge and, after five years' continuous employment, one month addition for each year, with a maximum notice of one year. The employer is compelled to pay into a pension fund a minimum of 500 crowns a year for each employee. The details of the pension system are to be promulgated in the form of ordinances by the departments of education and interior. The provisions as applying to the sale of a newspaper are interesting. A new proprietor may within one month give notice to an editorial employee that he will not continue his employment, whereupon the latter is entitled not only to the pay of the period as above provided for, but, if he has served the former owner less than five years, also to one year's full pay and, if his service was for a period of between five and ten years, to pay for a year and a half. Should a new proprietor fail to give notice of discharge within 30 days the employee is entitled to one year's notice. Both the seller and buyer of a property are bound to guarantee the claims of editorial employees. In event of the suspension of a paper, six months' notice or an equivalent of salary are required. Should a paper alter the political policy the employee can claim the same privileges as if the paper had been sold. In case of dispute an arbitration court is provided for, two members being chosen by the parties affected, the fifth to be a member of the national assembly.

WILL LOSE THEIR JOBS

About 20 men employed on the cars of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway in Lowell district will lose their jobs tomorrow night. They will be discharged as a result of the introduction of additional one-man cars. Already 30 men have lost their places within a short time for the same reason.

Under the new arrangement all of the lines in the district, except that on Chelmsford street running to the city farm, and the line to Lawrence will have one-man cars placed on them. As a result of the new program not only will a number of men be forced out of work altogether, but some of the older employees, who have been operating on day runs, will have to accept transfer to night work, and some of those who have had regular runs will be placed on the "spare" list and be obliged to be content with such employment as they can get. The steady jobs will be parcelled out among the men who remain in the company's employ on the basis of seniority.

union states that on the North Chelmsford, Chelmsford Centre, Billerica and Reading lines 11 crews are now operating and that, taking both day and night work into account, this now furnishes work for 44 men. The number should be added to, he says, to include men employed on combination runs. A large part of these men, Mr. Powers claims, will be affected by the new arrangement.

Mr. Powers expressed doubt as to whether time schedules can be maintained over the Reading route, that covers 12 miles, with the one-man cars. President Powers and Secretary Joseph Shea of the local union were present at a meeting of the state legislative conference board in Fay hall in Boston Wednesday.

A report was received at the meeting from William B. Fitzgerald and P. J. O'Brien, vice presidents of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, and James H. Vakey, general counsel of the union, of the results of a conference with members of the Massachusetts public service commission.

The conference was held for the purpose of bringing to the attention of the commission the objection of the employees to operating double-truck operation cars that are not equipped with the same safety appliances as the single-truck cars. With the single-truck cars the hand of the motorman must be on the controller for it to continue in motion.

The lack of safety appliances on the larger cars had been made the subject of a protest and threat of a strike on the Fall River lines of the Eastern Massachusetts. It is stated that the Westford street line and the Lakeview avenue line are the only ones in Lowell on which the double-truck, one-man cars are now in use.

At the Boston conference it was reported that the public service commission has agreed to promulgate within a few days an order requiring the company to equip all of its cars with satisfactory safety devices.

It was voted at the meeting to endorse a bill submitted by the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor, to be presented to the next general court, opposing the operation of one-man cars.

The delegates at the meeting voted to levy an assessment on the members of 25 cents to be used in paying for legislative work in behalf of the union.

REGISTRATION FOR CITY PRIMARIES

Registration for Lowell men and women who wish to vote at the city primaries on November 23, but whose names have not yet been placed on the city's voting list, continued today at the office of the election commissioners at city hall. This afternoon's session continued from 2 to 4 and there will be another this evening from 7 to 9.

At yesterday's two sessions only 21 names were added to the list, 12 men and eight women. Registration by wards was as follows:

GERMANY'S TREASURY FACES HUGE DEFICIT

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—Germany's treasury faces a deficit of approximately 70,000,000,000 marks, Dr. Karl Helfferich, former vice chancellor, declared in the Reichstag today. He said that in the face of expenditures amounting to 100,000,000,000 marks the receipts would total 30,000,000,000. He declared it was impossible to vote the credits demanded for the inter-allied high commission in the Rhine territory and reproached the minister of finance, Dr. Wirth, for not having done anything to remedy the situation.

Dr. Wirth stated the cabinet had decided to introduce a bill providing for a "sacrifice tax," adding that the government would ask a credit of one billion marks to buy cereals abroad. He declared the financial difficulties of the German people could be solved "only if they could live."

ELIOT DECLARES LEAGUE WAS NOT REJECTED

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—That the result of the presidential election cannot be taken as a rejection of the League of Nations, and that a successful operation of the league would be beneficial to Ireland, was stated last evening by Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, in an address to the members of the Cleveland club of East Boston, in Forum hall. President

John J. Kearney presided. Dr. Eliot said that the very men who have been discussing the League of Nations have never really read it and digested the covenant, nor have they ever properly procured a real comprehensive view of the covenant. During the last 50 years, said Mr. Eliot, an era of great prosperity has been going on in our country and everybody has been exceedingly busy. So only paper headlines have been read, and this, he said, accounts for the lack of knowledge of the covenant.

"The American people will not read a long magazine or newspaper article. We have lost the habit of reading and learning and of listening and holding what we have heard. The election cannot be taken as a rejection of the League of Nations. But it is highly probable that such an assumption may be accepted. However, I believe that the only decisive conclusion is a great desire for a change. It is not possible to learn the real reasoning of the people regarding the League of Nations. Asked by Mr. Kearney what is Ireland's position without the league, Mr. Eliot said:

"Ireland, although a few hours from the English coast, with the possibility of submarine nests and air attacks, would never be given up by Great Britain. Ireland would be too dangerous from a military standpoint to be cut adrift by Great Britain; but with the League of Nations working suc-

Believes that this high cost of living period is so vitally affecting the private life of the community—as well as business, and as the comfort of a community depends largely upon the general economic conditions, it is the concern of the merchant to assist as much as possible in a readjustment, that is why we are reducing the purchasing costs to the public in the stores throughout New England bearing our name.

Our lowering of prices to the public to bring about a lower price level is Not Philanthropy, on the contrary the BROADWAY WHOLESALE MILLINERY CO. believes that it is to the advantage of every business to maintain public stability, and when such conditions arise as at present the business man should absorb the shock and leave the public normal. That is why we cancel our own profits until normal economic living prices reassert themselves, something which will soon be in evidence now that election is over—

U. S. GOVERNMENT READY TO RECOGNIZE MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Villa is now a peaceful citizen—here you see him at home in Durango, Mexico, with his two children. And when Villa's at peace, Mexico is generally peaceful. The United States government is greatly impressed with the success and policies of the new Obregon government, and recognition was virtually promised by the state department in a statement. This statement was issued shortly after George Creel, head of the U. S. committee on public information, during the war, returned from a mission to Mexico and reported to President Wilson. The photo of Creel on the left was snapped as he was leaving the White House.

Farm conditions in the south can be improved by the use of a greater variety of crops and definite systems of crop rotation and by the keeping of a greater number of live stock, according to specialists of the United States department of agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1119 recently issued and now available for distribution. A rational crop rotation in the south is one which occupies the land practically the entire year, protecting the soil from washing during the winter by the use of a growing crop, such as crimson clover, vetch, or grain. Increasing the number of live stock requires the production of more grain for feeding. Fall-sown grains combine the two essential features, grain production and soil cover, in one crop. To some extent they also supply a third desirable feature, winter pasturage.

The advantages of fall seeding of oats over spring seeding wherever the fall-sown varieties can be grown are numerous. The yields are usually better, the fall-sown oats mature earlier, the land can usually be prepared in better shape in the fall than in the spring, fall seeding interferes less with other work than does spring seeding, poorer land and less fertilizer can be used for the fall-sown crop, and the fall-sown crop furnishes a cover for the soil during the winter and prevents washing.

Fall oats almost invariably yield more than spring oats, owing to their earlier maturity, stronger growth, and greater freedom from disease. If a part of the stand is lost from winter-killing, the plants which are left stand vigorously, so that the stand at harvest is often much better than was apparent in early spring. Fall-sown oats usually grow more vigorously and mature from 10 days to 2 weeks earlier than those sown in the spring. This earlier maturity often marks the difference between success and failure, as the later maturing grain is more likely to be injured by storms or drought and by rust and other plant diseases. Oats require comparatively cool weather for their best growth, so that those which mature earliest usually yield best, as the conditions are better suited to their development. The early maturity incident to fall seeding also allows the crop to be removed from the land earlier than spring seeding, giving more time for the preparation of the soil, seeding, and the growth of the following crop.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—Former Boy Scouts in Spain have decided to inaugurate a campaign throughout the country to combat the prevalent illiteracy. The resolution founding a society just formed for that purpose says: "We consider the existence in Spain of 50 per cent. of the population who can neither read nor write constitutes a veritable scandal for the nation. After carefully analyzing the problem, we have reached the conclusion that a medium of goodwill on the part of the governing classes would be sufficient to solve it."

The society resolved to form free classes in every big city where boys will be given instruction in the elements of reading, writing and arithmetic. Later similar classes are to be started for adults of both sexes. The teachers will be chosen from volunteers among educated people and the society hopes to enlist the services also of professional teachers from the national schools to give instruction in the evening.

PARDON FOR GRAHAM

Vermont Ex-Governor Freed
Two Hours After Being
Sentenced

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 5.—Two hours after the Vermont supreme court yesterday sentenced Horace P. Graham, former state auditor and governor, to serve not less than five years and not more than eight years at hard labor in the state prison at Windsor for embezzlement and larceny of state funds while auditor of accounts, Gov. Percival W. Clement issued an unconditional pardon and restored to him full citizenship.

The court also sentenced the ex-governor to pay the costs of prosecution, which may amount to several thousand dollars, but a question arises whether the jail sentence does not vitiate the imposition of costs and the respondent may not be called on to pay even these. Immediately after issuing the pardon Gov. Clement issued this statement: "On account of the distinguished service of Gov. Graham to the state of Vermont and the suffering which he has endured, I feel that he has been punished enough, and have issued to him a full pardon."

Mr. Graham had no statement to make beyond expressing satisfaction at the course of events last night. He had more cheerfulness in his smile than he has evidenced for two years.

Events Moved Quickly

Events transpired with such rapidity yesterday that one of the most famous cases in the state's history was closed in a period of four hours. Gov. Clement, who accepted his constitutional right of clemency, was Mr. Graham's successor in office and will himself retire from the governorship two months from now. The full bench of the supreme court, all personal friends and past admirers of Mr. Graham, passed sentence and this term is the last before January by which time Gov. Clement would be out of office. Gov. Clement's sympathies have been with Graham from the start and when early proceedings were in progress, it was reported that he had asked the attorney general why he did not drop the case.

Mr. Graham was accompanied by his counsel, Hale K. Darling, when he entered the supreme court room at 9 yesterday morning, and a half hour later his counsel gave notice that the respondent waived his exceptions and withdrew his plea for a new trial. In his argument on the question of sentence, Mr. Darling said his client made no appeal for sympathy, but thought his service to the state should be given consideration. Mr. Darling said the defense, on reviewing the exceptions taken, was satisfied it had only one of value and that perhaps doubtful.

Atty. Gen. Archibald made no recommendations on sentence beyond saying that punishment should fit such a crime committed by a person who filled a position of trust.

A half-hour after his sentence Mr. Graham was escorted with Gov. Clement and left his room with the pardon.

Reviews Graham's Services

Gov. Clement, in a letter to Mr. Graham, reviewed the latter's services to the state, quoting reports of auditors which praised Graham's conduct of the office of state auditor and the many new and improved methods he introduced. The letter called attention to the fact that the balance due from Mr. Graham had been paid, all of which it said had a bearing on the intent.

"Your services to the state during the two years of your governorship were second to those of no other governor since the days of Thomas Chittenden," read the communication.

Gov. Graham was indicted two years ago by the grand jury for Washington county for larceny and embezzlement of state funds while auditor of accounts for 12 years, totalling more than $20,000. He was convicted on Feb. 5 last and the case passed to the supreme court on exceptions.

Since the case was tried Rufus G. Brown, one of his attorneys, has died, and other, W. B. C. Stickney, has been called to Africa, leaving only the junior counsel, Mr. Darling, to handle the case yesterday. The pardon was signed before the mittimus was issued, and while the court turned the respondent over to the custody of the sheriff, he was technically under restraint less than two hours and at no time in jail.

All new members who have joined the Y.M.C.A. since October 20 will be entertained at supper in the association by the directors of the organization. The first supper will be served this evening to the boys of the high school division and the supper for the employed boys and members of the junior division will be held on Saturday and Tuesday evenings respectively.

The speaker will be the speaker and for the juniors' supper the speaker has yet to be chosen. The boys who will attend the supper tonight and the members who got them to join the "Y" are: Walter Twarog, brought in by Garabed Marigian; Ivan Burns by Ralph Wilson and Osborne Simmons. The employed boys are: Leonard Cummings, brought in by Ashton Vaughn;

To Give the Hair a

Naturally Wavy Effect

Ever since the virtues of the stimulating hair-curling method first became known in this country, druggists here have been having a really extraordinary demand for liquid stimmerine. Its effectiveness, its convenience and its entire harmlessness doubtless have been responsible for its increasing use among well groomed women.

One need only apply a little of the liquid with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair and the tresses will have a beautiful wavy and glossy appearance which bears no marks of artificiality. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. There is no discoloration, no sticky, sticky or other unpleasant feature. Liquid stimmerine is also an aid in shaping "ear muffs" and in keeping them in place over the ears.—Adv.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Earman (double strength), and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged eustachian should open, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone suffering hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS

In view of the vast number of auto accidents, the legislature of next year will probably have to enact measures to offer the public greater protection on the highways.

Already this paper has suggested that before any applicant is licensed to operate a car, he should have the endorsement of the chief of police of his city or town as a guarantee of good character. That would at least prevent drunkards and convicted criminals from securing licenses.

Another matter that is bound to come up for consideration sooner or later is the financial responsibility of the driver or owner of a car for any injury to person or property resulting from its operation on the highways.

Hundreds of people who have been run down and injured by reckless drivers found on investigation that the parties to blame for the accidents were wholly irresponsible financially. In a recent collision of automobiles in this city, a valuable car was damaged to the extent of $1500 and when the owner sought compensation from the party who owned the other auto, he found him not worth a dollar and that even the car was heavily mortgaged.

It thus appears that a man who has no property and who carries no liability insurance can go out on the streets and highways and drive about in the most reckless manner, conscious that if he crashes into another car, nobody can recover damages from him.

The time may come when the use of the highways may be denied to the autoist who does not either own a certain amount of property or else carry a reasonable amount of liability insurance.

If a responsible party accidentally damages a car belonging to an inconspicuous individual he will be compelled to pay. It is only fair to hold all parties responsible financially and otherwise for whatever harm they may cause to others in using motor vehicles on the public highways.

THE G.O.P. VICTORY

The republican sweep seems to grow as the days pass. Even Champ Clark of Missouri, ex-speaker of the national house went down with the general landslide.

This defeat is the most complete ever sustained by the democratic party, but since it was brought about mainly by democratic votes, that party is not likely to go into mourning for any great length of time.

The republicans will have such absolute control of the government that there will be no divided responsibility and no excuse for any failure to carry out the party pledges.

Already Senator Lodge has outlined a program of legislation included in which are several important features that were urged by the democratic administration and sternly opposed by a republican congress.

After assuming control of the government, the republicans can no longer turn such great problems aside. They will have to grapple with them as best they can to promote the progress and prosperity of the nation.

Somehow, the nation expects great achievement from the party selected to manage the nation's business for the next four years. There will be railroad, labor, commercial taxation and other economic questions to settle, many of them growing out of the war, and all closely connected with the progress of the country.

At present the system of taxation is being heavily upon the industries of the nation and must be revised in the interests of justice and enterprise.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

Better feeling between the United States and Mexico grows apace daily.

The visit of President-elect Obregon of Mexico, and a large party of his fellow countrymen to the Texas state fair at Dallas recently did wonders to promote mutual friendship between the two great North American republics.

It also helped to promote mutually profitable trade.

This achievement is noteworthy, because Texans and Mexicans have not always loved each other.

Now leading business men of Dallas, the commercial capital of the great southwest, are planning to return the courtesy of Obregon by going in a special train to Mexico City for his inauguration, Dec. 1.

Texas is sure to send a splendid delegation.

But Texas isn't selfish in its serious effort to pave the way for renewed confidence, peace and prosperity below the silvery Rio Grande. Sponsors of this return visit to Mexico have invited other states and business groups to help swell the ranks of ambassadors of good-will who will soon be Mexico bound.

This invitation should be, and no doubt will be, accepted in fine spirit by citizens from all border states and by Chicago and Mississippi Valley business interests who did so much through trips to Mexico in the spring of 1919 to lay the foundation for better feeling and constantly increasing trade with our sister republic.

It is not unlikely that our state department will soon decide to recognize Mexico as there is no good excuse for withholding that courtesy any longer. It will do this country perhaps more harm than Mexico to be too fastidious in resuming diplomatic relations with our sister republic.

BRANCH LIBRARIES

It should not require any argument to convince reasonable men and women that the Lowell city library is one of the most important adjuncts of our educational system. In any large view of the purpose of the schools, that includes something more than the training ing of boys and girls to earn a livelihood, familiarity with literature must form a prominent part.

In the city library is a collection of volumes of the greatest value. With these books in their homes the young people of the city can spend hours in the company of the greatest minds of the ages.

It is unfortunate, though, that the library is located at such a distance from many homes, that it is impossible for residents to make as large use of it as they probably would like to. To visit the library and secure a book requires the best part of an evening for many people, and the trip is not always one that books pleasant in prospect at the end of a long day's work. For children, the journey on foot is almost out of the question, and many parents, having in mind the dangers of the vehicle-filled streets, very properly refuse to permit the youngsters to journey to the library.

It is realized, of course, that the city is faced with many demands for the expenditure of money. It would seem, though, that the library trustees and members of the municipal council might wisely take minor consideration the question whether or not an appropriation could not be spared for carrying out the establishment of branch libraries in parts of the city where the books could be more readily available. Failing in this, it might be possible to arrange for some system by which card holders could hand in their cards at district agencies and then have these gathered up and the books called for delivered by the library agents.

The city library is of value to the city only to the extent that its books are used. The volumes lying year in and year out untouched in the stacks might as well be sunk in the Merrimack river as far as any practical worth is concerned. It is only by getting the books into the hands of readers that the expense of maintaining the city library can be justified at all.

The defeat of Governor Smith in New York, together with the greater part of the democratic state ticket, has emphasized the republican victory in one of the leading strongholds of democracy. Although the vote was close, the defeat of Smith came as a surprise as the early returns seemed to indicate his election.

The daylight saving has proved so beneficial to the people of those states in which it was adopted that it should be made a national law for seven months of the year. Here in New England it is especially useful in causing people to get about their business earlier and thus avoiding work by artificial light.

The election of Governor Coolidge as vice-president has brought him congratulations from his friends in every part of the country. If there had been no police strike in Boston, the governor's name would probably never have been mentioned as a candidate either for president or vice-president.

The city of Boston is not easily induced to favor new schemes submitted on a referendum. The voters have just rejected the two platoon system for firemen and the proposition to extend the membership of the city council from nine to fifteen. Under other conditions both might have been adopted.

Eight people were killed in Cuba in election day. Up here we only stay pre-election hopes when we hear of such a thing. We have progressed a little farther in the school of self-government than has our southern neighbor.

The Boston Globe incidentally sheds some light on what happens to the president-elect by telling us that Calvin is the fourth Massachusetts man to fill the office. Can anyone tell who the others were?

Even the G.O.P. leaders are beginning to show evidences of conversion to the belief that the dynamic force of succession to the governorship should be smashed. So much Mr. Alvan T. Fuller has accomplished.

We can be sure of one thing and that is that the Friday hoodoo will prove potent for either the Lowell high or Woburn high plebskin warriors as they meet on the gridiron today.

A Lowell parent-teachers' association has been listening to an address on "The Diet of the School Child." Wonder if any reference was made to chewing gum?

The western professor of psychology who says that men and women do not differ much in ability, probably never saw a woman undertake to throw a stone.

Now Mr. Harding faces the task of trying to multiply the horses and fishes to appease the hunger of a multitude of ravenous patriots seeking for jobs.

When all is said and done, it is the proper management of municipal affairs that concerns us most intimately—register for the city election.

Victor Berger says it was the women who defeated him for congress. That ought to reconcile even the last wavering opponent to suffrage.

The double platoon system for Boston firemen seems to have collided with the voters' double cross.

It seems to be a long, long way to a share in deposits of county treasury funds for Lowell banks.

"Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith," but failed in New York.

Moonslime is said to be quite good for removing stains from clothing.

The saddest blow of all—the defeat of the old Roman, Champ Clark.

"Truth crushed to earth shall rise again."

SEEN AND HEARD

One woman voter in precinct three of ward five blew out the candle in the polling booth after marking her ballot.

It may be an argument for or against, but free verse is harder to memorize than rhymes.

If overhead makes shoes high may be hats are costly because of the underfoot.

Esperanto as a language may not amount to much, but as a beat-sore boat.

President Wilson joins the great army of house-hunters.

Lucky a certain Chicago policeman isn't bald. A pocket-comb protected a bullet and saved his life.

Day Breeding

Idle thoughts as one stands on a street corner and watches the passing throng. I wonder what the folks that follow is smiling about. Gee, it must be tough to have to walk with a pair of crutches. And yet that fellow doesn't seem to think so. Blee why does he look so cheerful? I'll bet that fellow knows more business than the average business man. Gee, but that is a cute little youngster. Wish I had a couple of my own. You'd never think so many people bowed down to the common drinking fountain. I wonder if that old bird is married. And is that his daughter or somebody else's with him? It's a wonder to me more people aren't killed by autos and street cars the way they absent-mindedly cross the streets.

Suck In Life

Wonder what has, or what will be, of the fancy glasses which used to contain the beverages which sizzled and bubbled. When you stop to consider the number of fancy drinks folks used to sip and the various sorts of glasses we used—one for each variety of sip—there must be a lot of them stored away somewhere. Why not again put them into play something like this: When you serve lemonade use one of the long-stemmed champagne goblets. Then the little lemon seed will get stuck down in the slender portion and it will be much harder to wash. And who knows, maybe you'll have to break the glass to get the seed out. In serving tea apply the old-time beer mug. Then your neighbors won't be passing their cups back so often. When you serve soda and warm water to the stomachache youngster, use a port wine glass. Then he'll only have to take about half of the dose. The rest will run over on your tablecloth. Horse Neck glasses would make nice moulds for cornstarch pudding. And how about cocktail mugs for pin trays. Blown glass is correct—these glasses have "blown for keeps."

First Frost

(Copyright 1920, N.E.A.)
When Summer surrenders
And Autumn's lost sign
Are hung to the winds in the haste
Of retreat,
When Winter advances
His keen-pointed lances
And summons the world to his conquering feet.

O, then as I flout him,
And flout him and taunt him,
And laugh at his bluster and welcome his weather,
My warm spirit brightens
The air which he whittens,
As my breath and Winter's breath
Battle together.

O, sing me on number
Of sybarite slumber
Of soft-scented ease at its languorous flood,
But send me that tingle
When fire and frost mingle
And the tart tang of Winter sinks Into my bones.

—EDMUND VANCE COOKE

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I note with pleasure the return of the long absent sugar bowl to the tables in a number of our downtown restaurants. This is one of the most substantial indications that sugar has once more become plentiful and the price within reach of the ordinary pocketbook. No longer will the quick-luncher have to depend on the generosity of the man behind the counter who pours out his coffee; he can go straight to the bowl himself now and make sure his beverage is sweetened to suit his own taste. No longer is the one-spoonful rule in effect. Many of the patrons of the local lunch-rooms are not aware that the sugar receptacles have been replaced on the tables, thinking that the sweetening is still being doled out by the man behind the counter. The result is that many of them make wry faces when they first sip their cup of coffee or tea and find it insipid. First they look puzzled, then they frown, the bringing sugar bowl and in a few seconds the deficiency has been remedied.

I was walking along Middlesex street a day or two ago when I came upon a lady and a child and resting in the middle of the sidewalk and the other against a building. A painter was at work at the top. Almost unconsciously I dodged out toward the edge to avoid passing under the obstruction. The old superstition regarding the bad luck that falls to the lot of people who walk under ladders popped into my mind, and almost involuntarily I had been led to side-step the taking of any chances with fate. Then I thought I would like to find out how many other people there might be who are also swayed by the ancient ladder superstition. Of about twenty persons that passed, only three had the courage to walk straight ahead under the ladder as though it were not there. For some it was not directly in their path and they would have had to make a deliberate detour to pass under it. At least half a dozen, though, evidently had the old superstition in mind and carefully avoided taking any chances with the hoodoo. It is curious how these ancient superstitions survive and we are swayed by them even while we profess to be absolutely without faith in their potency. The other day I saw one of the dignified and solid citizens of Lowell walking along Middlesex street with a monster horseshoe in his hand. He had picked it up in the street. He grinned rather sheepishly and replied that he did not know what he intended to do with it when asked regarding the disposition that he intended to make of his acquisition. How many of us are there who would pass by a horseshoe lying in the street? When you find one, though, be sure to hang it up with the toe pointing down, otherwise the luck charm will not work.

Mother Reports

Baby's Recovery

The Following Letter Tells Its Own Story That Will Be Read by Many an Anxious Mother:

Dear Sir:—I cannot praise too highly your wonderful Sister Mary's Compound; my little boy for almost a year had a racking, very painful cough. Physicians here stated that it was an incipient tubercular cough. Behind his ear he had what was diagnosed as a tubercular sore. The poor child wasted away to almost a thread. Since giving him your Compound he has gained rapidly; the cough is entirely gone and the sore has healed all up. To your Compound, I owe his life; it is wonderful. I cannot praise it too highly. Mrs. Joseph Hannon, 9 Decatur St., Charlestown, Mass.

This Preparation is an ETHICAL combination representing the THERAPEUTIC VALUE and MEDICINAL PROPERTIES of Chocoma, Sulphur and Cream of Tartar, associated with Honey, Syrup, Glycerine and Vegetable Anti-septic Aromatics. For Coughs, Colics and all symptoms like loss of weight, tired feeling, constant headaches and anything indicating loss of strength and decreased vitality, start taking Sister Mary's Compound. AT ONCE, NOTHING should ever be accepted in its place. ALL drug stores carry SISTER MARY'S COMPOUND.—Adv.

LOUISE I. GUINEY DEAD

Noted Writer, Niece of Late William Guiney, Died in London

Louise Imogen Guiney, well known as a poet and essayist, died on Tuesday at Chipping Campden, London.

Miss Louise Imogen Guiney, daughter of a distinguished lawyer as well as a soldier of the Union army in the Civil war, Gen. P. R. Guiney, once commander of the 9th Massachusetts, was born in Boston, Jan. 17, 1851, of Irish and French ancestry. She was a niece of the late William Guiney, whose place of business was at the corner of Broadway and Willie street. While residing in Boston and Cambridge she was a frequent visitor in Lowell and on several occasions she read selections from her writings to select gatherings of her friends.

She was educated at public and private schools and at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Providence, and made a special study of English literature. She began to write poetry that was highly commended while still a girl and some of it was published in leading magazines. When she was 23 her first volume, entitled "Songs at the Start," was published in Boston. For several years thereafter she published annually a volume either of poems or of prose. One of them was "Brownies and Boggies," a book of fairy lore.

In 1889 with her mother she visited Europe and soon afterward published an account of her observations and impressions in various countries.

In 1891, the fact of her being the daughter of a Civil war veteran gained her the appointment from President Cleveland as postmistress at Auburn-dale, where she and her mother were then living. During the early months of her occupancy of the office it was boycotted by members of the A.P.A. on account of her ancestry. The news spreading broadcast resulted in such a flood of orders for stamps from all over the country that the office receipts were very heavily increased.

She gave up the postoffice in 1897 and visited Great Britain and her lectures on Irish subjects which she gave in Ireland were liberally patronized and highly praised by the press of that country. During the last 20 years she had lived much in England, carrying on research work at Oxford and in the British Museum in connection with her essays and other literary productions.

She was a very voluminous writer and her works embrace a great variety of subjects in prose and poetry, fiction, essays, travel, literary criticism and research. She was a frequent contributor to the Atlantic and other magazines.

Among her best known works are "Goosequill Papers," "Robert Emmet," "A Little English Gallery," and an edition of the selected poems of James Clarence Mangan with critical estimate of their worth.

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'—Mrs. Wm. Stein, 500 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. EAT and Get Thin

This is turning an old saying face about, but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overweight, opposed to physical exertion, fond of the table and its good things, and will want to reduce your excess flesh, secret recipe, go to your druggist (or write to the Marmola Co., 50 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) one dollar, thus insuring your ambition for a trim, slim figure, by receipting for a box of Marmola's Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription); take one of these pleasant candy tablets after each meal and at bedtime, and you will lose your fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week.

Then continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire. Marmola's Prescription Tablets are not only harmless but really beneficial to the general health. You don't need starvation diet or sweating excess. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt you will find behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

JAPAN READY TO MAKE PROTEST

Will Act Upon Confirmation
of California's Vote on Land Law

Will Point Out That the Measure Conflicts With
Treaty Rights

TOKIO, Nov. 4. (By Associated Press.)—When confirmation has been received that the people of California have voted in favor of the proposed land law in that state, Japan will lodge a protest in Washington, pointing out the measure conflicts with Japanese treaty rights, according to the Yozoru Choho, an independent organ, which quotes a foreign office official to this effect. Formal negotiations, the newspaper says, will follow and an agreement permanently removing the cause of the trouble may be expected to be reached.

The Heichi Shimbun reports that M. Shidehara, Japanese ambassador in Washington and Secretary of State Coby have reached an agreement by which Japan will stop immigration to the United States, in return for which America will accord Japanese now in America the same treatment as other foreigners.

Marquis Okuma, former premier, interviewed by the Yozoru Choho, declares that "only thoughtless people have talked of war between Japan and America over California."

"If Japan fights with arguments of dignity and impartiality," he is quoted as saying, "Americans will act justly."

The defeat of Gov. Cox is attributed by Marquis Okuma to the League of Nations, which he declares "even democrats dislike." He does not anticipate the republican administration will raise the tariff, owing to economic difficulties.

AUTOMOBILE HITS FARM WAGON

An automobile driven by Carl Ecklund of Mammoth road going to Malden by way of High street this morning struck a farm wagon coming out of Sherman street, breaking the windshield of the automobile and damaging a mudguard and also smashing a shaft of the wagon. The wagon was being driven by Daniel Maca of Tewksbury. No one was injured.

A motorcycle driven by Alfred Newell of South Portland, Me., and an auto truck owned by T. Campbell of Hurley street, Cambridge, but driven by John V. Moynan of Zeigler street, Roxbury, collided on Gorham street. The cycle was slightly damaged, but the occupants of either vehicle were not injured.

HONOR PRES. WILSON

Makes First Public Appearance in Year—Greeted by Serenaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Wilson made his first public appearance last night in more than a year when he was lifted in his wheel chair to the east portico of the White House while hundreds of Washington League of Nations adherents gathered on the White House lawn to do him honor. The crowd of men, women and children bearing state banners and the national flag, under the leadership of John F. Costello, democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia, assembled at 8 p. m., and marched to the White House where the gates were open to the public for the first time since the beginning of the war. As the president was lifted in his wheel chair up the steps from the interior of the White House leading to the east portico, the crowd on the terrace below broke into applause and joined in the singing of "America."

ARNSTEIN PLEADS NOT GUILTY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Julius W. (Nickey) Arnstein entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned today before Justice Gould of the District of Columbia supreme court on an indictment charging him and others with conspiring to bring stolen securities into the district from New York. He reserved the right to withdraw his plea within a week, and to make such other motions as he might decide upon.

David W. Sullivan and Wilfrid W. Easterday, Washington brokers, named with Arnstein in the indictment, were arraigned with him today and also entered pleas of not guilty. Both are at liberty on bond.

WILL CONTESTED

The will of Mrs. Julia Beattie of Lawrence, which is now being contested in the superior court in that city by her sister, made bequests as follows: To her brother, Daniel Cronin, all the money standing in his name and her name in the Essex Savings bank and property on Valley street, Lawrence, with the stipulation that if he should die that it be sold and that the money received from the sale be divided among the following: Katherine Wholley, daughter of her nephew, Michael Wholley, $500; John Wholley, nephew, $500; Dennis and Timothy O'Leary of Portsmouth, $250 each, and Dennis O'Leary of Cambridge, $100, and Michael O'Leary of Cambridge, $500. The rest and residue of the estate, it was willed, should go to Hannah Hayes of this city. Mrs. Nora Wholley, sister of the deceased, who was left nothing by the will, is now contesting it, alleging that the late Mrs. Beattie was of unsound mind and that the will was not properly executed. The hearing opened Wednesday morning.

CHALLENGE ISSUED

The Spinners of the Appleton mill bowling league challenge any mill team in the city for a contest to be rolled in the Middlesex alleys any night of the week. Challenges should be made through this paper.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST MEN ARRESTED HERE

Three men arrested in Lowell, have been indicted by the Middlesex county grand jury, which reported to Justice Cox at the superior court sitting in East Cambridge, this morning. The men indicted are Norman E. Welch and John J. Moroney, against whom a true bill has been returned for robbery, and Philip London, against whom true bills have been returned in nine indictments of breaking and entering and larceny. Welch and Moroney, it is alleged, held up Willis H. Bean of this city on October 3, and relieved him of $60 in cash and a Liberty bond coupon. The indictments against London are as follows: June 25, breaking and entering the home of Louise Daniels and the larceny therefrom of a watch chain and ring; September 24, breaking and entering the home of Louise Daniels and larceny therefrom of a dress and suit case; September 24, breaking and entering the home of Meador Rousseau and the larceny of a micrometer calliper and two tool chests; June 24, breaking and entering the home of Thomas T.

PHILIP LONDON

O'Rourke and the larceny of a gold watch, suit of clothes and bag; June 25, breaking and entering the home of Beattie Kenney and the larceny of a watch, bag and necklace; June 25, breaking and entering the home of Harry Harding and the larceny of a pair of field glasses, a pair of cuff links and $75 in cash; August 12, breaking and entering the home of Dorat Vincent and the larceny of a coat; August 12, breaking and entering the home of Alice Benric and the larceny of two fur pieces, a coat and phonograph; October 5, breaking and entering the home of Walter Deschamps and the larceny of a watch and a coat.

London pleaded not guilty in most of the cases, while in some of them he pleaded guilty of receiving stolen goods. He was held in the sum of $2500 for his appearance in superior court at East Cambridge, next Monday.

Chester Suits Everybody

Chester blazes the trail to LOWER prices!

Men's clothing NOW at next season's prices One-third less than 2 months ago.

THE chain of CHESTER CLOTHES Shops throughout the United States have long been famous for their high quality men's clothing at low prices.

War conditions forced us to constantly increase our prices, in order to keep the quality up to the Chester standard. And this Fall, instead of lowering this standard to procure lower prices, we have actually insisted on higher grade fabrics and workmanship.

Woolen mills and clothing manufacturers have announced reductions to take effect NEXT SPRING. We say not next Spring, but NOW! NOW!

Our Prices YESTERDAY were $30 to $75

Our Revised Prices TO-DAY are $21⁷⁵ to $52⁷⁵

Note the difference—and save the difference!
Every Suit and Overcoat in the store REDUCED without any exceptions!
We have smashed prices to rock-bottom levels!

We don't resort to half-measures—the Chester Clothes Shops never did anything in a half-hearted fashion.

We're not going to "bunch" values and let the best judge get the best values—we're not going to advertise "values up to—" and then quote the former price $20 higher than the reduced sale price.

Our Plan is STARTLING and ORIGINAL

We have marked with RED INK on the original sleeve tickets the EXACT COST of manufacture of every garment in the store without one penny of profit attached! We will sacrifice any thought of profit this season, in order to retain our large clientele of men and young men, as well as add new satisfied customers.

Now is the time to buy your Fall Suit and Overcoat AT COST!

To Build Million Dollar Cathedral

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 5.—Announcement that funds were being collected for the erection of a million dollar cathedral for the Altoona diocese was made here today by the Rt. Rev. Bishop John J. McCort. It will be known as the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament.

MICHIGAN APPROVES

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

(From New York World)
DETROIT, Nov. 5.—The constitutional amendment to abolish parochial schools in Michigan met with a crushing defeat. From first to last the returns maintained a vote of nearly two to one against the measure.
In 2,016 of the 2,781 precincts of the state, the vote stands: For the amendment 355,631; against, amendment 592,919.
The Thumb district developed strongly for the amendment, due to the fact that this district is a stronghold of Orange lodges. In probably a dozen counties the amendment carried. In Wayne county, the vote against the amendment fell far below the expectations of the opponents of the amendment. The vote stood in round numbers, complete, 178,000 to 94,000 against. "We are very grateful for the overwhelming defeat of the anti-parochial school amendment," said the Right Rev. St. J. Gallagher, Bishop of Detroit. Bishop Gallagher referred to the proposed amendment as evidence of the basest kind of despotism. He asserted that to defeat it between $300,000 and $500,000 had been spent.
It took Magellan 31 days to sail through the 325-mile length of the strait hearing his name.
The Medalite Militaire, the highest military distinction in France, was created in 1852.

SILENT AT WHITE HOUSE

Wilson Calls in Creel—

Much Speculation on Harding's Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Washington is still too busy taking stock after the republican landslide of Tuesday to permit any serious discussion of what its list of nominees for the United States after March 4. There is much idle gossip but a veritable dearth of any intelligent prediction from republican leaders now in the capital, while the democrat leaders, including members of the cabinet, are maintaining a strict silence, so far as comment on the situation is concerned.
Cabinet members in refusing to discuss the election apparently are taking their cue from the White House. President Wilson, so far as can be ascertained, has not uttered a word concerning the defeat of Gov. Cox, and the possible effect on the league covenant. It is believed, however, that he did discuss the political situation with George Creel when the latter called at the executive offices and was invited to luncheon by the president.
Washingtonians are intensely interested in the makeup of the republican cabinet and at least 100 names have been advanced to fill the minor cabinet offices. The only name mentioned yesterday was that of Frederic Coudert for secretary of state on the supposition that neither Senator Lodge nor Elihu Root will accept the portfolio.
The republican organization in the senate and house has been left intact by the election. Complications and a reversal of an old right may follow if friends of James R. Mann attempt to have him named for speaker instead of Representative Gillett. Mr. Mann has many supporters among the republicans who are re-elected. Congressman Mondell of Wyoming, republican house leader, will be back.
Two important committee chairmanships in the house must be filled. Under the seniority rule, by which the ranking member gets the plum, there will be no trouble on this score. Congressman Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania will succeed Edmund Platt of New York, who resigned to accept an appointment to the federal reserve board, as chairman of the banking and currency committee.
Mr. Winslow of Massachusetts will succeed Chairman John Esch of Wisconsin, defeated in the primaries, on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

forts of the Boy Scouts generally in the campaign to promote saving and investment in government savings securities, now in progress throughout the United States and which Secretary of the Treasury Houston says will continue through the next year.
The president in his letters expresses his deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious way in which the Scouts aided the savings campaign and praises their courage, courtesy, thought and untiring effort which he says will prove an example for the growth of valuable qualities of mind and heart in America. He concludes with a tribute to the Scout organization and its training for the development of loyal citizenship.
The national organization of the Boy Scouts of America is planning for appropriate ceremonies when the letters are delivered and exhibit presented to the winners in each of the states.
The text of the president's letter follows:
"My Dear Young Friend:
"It gives me pleasure to tell you of my deep appreciation of the intelligent and conscientious manner in which you, as a member of the Boy Scouts of America, have secured subscriptions for Thrift and War Savings Stamps.
"You have won the distinction of having secured more such subscriptions during the 1918 War Savings campaign than any other scout in your state.
"You have exercised courage, courtesy, thought and untiring effort and in so doing have set an example for all boys—an example that will surely aid in the growth of valuable qualities of mind and heart.
"I thank you in the name of the whole country, and I wish to convey to your parents, your community and your Boy Scout organization, my appreciation of the training that has developed in you such a fine spirit of wholesome and loyal citizenship.
"Cordially and sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON."

Harding's Vote Settled at 404

were the fourth Maryland district; eighth Minnesota; fifth Missouri; 15th, 21st and 23rd New York; first North Dakota and fifth West Virginia.
A further possible democratic upset appeared possible in the fourth Tennessee district, where W. F. Clouse, republican, was reported to have forced slightly ahead of Cordell Hull, earlier reported elected.
The senate majority was settled when belated returns from the mountain regions of Kentucky gave the republican candidate, Richard P. Ernst, victory over Senator Beckham, democrat.
Montana's four electoral votes fell definitely into the Harding column when returns from 1227 precincts out of the total 1432, gave the republican candidate a lead of 41,530. With North Dakota's five electoral votes counted last night when democratic leaders admitted they had given up hope of carrying the state, the addition of Montana brought the Harding total up to the 404 mark.
The count in Oklahoma assured the nation's new woman voters one republican in the lower house—Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, a farmer and restaurant owner, who was an anti-suffragist prior to the adoption of the 19th amendment, and made the congressional race "to see if the men meant it" when they "thrust the vote on us."

adjournment was taken yesterday, William O. Atwood, republican, had gained 91 votes over Representative J. Charles Littlejohn, democrat, who was re-elected by a plurality of 971, on the newspaper tabulation.
Atwood claims that the police polls shows his election by a plurality of 45 votes.

Republican Takes Lead

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 5.—After trailing behind in the vote since election night, Governor Lynn J. Frasier, republican candidate, endorsed by the Non-Partisan League, swung into the lead early today in the gubernatorial race, being more than 800 votes ahead of his democratic opponent, J. F. T. O'Connor. Returns from 1832 precincts gave Frasier 104,498, and O'Connor 103,612. Frasier's re-election has been conceded by the Fargo Forum, which supported O'Connor.

G.O.P. Continues to Gain

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—With Tennessee definitely in the republican electoral column, returns gathered by newspapers indicated early today that the republicans had captured five of the state's 10 seats in the lower house of congress. Two members of Tennessee's present congressional delegation are republicans.

of returns, still incomplete. W. F. Clouse, republican, was leading Representative Cordell Hull, democratic national committeeman from Tennessee, by less than 500 votes. Republican leaders in the district claimed complete returns would show Clouse a winner by at least 1000 votes. Incomplete tabulation of the vote in the eighth district, gives Lon A. Scott, republican, a slight lead over Gordon Browning, democrat. Early returns had indicated the election of both Hull and Browning.
The election in the third district of Joseph Brown, republican, over John A. Moon, democratic incumbent, has been conceded by the democrat, while

In the first and second districts, republicans were elected. Both districts at present are represented in congress by republicans.
With returns in from practically the entire state, Senator Harding continued today to lead Governor Cox by approximately 10,000 votes, while the majority of Alf Taylor, republican candidate for governor, over Governor Roberts, democrat, was nearly 40,000.
Figures compiled by the Commercial Appeal from all but 40 scattering precincts in the state, gave Harding a majority of 2400 votes and Taylor a lead of 39,512. The vote was: Harding 292,579; Cox 193,179. Taylor 211,143; Roberts 171,601.

WILSON LEAGUE "DEAD"

Harding Makes First Speech
Since Election at Big
Marion Celebration

MARION, O., Nov. 5.—Making his first speech as president-elect, Warren G. Harding declared at an election celebration of home folks here last night that the Versailles League of Nations was "now deceased" although the new administration intended to see that the nation played its part in a new international association founded on peace and justice.

Mr. Harding also told his friends and neighbors, who gathered around the front porch in a cheering concourse rivaling the greatest crowd of the campaign, that he had come through the fight "without an apology or a regret" and that he would rather not have the presidency than to win it "by speaking ill or uttering a lie."

The celebration, in which many from other Ohio cities joined, was characterized by all the carnival features of an old-time political rally. So great was the gathering that the streets were jammed for a block away and only a small part of those present could hear the speech. In a parade past the Harding residence there were many special features. One man leading a donkey on whose sides was painted "Jimmie didn't treat me right," while another carried a dummy corpse slung against a red-fire background and labelled "The League of Nations."

Gave President-elect His Cue

erence to it started a laugh, and then he said:

"I don't see as much sorrow in your faces as I had apprehended. It's not that you or I question the desire of America to play its part; it's not that we question the high ideals of those who were responsible for the Versailles covenant. You just didn't want surrender of the United States of America; you wanted America to go under American ideals. That's why you didn't care for the league which is now deceased."

"America is playing a great part now. America is healing the heart of the old world tonight as no other nation. But there is more to do; there is a new world relationship, and when the next administration comes into power we're going to play our part. We're going to ask for nations associated together in justice; but it shall be an association which surrenders nothing of American freedom."

In his short talk the president-elect touched on no other issues of the campaign, but thanked the crowd for its tribute and asked that he go to Washington "with your good wishes, your confidence and your prayers."

Due to Civic Association
The Marion Civic association was the moving spirit in the jollification, but there were many present from other Ohio cities, including large delegations from Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

R. R. Crissinger, a former democratic nominee for congress, but a supporter of Mr. Harding through the campaign, is president of the Civic association and acted as the spokesman of the serenaders.

A dozen girl stenographers and clerks attached to Harding headquarters headed the parade, which marched to the Harding residence along the white-pillared pathway of the front porch.

of the Marion Steam Shovel Company, the Harding Railway club and many other organizations of this and other cities were in line.

The president-elect and Mrs. Harding first reviewed the parade as it passed the front porch and then greeted the marchers as they broke ranks and assembled on the lawn.

With virtually no appointments on his program, Mr. Harding devoted yesterday to cleaning up his affairs here in preparation for his vacation trip. He pushed through a mass of correspondence, replied to many telegrams of congratulation and late in the afternoon visited his bank for the first time in several weeks.

San. Hele to be in Party
Detailed arrangements for the vacation trip, announced yesterday, show that those who will go along with the president-elect and his wife, include Senators Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Hyde of Maine, Filkins of West Virginia, Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher; Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's pre-convention manager; George B. Christian, Jr., Mr. Harding's secretary; Dr. C. E. Sawyer, his family physician; Judson C. Welliver, publicity director at Harding headquarters; also Malcolm Jennings, attached to the headquarters. The wives of several of these men will accompany them, and two stenographers, a secret service guard and a dozen newspaper men will complete the party.

The trip will be made on a special train, which will leave here Saturday morning and will go to Point Isabel, Tex., by way of St. Louis and San Antonio. There will be a short layover at San Antonio Sunday night where the senator will be joined by F. B. Scobey and R. B. Creager, Texas republicans, whose guest he will be during the 12-day stay at Point Isabel. The train will reach Brownsville Monday morning and the party will travel the remaining 20 miles by motor.

Some difficulty has been met in arranging a suitable schedule for the proposed trip to the canal zone. It was said last night that details of the voyage were being pending advice from steamship companies.

OPERA HOUSE
Kenneth Fleming, one of the popular members of the Lowell players, is making a decided hit this week. In company with the entire engaging cast, in the great comedy drama, "Friendly Enemies." Mr. Fleming appears in the role of a young soldier and he treats it particularly well. Milton Byron, the leading man stars in character work as the father, and Maxwell Driscoll, Miss Knowles and Miss Fields are also most commendable. It's a great play and it's wonderfully well presented. See it and be delighted. Next week the offering will be "The Wonderful Thing," in which Miss Fields will be starred. It's said to be the equal of "Peg o' My Heart." Order your tickets well in advance. Tel. 261.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Nothing can stop the onslaught on the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, where one of the best shows of the current season is on revue. It is first and foremost and exceedingly lively show, with a lively comedy, "Just Like a Man," played by Grace Huff & Co., in first place. But the character sketch of Wanser & Palmer is of the first grade, and the dancings of the Golden Gate (rio) is mighty class. And, in addition, one can see and hear versatile Dave Roth, of the lively antics of Cole & Mason, or the equilibrist of Davis and Felle, and the xylophoning of The Danes. News Kinograms, Topics of the Day and a comedy are incidental features.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The mysticism and romance of South Africa, its diamond mines and the wilder life practiced by some of the natives form the background of "Sins of Rosanne," starring Ethel Clayton, which is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre today. The action takes place among the European and native colonies at Kimberly, near the famous diamond mines. The other big feature for the week-end is "Forbidden Valley," stirring romance of the Kentucky hills. A comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture round out the bill. Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "Humoresque," the big New York sensation, will be shown at this theatre.

PRES-ELECT HARDING TO TAKE MONTH'S REST

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 5.—In final preparation for his vacation, President-elect Harding today disposed of the last remaining business at his campaign headquarters here and virtually abandoned the headquarters building which has housed his office and campaign assistants since July. With Mrs. Harding and a party of friends he leaves tomorrow morning for a month's vacation trip that will take him to southern Texas and probably to Panama.

As he began his last day's work in campaign headquarters, workmen were cleaning from the Harding lawn next door, demolished standards and burned out red fire torches of last night's celebration, in which several thousand of his neighbors in Marion and nearby cities paid him a tumultuous tribute.

Soon after his vacation trip which is to end early in December, Senator

Harding is expected to take preliminary steps toward a consultation of statesmen, which he has promised throughout the campaign, for formulation of America's program toward a world peace association. Whether he actually will assemble such a council before his inauguration, however, is regarded as doubtful.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Further extensive accumulation of rails and equally heavy selling of shipbuilding and oil stocks, and a moderate rise in the opening of today's stock market. Northern Pacific was the feature on an exchange of 4000 shares at 95 to 94 1/2. It soon rallied to 95 1/2, an extreme gain of 1 1/2 points. Advances of 1 to 1 1/2 points were made by Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Chicago Northwestern and Chesapeake & Ohio. Atlantic United opened at a three point decline which was soon extended to 4 1/2.

Investment falls added to their initial gains in the first hour but reacted 1 to 2 points later when shipbuilding, oil, motors, steels, equipments and various specialties developed increased weakness. Atlantic Gulf extended its loss 5 1/2 points, Mexican Petroleum fell 2 1/2. Harvesters 3, Virginia Carolina-Chemical 3 1/2, Crucible Steel 2 and American Western 2. Irregular rallies set in before noon on buying. Atlantic United opened at a three point decline which was soon extended to 4 1/2.

SALEM WINS OVERTIME GAME

BRITT REINSTATED
BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The three month suspension given Frankie Britt, Bedford boxer, for his alleged failure to appear at a recent bout, was rescinded by the state boxing commission yesterday. The investigation the commission showed that the tract for Britt's appearance was made in his behalf by a minor, making him eligible to fight.

LEGAL NOTICES

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
A public hearing will be given at Room 222, State House, Boston, Monday, Nov. 8, at 10 o'clock A. M., by the special commission to consider methods for the rehabilitation and vocational training of soldiers, sailors, marines and others.

The resolve under which this commission is created provides for distinct inquiries, the results of which will be the recommendations determined upon by the commissioners and reported to the legislature not later than Jan. 15, next.

The subject matter at the hearing therefore will be divided into general topics:

First, methods by which the Commonwealth may extend its police assistance in the work of rehabilitating injured soldiers, sailors and marines; also consideration of a plan for aiding them with vocational training.

Second, the commissioners will consider the practicability and advisability of extending the work of the Industrial Accident Board to provide industrial training for all persons injured in any industrial or commercial establishment.

W. W. KENNARD, Chairman Industrial Accident Board.
E. LEROY SWETSER, Commissioner of Industrial Industry, Education,
PAYSON SMITH, Commissioner of Education,
Special Commission to Consider Methods for the Rehabilitation and Vocational Training for Disabled Soldiers and others.

Britain Soon to Recognize Mexico

LONDON, Nov. 5.—British recognition of Mexico is expected to follow shortly recognition by the United States, according to Miguel Covarrubias, former Mexican minister at London, who resigned his post of foreign minister under the present Mexican regime in August, and returned to England on a mission for his government.

Go to Fight Smallpox Epidemic

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—Two coast guard vessels carrying physicians and medical supplies were en route today to the little community of Unalakpa on the island of that name in the Aleutian group off the Alaska peninsula where, according to wireless advices to W. T. Lopp, chief of the Alaska division of the United States bureau of education, a serious epidemic of smallpox has appeared.

Serious Clashes in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5.—Serious clashes between socialists and liberals incident to the Yucatan state election campaign are reported in despatches from Merida. Assertion is made that the socialists who are dominant in that state, have employed troops to suppress demonstrations. The election will be held on Dec. 1.

DEATHS

TATE—Thomas Tate, a resident of this city for the past 32 years, died last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Hollingsworth, 141 Humphrey street, at the age of 62 years, 1 month and 30 days. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert W. Hollingsworth and Mrs. Richard E. Fox of this city. Mr. Tate was a member of the Bunting club.

DREW—Helen Ruth Drew died yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drew in North Billerica, aged 6 months.

GIBLIN—Mrs. Mary A. Giblin died yesterday at her home, 194 Howard street, aged 59 years, 1 month, 4 days. She is survived by six children, Mrs. Joseph Blodgett, Mrs. George J. and Harry J. Giblin, Mrs. Victor Martell of Newark, N. J., and Mrs. Frank Ogden of this city.

SMITH—Died Nov. 5, at his home in No. Chelmsford, Geo. H. Smith, aged 54 years, 6 days. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Edwards of Westford, Mrs. Villa A. Deane of Santa Clara, Cal., and Miss Belle E. Smith of North Chelmsford, four grandchildren, and six great grandchildren. Mr. Smith was a well known resident, having lived in North Chelmsford 59 years. He was a deacon of the Congregational church and a member of Post 120, G.A.R. Funeral notice later.

FUNERALS

LINDQUIST—The funeral of Frank E. Lindquist took place at the Swedish Lutheran church, Meadowcroft street yesterday afternoon. There was a very large attendance of friends and associates. Mr. Lindquist had been deacon of the church for many years, and also one of its foremost workers. Rev. E. E. Nordgren, pastor, and

Rev. John Evert, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church in Manchester, N. H., officiated, and there was singing by the church choir under the direction of Mr. Thure Gillinson. A eulogy was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Nordgren. There were many flowers. The bearers were: Messrs. J. August, Ludwig, Henning, Charles and George Lindquist, all brothers of the deceased, and Conrad Lindquist, a nephew. With the exception of George Lindquist, who lives in this city, they are residents of Manchester, N. H. Burial was in Westlawn cemetery, under the direction of William H. Saunders.

VERGEE—The funeral of Peter Vergée took place this morning from his home, 254 High street, at 8:15 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. James B. McCarthy. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Charles Smith and Mr. John Flynn sustaining the organ, Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Charles Pelky, John Leblond, Henry Robinson, Sr. and Henry Robinson, Jr. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., read the committal prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

DORNELLAS—The funeral of Beatrice Dornellas took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the home of her parents, Augustine and Maria Fonte Dornellas, 151 Gorham street. Owing to cause of death the funeral was private, and burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

Queen Christina of Sweden, 1625-1689, was what in today's popular slang would be called a "wild woman."

"BALDY" ROSE WILL SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

With the electric chair staring him in the face, Jack Rose turned state's evidence in the Rosenthal murder mystery and sent Lieut. Becker to the chair and his friends, Lefty Louis and Gyp the Blood to the pen. After spending a number of weeks in the pen himself, Rose decided that the life he was leading was not the life he was cut out for. He has been accused of being yellow, that he played a dirty game on his friends and of other misdeeds but no one has the courage to say that Rose's mind is not now made up to serve his fellow men and that he is willing to sacrifice time and money for his misdeeds to save others from a like experience. He will tell his story at the Lowell Opera House Sunday afternoon to the men of Lowell. He will tell of his transient school experience, of his learning to become an excellent gambler, and of his life in the underworld of New York. No man knows the game better than Jack Rose and no one can tell the story any better.

There will be a great demand for seats Sunday and as there are none reserved, and there are no tickets of admission, the men to come first will

Arrangements have been made to have a band concert early in the program, and this will begin at 3:30. There will also be mass singing by the men present led by H. E. Hockman of the Y.M.C.A.

A new machine capable of firing hundreds of shots a minute and small enough to be carried like a pistol, has been invented.

Cheese as old as 100 years can be found in many Swiss homes.

I will sell at public auction on the premises at 22 Ross avenue, (Ross avenue being between Sixth and Seventh avenues off Mammoon road) the following described property:

The house has four rooms upstairs, bath and two toilets, good hall room and a small piazza. The first floor has four rooms, two parlors, hot and cold water connections, a good front hall entrance with two back doors. The cellar is a good dry one. The house has just been painted and papered throughout and is now in good condition.

Now, then, here is a good opportunity for some one to own a good house at their own price, situated near good neighbors, near car line, with a nice high elevation and a fine view, overlooking the city. The lot contains 2107 square feet of land a small space for a garden. There is also a poultry house.

Terms of sale: $300 required as soon as struck off. In all probability, at least 25 per cent. of the purchase money can remain upon mortgage. All inquiries must be made at the office of the auctioneer.

E. GASTON CAMPBELL, Auctioneer.
